Dmitry Samarov has seen more of Chicago than most Chicagoans will hope to experience in a lifetime. An artist and painter trained at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago, Samarov began driving a cab in 1993 to make ends meet and he's been working as a taxi driver ever since. In Hack Stories from a Chicago Cab, he recounts tales that will delight, surprise, and sometimes shock the most seasoned urbanite. We follow Samarov through the rhythms of a typical week as he waits hours at the garage to pick up a shift, ferries comically drunken passengers between bars, delivers prostitutes to their johns, and inadvertently observes drug deals. There are long waits with other cabbies at O'Hare, vivid portraits of street corners and their regular denizens, amorous Cubs fans celebrating after a game at Wrigley Field, and customers who are pleasantly surprised that Samarov is white and tell him so. Throughout Samarov's own drawings of his fares of the taxi garage and of a variety of Chicago street scenes accompany his stories. In the grand tradition of Nelson Algren, Saul Bellow, Mike Royko, and Studs Terkel, Dmitry Samarov has rendered an entertaining, poignant, and unforgettable vision of Chicago and its people.

A Critical Analysis of an Encounter with a Daredevil Priest Maina Wahome, Ndegwa SK's An Encounter with a Daredevil Priest is a gritty, provocative story that rips apart the facade of religion, morality, and modern Kenyan society. It disturbs, dares, and destabilizes the status quo. Joram, a traffic officer by day and shadowy avenger by night, crosses paths with Father Fred, a priest whose collar hides conviction and corruption. Father Fred dares to lecture Joram on morals all while openly planning a threesome with a female bar attendant and Joram himself. Together they navigate a world where the church is both sanctuary and syndicate; children are trafficked under holy guise, and secrets are cloaked in cassocks. A priest who drinks with sinners, weeps with prostitutes, and dares to talk about morals. It is a part thriller and part theological reckoning that pulls you deep into the murky waters of faith, power, and the cost of truth. Prepare to question everything you thought you knew about virtue and vice.

Disability Life Stories Annemarie Vaccaro, Adam M. Moore, Barbara M. Newman, Philip R. Newman, Ezekiel W. Kimball, Alexis Carlson, Emily Doffing, 2025-08-12. Based on a 10-year longitudinal study in the United States, this much-needed text offers insight into the developmental trajectories of people with disabilities from childhood through adulthood, using their language and amplifying their voices. Through in-depth interviews with 14 disabled people, the authors learned important lessons about how each individual developed and enacted a sense of life purpose. Their experiences are illustrated through rich and unfiltered narratives about childhood, family interactions, primary and secondary education, college, and work experiences. These life stories also illuminate growth over time, capturing details of educational identity, relationship, and career trajectories. Featuring discussion questions at the end of each chapter, the book stimulates individual and group reflection and invites readers to engage in action as allies and advocates for equity and inclusion for disabled people. Disability Life Stories is essential reading for everyone, especially educators in service and pre-service disability scholars, families, community organizers, healthcare professionals, and disabled people themselves.
