Expressing Theology Jonathan Roach, Grisel Dominguez, 2015-07-14 Have you ever picked up a volume of theology read the first page and decided you would rather scrub the bathroom floor than read another page Theology does not need to be abstract dull boring tedious dense inconsequential trivial remote immaterial or unimportant Theology should not leave readers feeling bewildered and lost Expressing Theology challenges writers of theology to craft engaging compelling and beautiful prose that grabs readers attention and makes reading a pleasure Expressing Theology provides writers of theology academics aspiring and published with perspectives and writing techniques to write theology that readers want to read

The Word on the Wind Alison Morgan, 2013-03-07 The average age of churchgoers in Britain is now 47 Almost every denomination is experiencing steady decline How sure can we be that we are still offering something people want to hear Alison Morgan identifies four clear reasons to be confident 1 The gospel still speaks to confused teens and weary sceptics By embracing doubts and welcoming questions it remains open to us to present something which answers people s real needs 2 The word of truth and the Spirit of power still exercise authority and compel attention Alison s own experience of ministry in the UK and abroad provides illustrations 3 Spiritual gifts given not to excite individuals but in order to renew the church for its core task of mission are powerfully present and widely recognised and practised 4 In a time of rapid cultural change new expressions of church are constantly emerging this is necessary to guard against vital spirituality sliding into drab religion

Amazing Grace Kathleen Norris, 1999-04-01 A NEW YORK TIMES NOTABLE BOOK OF THE YEAR From the New York Times bestselling author of The Cloister Walk a book about Christianity spirituality and rediscovered faith Struggling with her return to the Christian church after many years away Kathleen Norris found it was the language of Christianity that most distanced her from faith Words like judgment faith dogma salvation sinner even Christ formed what she called her scary vocabulary words that had become so codified or abstract that their meanings were all but impenetrable She found she had to wrestle with them and make them her own before they could confer their blessings and their grace Blending history theology storytelling etymology and memoir Norris uses these words as a starting point for reflection and offers a moving account of her own gradual conversion She evokes a rich spirituality rooted firmly in the chaos of everyday life and offers believers and doubters alike an illuminating perspective on how we can embrace ancient traditions and find faith in the contemporary world

Meditating Death in Medieval and Early Modern Devotional Writing Mark Chinca, 2020-06-11 The monograph series Oxford Studies in Medieval Literature and Culture showcases the plurilingual and multicultural quality of medieval literature and actively seeks to promote research that not only focuses on the array of subjects medievalists now pursue in literature theology and philosophy in social political jurisprudential and intellectual history the history of art and the history of science but also that combines these subjects productively It offers innovative studies on topics that may include but are not limited to manuscript and book history languages and literatures of the global Middle Ages race and the post colonial the digital humanities media and performance music medicine the history of affect and the emotions the literature and practices of devotion the theory and history of gender and sexuality ecocriticism and the environment theories of aesthetics medievalism Meditating about death and the afterlife was one of the most important techniques that Christian societies in medieval and early modern Europe had at their disposal for developing a sense of individual selfhood Believers who regularly and systematically reflected on the inevitability of death and the certainty of eternal punishment in hell or reward in heaven would acquire an understanding of themselves as a unique persons defined by their moral actions they would also learn to discipline themselves by feeling remorse for their sins doing penance and cultivating a permanent vigilance over their future thoughts and deeds This book covers a crucial period in the formation and transformation of the technique of meditating on death from the thirteenth century when a practice that had mainly been the preserve of a monastic elite began to be more widely disseminated among all segments of Christian society to the sixteenth when the Protestant Reformation transformed the technique of spiritual exercise into a bible based mindfulness that avoided the stigma of works piety It discusses the textual instructions for meditation as well as the theories and beliefs and doctrines that lay behind them the sources are Latin and vernacular and enjoyed widespread circulation in Roman Christian and Protestant Europe during the period under consideration

Homo Florens? Nadia Marais, 2023-10-09 What does it mean to flourish Human flourishing lies at the heart of the good news of the gospel and yet contemporary theologies know not only one way of speaking about what it means to flourish If we embed our theological grammars of flourishing in the doctrine of salvation as the doctrine in which theological flourishing talk is arguably rooted and from which rich fruit may be borne there is not one but various ways in which to speak about what it means to flourish Yet what governs our speaking Why do we speak of flourishing as we do The various conceptions of human flourishing that are outlined in this book piety joy and comfort being fully alive healing and dignity grace happiness and blessing represent a collection of attempts not only to imagine human flourishing but also to imagine ways of speaking about human flourishing Perhaps what theology could offer to the vibrant and robust conversations on human flourishing lies exactly in the reminder to take care about how we speak about that which is truly and deeply human our longing to flourish
