

A vibrant Halloween-themed illustration. A large, bright full moon dominates the center background. To the left, a witch on a broom flies across the sky, and a ghost floats nearby. Below them, a black cat with glowing yellow eyes stands on the ground. Several black bats are scattered across the sky. In the background, a haunted house with multiple towers and glowing orange windows sits on a hill. A jack-o'-lantern with a mischievous grin is on the right. In the foreground, a grey penguin wearing a black witch's hat with a yellow buckle is jumping joyfully with its arms raised. The text 'Halloween at the Library' is written in a playful, cursive font, with 'Halloween' in orange and 'at the Library' in blue, all contained within the glow of the full moon.

followed by seven essays in the field of astronomy including issues that can be easily misunderstood by the general public. The author was previously an astronomy professor who worked three years on the Apollo Project determining orbital characteristics, fuel usage, and radar accuracy requirements for space travel. This experience is described in one of the astronomy essays in the book. Three stories set in the far future describe wars taking place among highly evolved animals including intelligent monkeys, raccoons, dogs, cats, and dolphins. One tale describes an alternate world in which a murder victim gains justice in a time travel adventure. The U.S. presidency is at stake. In other stories, teenagers discover the importance of Spell Check while doing magic, and then there's the tale about Halley's Comet.
