

To escape the Nazi sword Jewish Children were thrust onto a threshold of a turbulent and most brutal life on the Aryan side. Disguised as non-Jewish, they grew up in an emotional turmoil and matured in a tumultuous rhythm.

They struggled against the brutality of a sadistic regime. In agonizing despair and overwhelmed by their conscience, they often asked, "In what merit did I escape the great massacre? Was it worth it to remain alive, alone and uprooted from my home and family? Did I have the right to save my own life? And could a life of loneliness, disguise, and suffering be called life?"

Whenever such questions overpowered Mirka, the image of her father appeared before her, and she heard him saying, "You've got to live! It's in your power to save yourself! Do it, not only for yourself, but for the sake of posterity!"

Holocaust Literature Hc 1999:

Literature of the Holocaust Alan Rosen, 2013-11-14 During and in the aftermath of the dark period of the Holocaust writers across Europe and America sought to express their feelings and experiences through their writings This book provides a comprehensive account of these writings through essays from expert scholars covering a wide geographic linguistic thematic and generic range of materials Such an overview is particularly appropriate at a time when the corpus of Holocaust literature has grown to immense proportions and when guidance is needed in determining a canon of essential readings a context to interpret them and a paradigm for the evolution of writing on the Holocaust The expert contributors to this volume who negotiate the literature in the original languages provide insight into the influence of national traditions and the importance of language especially but not exclusively Yiddish and Hebrew to the literary response arising from the Holocaust American Book Publishing Record ,2002 Library Literature & Information Science ,2000 An index to library and information science literature The Holocaust in Literature for Youth Edward T. Sullivan, 1999 The Holocaust in Literature for Youth provides classroom teachers and public and school librarians a practical comprehensive resource guide to all of the literature available for children and young adults on the subject Holocaust education should be more than just the study of the names dates and places it must go beyond the superficial highlights of the textbooks An outstanding resource well organized and informative The Nonhuman in American Literary Naturalism Karin M. Danielsson, Kenneth K. Brandt, 2023-09-05 The Nonhuman in American Literary Naturalism responds to a need to expand and refine the connections among nonhuman studies and American literary naturalism and to productively expand the scholarly discourse surrounding this vital movement in American literary history This collection focuses on that which becomes visible when the human subject is skirted or moved off center in other words the representation of nonhuman animals and other vital or inert species things entities cityscapes and seascapes that play an important part in American literary naturalism Informed by animal studies ecocriticism posthumanism new materialism and other recent theoretical perspectives the essays in this collection discuss early naturalist texts as well as more recent naturalistic oriented authors Genetics and the Literary Imagination Clare Hanson, 2020-05-06 Oxford Textual Perspectives is a series of informative and provocative studies focused upon literary texts conceived of in the broadest sense of that term and the technologies cultures and communities that produce inform and receive them It provides fresh interpretations of fundamental works and of the vital and challenging issues emerging in English literary studies By engaging with the materiality of the literary text its production and reception history and frequently testing and exploring the boundaries of the notion of text itself the volumes in the series question familiar frameworks and provide innovative interpretations of both canonical and less well known works This is the first book to explore the dramatic impact of genetics on literary fiction over the past four decades After James Watson and Francis Crick s discovery of the structure of DNA in 1953 and the subsequent cracking of the genetic code a gene centric discourse developed which had a major impact not only on biological science but on wider culture As figures like E O Wilson and Richard Dawkins popularised the neo Darwinian view that behaviour was driven by genetic self interest novelists were both compelled and unnerved by such a vision of the origins and ends of life This book maps the ways in which Doris Lessing A S Byatt Ian McEwan and Kazuo Ishiguro wrestled with the reductionist neo Darwinian account of human nature and with the challenge it posed to humanist beliefs about identity agency and morality It argues that these novelists were alienated to varying degrees by neo Darwinian arguments but that the recent shift to postgenomic science has enabled a greater rapprochement between biological and post humanist concepts of human nature The postgenomic view of organisms as agentic and interactive is echoed in the life writing of Margaret Drabble and Jackie Kay which also explores the ethical implications of this holistic biological perspective As advances in postgenomics especially epigenetics provoke increasing public interest and concern this book offers a timely analysis of debates that have fundamentally altered our understanding of what it means to be human

The Armenian Genocide Legacy Alexis Demirdjian, 2016-04-04 This volume focuses on the impact of the Armenian Genocide on different academic disciplines at the crossroads of the centennial commemorations of the Genocide Its interdisciplinary nature offers the opportunity to analyze the Genocide from different angles using the lens of several fields of study

Library Media Connection, 2001 I Have Lived a Thousand Years Livia Bitton-Jackson, 2011-11-01 What is death all about What is life all about So wonders thirteen year old Elli Friedmann as she fights for her life in a Nazi concentration camp A remarkable memoir I Have Lived a Thousand Years is a story of cruelty and suffering but at the same time a story of hope faith perseverance and love It wasn't long ago that Elli led a normal life that included family friends school and thoughts about boys A life in which Elli could lie and daydream for hours that she was a beautiful and elegant celebrated poet But these adolescent daydreams quickly darken in March 1944 when the Nazis invade Hungary First Elli can no longer attend school have possessions or talk to her neighbors Then she and her family are forced to leave their house behind to move into a crowded ghetto where privacy becomes a luxury of the past and food becomes a scarcity Her strong will and faith allow Elli to manage and adjust but what she doesn't know is that this is only the beginning The worst is yet to come

Sisters or Strangers? Marlene Epp, Franca Iacovetta, 2016-10-27 Spanning more than two hundred years of history from the eighteenth century to the twenty first Sisters or Strangers explores the complex lives of immigrant ethnic and racialized women in Canada Among the themes examined in this new edition are the intersection of race crime and justice the creation of white settler societies letters and oral histories domestic labour the body political activism food studies gender and ethnic identity and trauma violence and memory The second edition of this influential essay collection expands its chronological and conceptual scope with fifteen new essays that reflect the latest cutting edge research in Canadian women's history. Introductions to each thematic section include discussion questions and suggestions for further reading making the book an even more valuable classroom resource than before. Holocaust and the Moving Image Toby Haggith, Joanna Newman, 2005. Based on an event held at the Imperial War Museum in 2001 this book is a blend of voices and perspectives: archivists, curators, filmmakers, scholars and Holocaust survivors. Each section examines films and how they have contributed to wider awareness and understanding of the Holocaust since the war. Anglophone Jewish Literature Axel Stähler, 2007-09-14. English has become the major language of contemporary Jewish literature. This book shows the transnational character of that literature and how traditional viewpoints need to be reassessed. Humanities Index, 2001.

Cumulated Index Medicus, 1999. My Bridges of Hope Livia Bitton-Jackson, 2002-03. After liberation from Auschwitz fourteen year old Elli, her brother and their mother attempt to rebuild their lives in Czechoslovakia. But it doesn't take long for Elli to realize that even though the war is over anti-Semitism is not so. She and her family decide to escape to America along with thousands of other Jews. Little do they know what agonies and adventures await them still. Elli's memoir of her experiences after Auschwitz will captivate readers as they follow her through heartache, frustration, adventure, excitement, love and ultimately triumph. A Blessing on the Moon Joseph Skibell, 2010-09-07. Joseph Skibell's magical tale about the Holocaust, a fable inspired by fact, received unanimous nationwide acclaim when first published in 1997. At the center of A Blessing on the Moon is Chaim Skibelski. Death is merely the beginning of Chaim's troubles. In the opening pages he is shot along with the other Jews of his small Polish village. But instead of resting peacefully in the World to Come, Chaim, for reasons unclear to him, is left to wander the earth accompanied by his rabbi who has taken the form of a talking crow. Chaim's afterlife journey is filled with extraordinary encounters whose consequences are far greater than he realizes. Not since Art Spiegelman's Maus has a work so powerfully evoked one of the darkest moments of the twentieth century with such daring originality. A Brush with Death Morris Wyszogrod, 2012-02-01. In this memoir Morris Wyszogrod recounts his experiences from the time of the Nazi invasion of Poland to the liberation of the Theresienstadt concentration camp in 1945. He describes in detail the time he spent in the Warsaw Ghetto, his work as an artist for various Luftwaffe personnel at the Warsaw military airport, his experiences at the Budzyn concentration camp where he was assigned to decorate the living quarters of the SS and to produce drawings at an orgiastic Oktoberfest, his removal to Plaszow where he was put to work digging up mass graves and burning the bodies to eliminate the evidence of Nazi war crimes, his witnessing of the firebombing of Dresden in February 1945 and his subsequent liberation at Theresienstadt by the Red Army in May 1945. Just as an artist may register what she or he sees against a sensitive visual and moral template so Wyszogrod doubly registered what he saw and felt both in his drawings and in his memories. You Can't Read This! Pamela Dell, 2010. Discusses book banning, why it happens, how it happens and examples of it in history.
