

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a wooden pier or dock extending from the foreground into a dark body of water at night. The sky is deep blue and black, filled with numerous stars. A single, bright, glowing orb, likely the moon, is positioned in the center of the sky. The water reflects the light from the moon and the stars. The overall mood is peaceful and contemplative.

Make-Believe David Dickinson, 2020-01-30 I will tell you a story that will make you believe in God. No story can guarantee being able to do this. Yet novelists can tell stories that make us think about what we believe about God and why. Despite repeated predictions of the death of the novel, thousands of works of fiction are published and read in Britain each year. Although Western society is less religiously observant than it was many years ago, 21st-century novelists persist in pursuing theological, religious, and spiritual themes. Make Believe seeks to explain why. With chapters offering analyses of novels from several genres—so-called literary fiction, historical fiction, science fiction, fantasy, and dystopia—David Dickinson discusses a wide spectrum of novelists. Authors who are avowedly atheistic and authors who have a vested interest in perpetuating biblical stories are both featured. Well-known writers such as Rushdie, McEwan, McCarthy, and Martell rub shoulders with some you may be meeting for the first time. Appealing to literature students and people who simply enjoy reading, whether Christian or not, this study of God in novels invites us to open our minds and allow aspects of our culture to shape our understanding of God and to change our ways of talking about the divine.

Anne Enright Ana-Karina Schneider, 2020-07-28 Addressed to both literary scholars and the general reader Understanding Anne Enright is an introduction to the novels and stories of one of the most original and engaging contemporary Irish writers It analyses developments in Enright's writing comparing the evolution of themes and forms from one book to another contextualising her fiction and interrogating the impact of concepts such as postmodernism post feminism and post nationalism on the writing and reading of her work It particularly follows the evolution of Enright's treatment of the corporeality of women's experiences and its correlation with the embodied language of her fiction. Thus this book shows how Enright's writing participates in the latest thematic and formal trends not only of Irish or British but also of Western literature.
