Canadian Working Class History Selected Readings Third Edition is an updated version of the bestselling reader that brings together recent and classic scholarship on the history politics and social groups of the working class in Canada Some of the changes readers will find in the new edition include better representation of women scholars and nine provocative and ground breaking new articles on racism and human rights women s equality gender history Quebec sovereignty and the environment Respectable Burial Brian Young,2003-05-26 Respectable Burial also highlights how important a role Montreal played in Canada s history The cemetery is the final resting place of politician Alexander Galt poet F R Scott hockey star Howie Morenz explorer David Thompson bank presidents renegades hangmen and victims of the Titanic This history of a model rural cemetery an innovator in perpetual care and proprietor of the first crematorium in Canada illustrates changing attitudes to burial and commemoration including the relationships between Protestantism Romanticism and death Young also shows how the cemetery a site of great natural beauty that helped inspire Frederick Law Olmsted s adjacent Mount Royal Park became a much loved public urban space and examines how the evolution of its landscaping architecture and use reflect changing attitudes to the place of women recreation heritage and the environment Incorporating a rich collection of archival illustrations walking maps and a colour photo essay by photographer Geoffrey James Respectable Burial will appeal to anyone interested in Canadian history parks and cities Deindustrializing Montreal Steven High,2022-06-13 Point Saint Charles a historically white working class neighbourhood with a strong Irish and French presence and Little Burgundy a multiracial neighbourhood that is home to the city s English speaking Black community face each other across Montreal s Lachine Canal once an artery around which work and industry in Montreal were clustered and by which these two communities were formed and divided Deindustrializing Montreal challenges the deepening divergence of class and race analysis by recognizing the intimate relationship between capitalism class struggles and racial inequality Fundamentally deindustrialization is a process of physical and social ruination as well as part of a wider political project that leaves working class communities impoverished and demoralized The structural violence of capitalism occurs gradually and out of sight but it doesn t play out the same for everyone Point Saint Charles was left to rot until it was revalorized by gentrification whereas Little Burgundy was torn apart by urban renewal and highway construction This historical divergence had profound consequences in how urban change has been experienced understood and remembered Drawing extensive interviews a massive and varied archive of imagery and original photography by David Lewis into a complex chorus Steven High brings these communities to life tracing their history from their earliest years to their decline and their current reality He extends the analysis of deindustrialization often focused on single industry towns to cities that have seemingly made the post industrial transition The urban neighbourhood has never been a settled concept and its apparent innocence masks considerable contestation divergence and change over time Deindustrializing Montreal thinks critically about locality revealing how heritage becomes an agent of gentrification investigating how places like Little Burgundy and the Point acquire race and class identities and questioning what is preserved and for whom Appleton's Booklovers Magazine, 1905
