Heritage James Doyle, 2006-01-01 Most critics and literary historians have ignored Marxist inspired creative literature in Canada or dismissed it as an ephemeral phenomenon of the 1930s Research reveals however that from the 1920s onward Canadian creative writers influenced by Marxist ideas have produced a quantitatively substantial and artistically significant body of poetry drama fiction and non fiction This book traces historically and evaluates critically this tradition with particular emphasis on writers who were associated with or sympathetic to the Communist Party of Canada After two chapters surveying the work of anti capitalist writers of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries the book concentrates on the development of Marxist inspired writing from the 1920s to the end of the twentieth century Besides devoting attention to both social and theoretical backgrounds this study provides critical commentary on work by prominent writers who spent part of their literary careers as Communist Party members including Dorothy Livesay Patrick Anderson Milton Acorn and George Ryga as well as less well known but more fervent Communists such as Margaret Fairley Dyson Carter Joe Wallace Stanley Ryerson and Jean Jules Richard Although primarily concerned with the older generation of Marxists who flourished between the 1920s and the 1970s the book also includes a chapter on the post 1970s New Left International Books in Print, 1997 Feminist Acts Tessa Jordan, 2019-10-31 The history of Branching Out Canada's first national second wave feminist magazine is the story of an upstart publication from the prairies that was read from coast to coast It is also a story of political activism and community building When it ceased publication in 1980 Branching Out had reached more readers than any similar periodical Feminist Acts is an in depth examination of feminist publishing written to bring more Canadian voices into conversations about women's cultural production A vital text of recuperation the book draws on first hand accounts from women who were there It is a must read for anyone interested in feminist activism gender studies Canadian cultural history or publishing history Foreword by Eleanor Wachtel Canuke Literature Sonia Mycak, 2001 Beginning with Lysenko's Yellow Boots this study of literature by Ukraine immigrants to Canada looks at texts that illustrate and exemplify the Canuck ideals of culture and tradition Mycak English University of Sydney uses her analysis to describe the perspective style and themes of Canuke literature Chapters address narrative strategy pioneer myths the rules of authorship and the problems of bi cultural and trans national production c Book News Inc Leaving Shadows Lisa Grekul, 2005-12-16 On our way home we stopped in Vegreville for one last look at the Pysanka and posing in front of it while my dad pulled out his camera I wanted to cry Are we doomed Click Is this all we are Click How do we drag ourselves out from under the shadow of the giant egg Click Conceived in a fervent desire for fresher sexier images of Ukrainian culture in Canada and concluding with a new reading of enduring cultural stereotypes Leaving Shadows is the first Canadian book length monograph on English Ukrainian writing with substantive analysis of the writing of Myrna Kostash Andrew Suknaski George Ryga Janice Kulyk Keefer Vera Lysenko and Maara Haas Domestic Goods Joy Parr, 1999-12-15 Visions of life in the 1950s often spring from the United States supermarkets freeways huge gleaming cars bright new appliances automated households Historian Joy Parr looks beyond the generalizations about the indulgence of this era to find a specifically Canadian consumer culture Focusing on the records left by consumer groups and manufacturers and relying on interviews and letters from many Canadian women who had set up household in the decade after the war she reveals exactly how and why Canadian homemakers distinguished themselves from the consumer frenzy of their southern neighbours Domestic Goods focuses primarily on the design production promotion and consumption of furniture and appliances For Parr such a focus demands an analysis of the intertwining of the political economic and aesthetic Parr examines how the shortage of appliances in the early postwar years was a direct result of government reconstruction policy and how the international style of high modernism reflected the postwar dream of free trade But while manufacturers devised new plans for the consumer depression era frugality and a conscious setting of priorities within the family led potential customers to evade and rework what was offered them eventually influencing the kinds of goods created This book addresses questions such as who designed furniture and appliances and how were these designs arrived at What was the role of consumer groups in influencing manufacturers and government policy Why did women prefer their old wringer washers for over a decade after the automatic washer was brought in In finding the answers the author celebrates and ultimately suggests reclaiming a particularly Canadian way of consuming Hey, Lady! Hey, Waitress! Hey, Miss! Jeanne Webb, 2015-10-02 Author Jeanne Webb served as a flight attendant for one of the largest airlines in the United States for over three decades from the 1950s through the 1980s During that time she encountered all kinds of personalities in her work both on and off the airplane In Hey Lady Hey Waitress Hey Miss she shares some of her most memorable stories from that time period The life of a flight attendant was unique during Webbs career and she recorded many of her stories in diaries and journals Now she recalls strange conversations and events as well as humorous rewarding and sometimes aggravating interactions with a wide range of passengers Featuring celebrity encounters bizarre requests medical emergencies and poignant recollections these stories illustrate the unusual situations faced by flight attendants on a daily basis In this personal narrative one woman paints an intriguing picture of the exciting and occasionally crazy experiences of flight attendants in the latter half of the twentieth century The Capilano Review ,1991 Changing Patterns Sandra D.
