Grace and Freedom Bernard J. F. Lonergan, 2000 Grace and Freedom represents Lonergan's entry into subject matter that would occupy him throughout his lifetime At the same time it is a manifestation of the thinking that has made him one of the world's foremost Thomist scholars The volume is in two parts Part One is a new edition of Grace and Freedom Operative Grace in the Thought of St Thomas Aquinas four articles written by Lonergan in 1941-42 first published in book form in 1971 This edition includes new notes and indices Part Two is Lonergan's doctoral dissertation Gratia Operans submitted to the Gregorian University Rome in 1940 Published here in full for the first time the dissertation provides important context and background for the articles in the first part Lonergan's thesis is that from the sixteenth century onwards commentators on Thomas Aquinas lacked historical consciousness raised questions that Thomas had never considered and obfuscated the issues Lonergan's achievement consists in having retrieved the actual position of Thomas by adopting a historical approach that has reconstructed his intellectual development on grace The majority of contemporary theologians now agree with the implementation of the historical method What Lonergan also adds is a unique diagnosis of the mistakes made by the modern scholastic authors in their treatment of grace Throughout this work Lonergan discovers in Thomas a mind in constant development displaying radical shifts on fundamental questions Together the two parts not only reveal an essential step in Lonergan's own development but also make an impressive contribution to Thomist studies Bernard Lonergan 1904-1984 a professor of theology taught at Regis College Harvard University and Boston College An established author known for his Insight and Method in Theology Lonergan received numerous honorary doctorates was a Companion of the Order of Canada in 1971 and was named as an original member of the International Theological Commission by Pope Paul VI

The Trinity in History Robert M. Doran, 2012-01-01 The Trinity in History is the first volume in a new series by Robert M Doran that uses the thought of Bernard Lonergan to develop a unified field structure for systematic work in theology Building on his successful and thought provoking Theology and the Dialectics of History and What Is Systematic Theology Doran works out a starting point for a contemporary theology of history and proposes a new application of the psychological analogy for understanding the Christian doctrine of the Trinity Advancing the work of Lonergan Augustine and Thomas Aquinas The Trinity in History also enters into conversation with contemporary philosophical emphases especially with the mimetic theory of noted anthropological philosopher Ren Girard Doran suggests several refinements of Lonergan's notion of functional specialization developing a perspective for including the data of various religious traditions in theological construction and establishing this theory's relevance for contemporary interreligious dialogue

Faith and Reason Neil Ormerod, 2017-09-01 The twentieth century witnessed considerable debate over the question of the possibility of a Christian philosophy particularly in light of the revival of Thomism initiated by the papal encyclical Aeterni Patris Two major figures of that revival were Etienne Gilson and Bernard Lonergan both of whom read Aquinas in quite different ways Nonetheless this work brings these two authors into conversation on the possibility of a Christian philosophy Gilson was a great proponent of the term and while Lonergan does not use it he does speak of Christian realism Both display a lively interaction of faith and philosophical positions while maintaining a clear distinction between philosophy and theology Debates continue in the twenty first century but the context has shifted with Radical Orthodoxy and new atheism standing at opposite ends of a spectrum of positions on the relationship between faith and reason This work will demonstrate how the two thinkers Gilson and Lonergan may still contribute to a better understanding of this relationship and so shed light on contemporary issues

Human Freedom, Divine Knowledge, and Mere Molinism Timothy A. Stratton, 2020-10-02 Does humanity possess the freedom to think and act or are we always caused and determined to think and act exactly how we think and act by things outside of our control If we are always causally determined to think and act by things outside of our control then how can humans be genuinely responsible for any of our thoughts or following actions However if humanity is genuinely free and responsible for at least some of our thoughts and actions then how can the Christian rationally affirm the doctrine that God is totally sovereign and predestines all things In Human Freedom Divine Knowledge and Mere Molinism Timothy A Stratton surveys the history of theological thought from Augustine to Edwards and reaches surprising historical conclusions supporting what he refers to as limited libertarian freedom Stratton goes further to offer multiple arguments appealing to Scripture theology and philosophy that each conclude humanity does in fact possess libertarian freedom He then appeals to the work of Luis de Molina and offers unique arguments concluding that God possesses middle knowledge If this is the case then God can be completely sovereign and predestine all things without violating human freedom and responsibility Trinity in History, Volume Two Robert M. Doran,2019-04-17 The second volume of Robert M Doran s magisterial The Trinity in History continues his exploration of the Trinitarian theology of Bernard Lonergan focusing now on the notions of relations and persons and connecting the systematic proposals with the so called Third Quest for the Historical Jesus Doran not only interprets Lonergan s major work in Trinitarian theology and Christology but also suggests at least a twofold advance a new version of the psychological analogy for understanding Trinitarian doctrine and a new starting point for the whole of systematic theology He links these theological concerns with Ren Girard s mimetic theory proposes a theory of history based in Lonergan s scale of values and creates a link between exegetical and historical scholarship and systematic theology Dust Bound for Heaven Reinhard Hütter,2012-10-01 In Dust Bound for Heaven Reinhard Hütter shows how Thomas Aquinas s view of the human being as dust bound for heaven weaves together elements of two questions without fusion or reduction Does humanity still have an insatiable thirst for God that sends each person on an irrepressible religious quest that only the vision of God can quench Or must the human being living after the fall become a new creation in order to be readied for heaven Hütter also applies Thomas s anthropology to a host of pressing contemporary concerns including the modern crisis of faith and reason political theology the relationship between divine grace and human freedom and many more The concluding chapter explores the Christological center of Thomas s theology Being Human David G. Kirchhoffer,Robyn Horner,Patrick McArdle,2013-08-09 What does it mean to be human The traditional answers from the past remain only theoretical possibilities unless they come to mean something to today s generation Moreover in light of new knowledge and circumstances a new generation may call these old answers into question and seek to reinterpret or indeed provide alternatives to them In the 1960s the Catholic Church s Second Vatican Council attempted such a reinterpretation an aggiornamento for the post war generation of the mid twentieth century by proposing in Gaudium et Spes a theological anthropology founded upon the ideas of human dignity and the common good Fifty years later is an appropriate time to revisit those answers and Bound for Beatitude A Thomistic Study in Eschatology and Ethics Reinhard Hütter,2019 Bound for Beatitude is about St Thomas Aquinas s theology of beatitude and the journey thereto Consequently the work s topic is the meaning and purpose of human life embedded in that of the whole cosmos This study is not an antiquarian exercise in the thought of some sundry medieval thinker but an exercise of ressourcement in the philosophical and theological wisdom of one of the most profound theologians of the Catholic Church one whom the Church has canonized granted the title Doctor of the Church and for a long time regarded as the common doctor This exercise of ressourcement takes its methodological cues from the common doctor hence it is an integrated exercise of philosophical dogmatic and moral theology Its specific theological topic the ultimate human end perfect happiness beatitude and the journey thereto stands at the very heart of St Thomas s theology Far from being pass his theology of beatitude is of urgent pertinence as the crisis of humanity and of creation and the exile of God seems to approach its apogee By way of a presentation interpretation and defense of Thomas Aquinas s doctrine of beatitude and the journey thereto Bound for Beatitude advances an argument based on four theses 1 The loss of a theology of beatitude has greatly impoverished contemporary theology In order to succeed and flourish theology must recover a sound teleological orientation 2 In order to recover a sound teleological orientation theology must recover metaphysics as its privileged instrument 3 Thomas Aquinas provides a still pertinent model for how theology might achieve these goals in a metaphysically profound theology of beatitude and the beatific vision Finally 4 Aquinas s rich and sophisticated account of the virtues charts the journey to beatitude in a way that still has analytic force and striking relevance in the early twenty first century

The Roman School ,2024-03-18 Did the twentieth century patristic renewal come from nowhere Was all nineteenth century theology neo scholastic Do theologians personal failings invalidate their theologies These are the questions that guide the contributors to this volume as they reassess the legacy of the so called Roman School a nineteenth century theological network centered in the Jesuit Roman College Though not entirely uncritical The Roman College represents a collective effort at sympathetic historical retrieval It shows how various figures connected to the Roman School Perrone Passaglia Schrader Franzelin Newman Scheeben and Kleutgen engaged theologically the problems of their own day and set the stage for later theological renewal

The Catholic Reception of Continental Philosophy in North America Gregory P. Floyd,Stephanie Rumpza,2020-01-29 This volume by leading philosophers and theologians explores the reception of continental philosophy in North America and its ongoing relation to Catholic institutions What has prompted so many North American Catholics to support this particular school of thought Why do so many Catholics continue to find continental philosophy attractive and why do so many continental philosophers work in Catholic departments The establishment of the relationship between continental philosophy and Catholicism was not obvious nor was it easy Many of the contributors to this volume have played important roles in its development and in these pages they take a stance on this evolving relationship and demonstrate that the engagement is far from over Exploring the mutual interests that made this alliance possible as well as the underlying tensions the volume provides for the first time an extended reflection on the historical institutional and intellectual relationship between Catholicism and continental philosophy on North American soil up to the present day Making Progress in Housing Sean McNelis, 2014-01-21 This book presents a new approach to housing research one that is relevant to all the social sciences Housing research is diverse and operates across many disciplines approaches and methods making collaboration difficult This book outlines a methodological framework that enables researchers from many different fields to collaborate in solving complex and seemingly intractable housing problems It shows how we can make progress in housing research and deliver better housing outcomes through an integrated approach Drawing on the work of renowned Canadian methodologist philosopher theologian and economist Bernard Lonergan 1904 1984 McNelis outlines a framework for collaborative research Functional Collaboration This new form of collaboration divides up the work of housing research into functional specialties These distinguish eight inter related questions that arise in the process of moving from the current housing situation through to providing practical advice to decision makers To answer each question a different method is required Making progress in housing is the result of finding new answers to this complete set of eight inter related questions This approach to collaboration opens up a new discourse on method in housing and social research as well as new debates on progress and the nature of science Divine Causality and Human Free Choice Robert Joseph Matava, 2016-01-19 In Divine Causality and Human Free Choice R J Matava explains the idea of physical premotion defended by Domingo B ez whose position in the Controversy de Auxiliis has been typically ignored in contemporary discussions of providence and freewill Through a close engagement with untranslated primary texts Matava shows B ez s relevance to recent debates about middle knowledge Finding the mutual critiques of B ez and Molina convincing Matava argues that common presuppositions led both parties into an insoluble dilemma However Matava also challenges the informal consensus that Lonergan definitively resolved the controversy Developing a position independently advanced by several recent scholars Matava explains how the doctrine of creation entails a position that is more satisfactory both philosophically and as a reading of Aquinas The Quest for the Historical Jesus after the Demise of Authenticity Jonathan Bernier, 2016-11-17 For two centuries scholars have sought to discover the historical Jesus Presently such scholarship is dominated not by the question Who was Jesus but rather How do we even go about answering the question Who was Jesus With this current situation in mind Jonathan Bernier undertakes a two fold task one to engage on the level of the philosophy of history with existing approaches to the study of the historical Jesus most notably the criteria approach and the social memory approach two to work with the critical realism developed by Bernard Lonergan introduced into New Testament studies by Ben F Meyer and advocated by N T Wright in order to develop a philosophy of history that can elucidate current debates within historical Jesus studies
