The Good Stones Richard Bradley, Colleen E. Batey, 2000 This report documents Richard Bradley's meticulous survey and excavation of the core monuments of the group at Balnaran of Clava. It also presents data drawn from records of early survey and excavation together with information from newly discovered remnant and lesser known Clava sites

Aberdeen and North-East Scotland Ian Shepherd, Royal Commission on the Ancient and Historical Monuments of Scotland, 1996 This volume details a range of monuments in and around North East Scotland. The history of early burghs such as Aberdeen and Elgin can be traced through their fine cathedrals and town houses while the estate improvements of the 18th and 19th centuries have left important bridges and harbours

Place and Memory Julian Thomas, Matt Leivers, Julia Roberts, Rick Peterson, 2007 This volume is concerned with the investigation of three complexes of prehistoric ceremonial monuments in the immediate environs of Dumfries in the south west of Scotland conducted between 1994 and 1998. These were the Pict's Knowe, the Holywood cursus complex and the post alignments cursus at Holm. The field research was designed in such a way as to recognise that prehistoric monuments often have complex and individual sequences of construction and use while also acknowledging that detailed studies of particular sites and local contexts will ultimately advance our understanding of monumentality in prehistoric Europe. The three sites of the Pict's Knowe, Holywood and Holm have proved especially helpful in addressing questions of how particular places maintained their importance over long periods of time. In each instance the location was characterised by features which possess a high degree of archaeological visibility. In the former case it was the upstanding earthwork of the bank and ditch that identified the site as a henge monument while Holywood and Holm were discovered through aerial photography. Each of the sites investigated had complex sequences of development in which the structural elements that were recognised prior to fieldwork were not necessarily the most important or the most long lived. This book considers the details of the excavated features, environmental and artefactual evidence as well as more general concerns. The first part of the volume concentrates on the Pict's Knowe while the second looks at the more spatially and typologically related sites of Holywood and Holm

Beyond Stonehenge Christopher Burgess, Peter Topping, Frances Lynch, 2007 Celebrating Colin Burgess 65th birthday and more than 45 years studying the Bronze Age, thirty-six contributors (friends, colleagues, former students and members of the Bronze Age Studies Group) have come together to provide their latest thoughts on the Bronze Age in Europe. Topics range from the rock art of Northumberland to the nuraghe of Sardinia, from mining in Wales to cross-Channel trade links and from the Cave of Covsea to that at Heathery Burn. Artefact studies include re-assessments of Scottish Ceramics, Swords from the European Lowlands and from Scotland hair rings in France Gold from Iberia a woodworkers toolkit from Ireland and the first analysis of the most recent bronze and gold hoard discovered in northern England Wider topics are also considered including the dating of the Bronze Age in Britain in light of the latest European discoveries Aerial Photography and Archaeology 2003 Jean Bourgeois, Marc Meganck, 2005 This publication contains the selected proceedings of a conference devoted to the history of aerial photography Ghent 2003 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 1996 The Worm, the Germ and the Thorn David Henry, 1997 Ulster Journal of Archaeology, 1858 Scotland Kevin J. Edwards, Ian B. M.

Ralston, 1997-03-11 The results of recent field research are incorporated broader hypotheses are considered and outstanding problems summarized in an engrossing and well argued text Archeologia lotnicza Włodzimierz Rączkowski, 2002

Prehistoric Britain from the Air Timothy Darvill, 1996-07-04 This book provides a bird s eye look at the monumental achievements of Britain s earliest inhabitants Arranged thematically it illustrates and describes a wide selection of archaeological sites and landscapes dating from between 500 000 years ago and the Roman conquest Timothy Darvill brings to life many of the familiar sites and monuments that prehistoric communities built and exposes to view many thousands of sites that simply cannot be seen at ground level Throughout the book he makes a unique application of social archaeology to the field of aerial photography Archaeology George Laurence Gomme, 1886 Archaeological Resource Management in the UK John Hunter, Ian Ralston, 1997 This introduction to the structure and context of archaeology in Britain reviews the vital issues facing archaeologists during a period in which the discipline has become increasingly complicated and diverse The authors offer an analysis of the crucial questions of principle and practice that have arisen In particular they examine the implications for the archaeological profession of heritage management and legislation stricter planning controls changing land use and the pressure of public interest and concern Digital Methods and Remote

Sensing in Archaeology Maurizio Forte, Stefano Campana, 2017-02-10 This volume debuts the new scope of Remote Sensing which was first defined as the analysis of data collected by sensors that were not in physical contact with the objects under investigation using cameras scanners and radar systems operating from spaceborne or airborne platforms A wider characterization is now possible Remote Sensing can be any non destructive approach to viewing the buried and nominally invisible evidence of past activity Spaceborne and airborne sensors now supplemented by laser scanning are united using ground based geophysical instruments and undersea remote sensing as well as other non invasive techniques such as surface collection or field walking survey Now any method that enables observation of evidence on or beneath the surface of the earth without impact on the surviving stratigraphy is legitimately within the realm of Remote Sensing The new interfaces and senses engaged in Remote Sensing appear throughout the book On a philosophical level this is about the landscapes and built environments that reveal history through place and time It is about new perspectives the views of history possible with Remote Sensing and fostered in part by immersive interactive 3D and 4D environments discussed in this volume These perspectives are both the result and the implementation of technological cultural and epistemological advances in record keeping interpretation and conceptualization Methodology presented here builds on the current ease and speed in collecting data sets on the scale of the object site locality and landscape As this volume shows many disciplines surrounding archaeology and related cultural studies are currently involved in Remote Sensing and its relevance will only increase as the methodology expands

The Archaeology of Britain John Hunter,Ian Ralston,1999 A comprehensive and up to date introduction to all the archaeological periods covering Britain from early prehistory to the industrial revolution It provides a one stop textbook for the entire archaeology of Britain
