Hollywood Enlists! Ralph Donald, 2017 Frequently referred to as the Greatest Generation Americans of the World War II

era were influenced by Hollywood's depictions of their nation's role in world affairs and the virtue of its involvement in the war. Stories of the bravery and heroism of the American military as well as the moral and political threat posed by the enemy filled movie screens across the country to garner passionate support for wartime policies. In Hollywood Enlists Propaganda Films of World War II, Ralph Donald explores how the studios supported the war effort and helped shape the attitudes of an entire generation. Through films, the studios appealed to the public's sense of nationalism, demonized the enemy, and stressed that wartime sacrifices would result in triumph. The author contends that American films of the period used sophisticated but often overlooked strategies of propaganda to ideologically unite the country. While these strategies have long been associated with political speeches and writings during the war, little in-depth consideration has been given to their use in the era's cinema. By examining major motion pictures including Casablanca, The Flying Tigers, Mrs. Miniver, Sergeant York, They Were Expendable, and many others, Donald illustrates how various propaganda techniques aligned the nation's entertainment with government aims. Hollywood Enlists will appeal to readers with interests in war films and motion picture history as well as politics and social history during the war. Hollywood's War with Poland, 1939-1945 M.B.B. Biskupski, 2010-01-08 This passionate, carefully researched, richly detailed, well-written study reveals the political motives behind WWII Hollywood's portrayal of Poles. Choice. During World War II, Hollywood studios supported the war effort by making patriotic movies designed to raise the nation's morale. Often the characterizations were as black and white as the movies themselves. Americans and their allies were heroes, while everyone else was a villain. The peoples of Norway, France, Czechoslovakia, and England were all good because they had been invaded or victimized by Nazi Germany. Yet Poland, the first country to be invaded by the Third Reich, was repeatedly represented in a negative light. In this prize-winning study, Polish historian M. B. B. Biskupski explores why Biskupski presents a close critical American history has always been an irresistible source of inspiration for filmmakers and today for good or ill most Americans sense of the past likely comes more from Hollywood than from the works of historians In important films such as The Birth of a Nation 1915 Roots 1977 Apocalypse Now 1979 and Saving Private Ryan 1998 how much is entertainment and how much is rooted in historical fact In The Columbia Companion to American History on Film more than seventy scholars consider the gap between history and Hollywood They examine how filmmakers have presented and interpreted the most important events topics eras and figures in the American past often comparing the film versions of events with the interpretations of the best historians who have explored the topic Divided into eight broad categories Eras Wars and Other Major Events Notable People Groups Institutions and Movements Places Themes and Topics and Myths and Heroes the volume features extensive cross references a filmography of discussed and relevant films notes and a bibliography of selected historical works on each subject The Columbia Companion to American History on Film is also an important resource for teachers with extensive information for research or for course development appropriate for both high school and college students Though each essay reflects the unique body of film and print works covering the subject at hand every essay addresses several fundamental questions What are the key films on this topic What sources did the filmmaker use and how did the film deviate or remain true to its sources How have film interpretations of a particular historical topic changed and what sorts of factors technological social political historiographical have affected their evolution Have filmmakers altered the historical record with a view to enhancing drama or to enhance the truth of their putative message The American Experience in World War II: The atomic bomb in history and memory Walter L. Hixson, 2003 World War II changed the face of the United States catapulting the country out of economic depression political isolation and social conservatism Ultimately the war was a major formative factor in the creation of modern America This unique twelve volume set provides comprehensive coverage of this transformation in its domestic policies diplomatic relations and military strategies as well as

The immediacy and perceived truth of the visual image as well as film and television's ability to propel viewers back into the past place the genre of the historical film in a special category War films including antiwar films have established the prevailing public image of war in the twentieth century For American audiences the dominant image of trench warfare in World War I has been provided by feature films such as All Quiet on the Western Front and Paths of Glory The image of combat in the Second World War has been shaped by films like Sands of Iwo Jima and The Longest Day And despite claims for the alleged impact of widespread television coverage of the Vietnam War it is actually films such as Apocalypse Now and Platoon which have provided the most powerful images of what is seen as the reality of that much disputed conflict But to what degree does history written with lightning as Woodrow Wilson allegedly said represent the reality of the past To what extent is visual history an oversimplification or even a distortion of the past Exploring the relationship between moving images and the society and culture in which they were produced and received World War II Film and History addresses the power these images have had in determining our perception and memories of war Examining how the public memory of war in the twentieth century has often been created more by a manufactured past than a remembered one a leading group of historians discusses films dating from the early 1930s through the early 1990s created by filmmakers the world over from the United States and Germany to Japan and the former Soviet Union For example Freda Freiberg explains how the inter racial melodramatic Japanese feature film China Nights in which a manly and protective Japanese naval officer falls in love with a beautiful young Chinese street waif and molds her into a cultured submissive wife proved enormously popular with wartime Japanese and helped justify the invasion of China in the minds of many Japanese viewers Peter Paret assesses the historical accuracy of Kolberg as a depiction of an unsuccessful siege of that German city by a French Army in 1807 and explores how the film released by Hitler's regime in January 1945 explicitly called for civilian sacrifice and last ditch resistance Stephen Ambrose contrasts what we know about the historical reality of the Allied D Day landings in Normandy on June 6 1944 with the 1962 release of The Longest Day in which the major climactic moment in the film never happened at Normandy Alice Kessler Harris examines The Life and Times of Rosie the Riveter a 1982 film documentary about women defense workers on the American home front in World War II emphasizing the degree to which the documentary's engaging main characters and its message of the need for fair and equal treatment for women resonates with many contemporary viewers And Clement Alexander Price contrasts Men of Bronze William Miles's fine documentary about black American soldiers who fought in France in World War I with Liberators the controversial documentary by Miles and Nina Rosenblum which incorrectly claimed that African American troops liberated Holocaust survivors at Dachau in World War II In today's visually oriented world powerful images even images of images are circulated in an eternal cycle gaining increased acceptance through repetition History becomes an endless loop in which repeated images validate and reconfirm each other Based on archival materials many of which have become only recently available World War II Film and History offers an informative and a disturbing look at the complex relationship between national myths and filmic memory as well as the dangers of visual images being transformed into reality A Companion to the War Film Douglas A. Cunningham, John C. Nelson, 2016-05-31 A Companion to the War Film contains 27 original essays that examine all aspects of the genre from the traditional war film to the new global nature of conflicts and the diverse formats that war stories assume in today's digital culture Includes new works from experienced and emerging scholars that expand the scope of the genre by applying fresh theoretical approaches and archival resources to the study of the war film Moves beyond the limited confines of the combat film to cover home front films international and foreign language films and a range of conflicts and time periods Addresses complex questions of gender race forced internment international terrorism and war protest in films such as Full Metal Jacket Good Kill Grace is Gone Gran Torino The Messenger Snow Falling on Cedars So Proudly We Hail Tae Guk Gi The Brotherhood of War Tender Comrade and Zero Dark Thirty Provides a nuanced vision of war film that brings the genre firmly into the 21st Century and points the way for exciting future scholarship Persuasion and Power James P. Farwell, 2012-11-27 Now more than ever in the arenas of national security diplomacy and military operations effective communication strategy is of paramount importance A 24/7 television radio and Internet news cycle paired with an explosion in social media demands it According to James P. Farwell an expert in communication strategy and cyber war who has advised the U.S. SPECIAL OPERATIONS COMMAND and the Department of Defense and worked nationally and internationally as a media and political consultant this book examines how colorful figures in history from Julius Caesar to Winston Churchill Napoleon to Hugo Chavez Martin Luther to Barack Obama and Ronald Reagan have forged communication strategies to influence audiences Mark Twain said that history doesn't repeat itself but rhymes In showing how major leaders have moved audiences Farwell bears out Twain's thesis Obama and Luther each wanted to reach a mass audience Obama used social media and the Internet Luther used the printing press But the strategic mindset was similar Hugo Chavez identifies with Simon Bolivar but his attitude towards the media more closely echoes Napoleon Caesar used coins to build his image in ways that echo the modern use of campaign buttons His triumphs enormous parades to celebrate military victories celebrated his achievements and aimed to impress the populace with his power and greatness Adolph Hitler employed a similar tactic with his torchlight parades The book shows how the US government's approach to strategic communication has been misguided It offers a colorful incisive critical evaluation of the concepts doctrines and activities that the US Department of Defense and Department of State employ for psychological operations military information support operations propaganda and public diplomacy Persuasion and Power is a book about the art of communication strategy how it is used where and why Farwell s adroit use of vivid examples produce a well researched entertaining story that illustrates how its principles have made a critical difference throughout history in the outcomes of crises conflicts politics and diplomacy across different cultures and societies Extreme Exoticism W.

Shadow of a Doubt Diane Negra,2021-04-15 Shadow of a Doubt 1943 was British born Alfred Hitchcock s sixth American film and the one that he at various times identified as his favourite and his best It seems likely that one of the reasons he liked Shadow so much is that it is an extraordinarily well ordered narrative system a meticulous cause and effect chain that melds its various scenes and sequences together to form a unified narrative that is highly effective in building suspense and cultivating identification with characters This scrupulously organized film operates as a masterclass on principles of narrative design while generating resonant commentary on the nature of family life This book redresses the deficit of sustained critical attention paid to Shadow even in the large corpus of Hitchcock scholarship Analysing the film s narrative system issues of genre authorship social history homesickness and family values Diane Negra shows how the film s impeccable narrative structure is wedded to radical ideological content linking the film s terrors to the punishing effects of looking beyond conventional family and gender roles This book understands Shadow as an unconventionally female centred Hitchcock text and a milestone film that marks the director s emergent engagement with the pathologies of violence in American life and opens a window into the placement of femininity in World War II consensus culture and more broadly into the politics of mid century gender and family life
