and examines how stories can be reconfigured to transform that existence into something other. It uses varied theoretical and critical frameworks such as autoethnography and posthumanism with which to explore the stories shared that go beyond cause and effect. This book looks to engage with storying and storytelling as inquiry in non-Western worlds and looks to make storying restorative and stories written by non-Western educators the locus of attention. By doing so it seeks to illustrate what distinctive ways of storying and storytelling can look like in worlds other than those that follow a Western ethico-epistemological worldview. It provides a way to articulate thought that may be commonly omitted in teacher education around the world and looks at truth as situated rather than as totality, local rather than global, with stories used to problematize subject-object positionings within those same stories. Indian Comics Fandom (Vol. 7) Mohit Sharma
