Hollywood High:

Hollywood's High Noon Thomas Cripps, 1996-11-13 A lively narrative history of Hollywood's classical age. Over the last twenty-five years, the field of cinema studies has offered a dramatic reassessment of the history of film in general and of Hollywood in particular. Writers have drawn on the methodologies of a number of disciplines: literary criticism, sociology, psychology, women's studies, and minority and gay studies to deepen our understanding of motion pictures, the film industry, and movie theater audiences. In Hollywood's High Noon, noted film historian Thomas Cripps offers a lively narrative history of Hollywood's classical age that brings the insights of recent scholarship to students and general readers. From its origin during the First World War to the beginning of its decline in the 1950s, Cripps writes, Hollywood operated as did other American industries: movies were created by a rational production system regulated by both government and privately organized interests and subject to the whims of a fickle marketplace. Yet these films did offer consumers something unique in darkened movie palaces across the country: audiences projected themselves, their hopes and ideas, onto silver screens, profoundly mediating their reception of Hollywood's flickering images. Beginning with the turn of the century moving picture pioneer Thomas Edison, Cripps traces the invention of Hollywood and the development of the studio system. He explores the movie-going experience, the struggle for social control over the movies through censorship, the impact of sound on the style and content of films, alternatives to Hollywood's oligopoly including race films and documentaries, the paradoxical predictability and subversive creativity of genre pictures, and Hollywood's self-proclaimed shining moment during the Second World War. Cripps concludes with a discussion of the collapse of the studio system after the war, due in equal parts to suburbanization, the emergence of television, and government anti-trust action.

Hollywood High John Blumenthal, 1988 Traces the story of Hollywood High School from its beginning in 1905 to the present through interviews with the stars, their classmates, teachers, and principals.

Hollywood High Bruce Handy, 2025-06 From a longtime Vanity Fair writer and editor, a delightfully entertaining, intelligent, and illuminating history and tribute to teen movies from Rebel Without a Cause to Fast Times at Ridgemont High and on to John Hughes' Mean Girls, The Hunger Games, and more.

Mozlandia Melissa Mora Hidalgo, 2016-09-22 Morrissey is a popular music icon. The former singer of the influential Manchester band The Smiths is arguably one of the most intriguing and popular, if not polarizing, iconic figures of popular culture. But this book is not about Morrissey. This book is about his fans, their creative expressions of fandom, and their contributions to Morrissey's worldwide popularity. Specifically, this book is about the subculture of Moz fandom as a US-Mexican borderland phenomenon. Mozlandia traces Morrissey fans from the Midlands to the Borderlands.

The Story of Hollywood Gregory Paul Williams, 2005 Before the film industry arrived, Hollywood was filled with quaint bungalows, millionaires' estates, and churches dedicated to teetotalism. Movies shattered Hollywood's tranquillity and brought wealth, fame, and glamorous movie stars. The giants of the movie industry invented klieg-lighted movie premieres and the Academy Awards in Hollywood. Go beyond the star-studded surface to the district's days of union busting gangsters and scandal foreshadowing Hollywood's seedy decline The book concludes with Hollywood's redevelopment that continues today The book features the famous faces and places that made the town legendary offering a unique perspective on celebrity nightlife and the behind the scenes stories of day to day life Lavishly illustrated with over 800 vintage images from the author's private collection The Story of Hollywood brings new insights to readers with a passion for Hollywood and its place in the history of film radio and television School Publication Los Angeles City School District, 1925 Bilingual Education, Health, and Manpower Programs, 1973: Joint Hearing Before the Subcommittee on Education and the Special Subcommittee on Human Resources of the Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, United States Senate, Ninety-third Congress, First Session ...
