The Global Work of Art Caroline A. Jones, 2017-06-01 Global biennials have proliferated in the contemporary art world but artists' engagement with large scale international exhibitions has a much longer history that has influenced the present in important ways. Going back to the earliest world's fairs in the nineteenth century, this book argues that globalism was incubated in a century of international art contests and today constitutes an important tactic for artists. As world's fairs brought millions of attendees into contact with foreign cultures, products and processes, artworks became juxtaposed in a theater of nations which challenged artists and critics to think outside their local academies. From Gustave Courbet's rebel pavilion near the official art exhibit at the 1855 French World's Fair to curator Beryl Madra's choice of London-based Cypriot Hussein Chalayan for the off-site Turkish pavilion at the 2006 Venice Biennale, artists have used these exhibitions to reflect on contemporary art, speak to their own governments back home, and challenge the wider geopolitical realm, changing art and art history along the way. Ultimately, Caroline A. Jones argues, the modern appetite for experience and event structures which were cultivated around the art at these earlier expositions have now come to constitute contemporary art itself, producing encounters that transform the public and force us to reflect critically on the global condition.

The Empire of Progress D. Stephen, 2013-09-19 This much needed study of the British Empire Exhibition reveals durable, persistent connections between empire and domestic society in Britain during the interwar years. It demonstrates that the Exhibition was a marker of how by 1924 imperial relations were increasingly likely to be shaped by forces located on the colonial periphery.

Methods for the Ethnography of Communication Judith Kaplan-Weinger, 2024-12-06 Methods for the Ethnography of Communication is a guide to conducting ethnographic research in classroom and community settings that introduces students to the field of ethnography of communication and takes them through the recursive and nonlinear cycle of ethnographic research. This brand new edition includes the most up to date research with the authors introducing the innovative CULTURES framework to provide a helpful structure for moving through the complex process of collecting and analyzing ethnographic data and address the larger how to questions that students struggle with during ethnographic research. Exercises and activities help students make the connection between communicative events, acts and situations and ways of studying them ethnographically. Integrating a primary focus on language in use within an ethnographic framework makes this book an invaluable core text for courses on ethnography of communication and related areas in a variety of disciplines.

Artistic Reconfigurations of Rome Kaspar Thormod, 2019-04-09 In Artistic Reconfigurations of Rome Kaspar Thormod examines how visions of Rome manifest themselves in artworks produced by international artists who have stayed at the city's foreign academies Structured as an alternative guide to Rome the book represents an interdisciplinary approach to creating a dynamic visual history that brings into view facets of the city's diverse contemporary character Thormod demonstrates that when artists successfully reconfigure Rome they provide us with visions that being anchored in a present undermine the connotations of permanence and immovability that cling to the Eternal City epithet Looking at the work of these artists the reader is invited to engage critically with the question what is Rome today or perhaps
