John Arlott Authorized Biography:

Arlott David Rayvern Allen, 2014-03-01 John Arlott's rich Hampshire burr was the voice of BBC cricket commentary for many years from the great Test match radio broadcasts of the fifties to bucolic Sunday League on the television in the seventies. But he was also a distinguished journalist for the Guardian, a Liberal parliamentary candidate, a courageous opponent of apartheid in sport from the earliest opportunity and a connoisseur and imbibor of fine wine without equal. David Rayvern Allen's definitive biography was acclaimed on its first publication and won the Cricket Society's award for Cricket Book of the Year. Now reissued by Aurum in a new paperback edition to tie in with its publication of the author's authorised biography of E. W. Swanton, Arlott evokes both a broadcasting legend and a sensitive humane man whose graphic pensive and wry commentaries came to epitomise the sound of an English summer.

Head On - Ian Botham: The Autobiography Ian Botham, 2009-09-15 Voted the greatest English cricketer of the 20th century by the fans, Sir Ian Botham is the English game's one true living legend and his story both on and off the pitch reads like a Boy's Own rollercoaster ride. Born with a natural genius for cricket, Botham began breaking records with bat and ball from a young age and soon became the man English cricket expected most from. After a troubled period as England's captain, Botham rose once again to become a national hero with his display in the Miracle Ashes of 1981. But with his confrontational nature and wild streak, he began regularly making the wrong kind of headlines. With accusations of drink and drugs affairs and ball tampering, he became hounded by the tabloid pack, never sure whether they wanted him to triumph or implode. Now a Knight and just as famous for his tireless charity work, Beefy gives us the definitive story of his never dull life and times in his own no-nonsense words.

Arlott David Rayvern Allen, 1994

The Autobiography of a Nation Becky Conekin, 2003-06-28 The first full-length study on the 1951 Festival of Britain.

The Centre of the Bed: An Autobiography Joan Bakewell, 2019-11-21 Honest and intriguing, beautifully written. Observer. Joan Bakewell was everywhere at every stage, reporting on the Cuban missile crisis, interviewing Allen Ginsberg and Vaclav Havel, taking chunks out of the Berlin Wall when it fell, draped in the kaftan of the Sixties, sophistication. Independent on Sunday. Joan Bakewell's life and times spans the Blitz in Manchester, Cambridge during the glittering era of Michael Frayn, Peter Hall, Jonathan Miller et al. London at its most exciting in the swinging sixties and the world of the media and the arts from the 60s to the present. As she reflects on the choices she has made and the influences that shaped her, she confronts painful childhood memories of her mother's behaviour and describes both her affair with Harold Pinter and her two marriages with remarkable honesty. Throughout, she uses her own experience to explore the extraordinary change in women's roles during her lifetime. This is no ordinary celebrity autobiography; it is a memoir that is beautifully written, frank and absorbing, which draws a thought-provoking portrait of Britain in the last 70 years. Dame Joan Bakewell was awarded the BAFTA Fellowship in 2019.

Parky: My Autobiography Michael Parkinson, 2009-05-14 The Sunday Times Bestseller. All Michael Parkinson really wanted to do was play cricket for Yorkshire and England. However, he soon realised that to be paid to watch films football and cricket would be the best way to spend life and he became a journalist Television beckoned and for three decades Parkinson interviewed the movers and shakers of the late twentieth century making his television programme the must see event of the week In singing with Bing Crosby dancing with Billy Connolly flirting with Miss Piggy and sparring with Muhammad Ali Parkinson proved himself one of the most engaging and durable hosts in both Britain and Australia In Parky he recalls a full life with honesty insight and humour Praise for Parky Nothing less than riveting Mirror Joyous Telegraph Wonderfully readable Daily Mail One of the finest broadcasters of any era Guardian

Tapestry of Memory Nanci Adler, 2017-07-28 In this volume contributors present narratives and explore the way they influence the perception of the past While acknowledging the debate about the validity of qualitative research based on narratives this volume aims to illuminate how truth and evidence form part of a much wider debate on the representation of history The volume includes the work of historians but the interdisciplinary nature of the contributions shows that the validity debate also applies to the broader fields of cultural studies sociology and other social sciences The distinction between memory and testimony is a crucial theme Memory though selective is the basis of testimony Testimony provides an audience with information that becomes evidence of what was seen or experienced Such evidence can form the basis of legal truth Nanci Adler and Selma Leydesdorff divide the volume into three core sections Official Testimony and Other Facts and Evidence The Creation of New History and the Integration of Collective Memory in the Story of One's Self and Claims Based on Narratives vs Official History After a comprehensive introduction by the editors the volume offers twelve essays by leading scholars This work is a new offering in Transaction's acclaimed Memory and Narrative series

Dickie Bird Autobiography Dickie Bird, Mr H D Bird, 2012-08-16 Dickie Bird's retirement was an international event shown on TV screens and newspapers throughout the world He is a household name an eccentric and one of the most loved and respected characters in world cricket His idiosyncratic style and infectious humour has endeared him to millions transcending his sport Fiercely proud of his background as a Yorkshire miner's son his account follows his youth in Barnsley his early days as a cricketer through to his career as an umpire and his experiences of the international scene all told with total honesty by this very private person As the most respected umpire in the game Dickie has serious and constructive points to make about modern cricket He has fearlessly berated fast bowlers when necessary He has some sharp comments to make about ball tampering and he has mixed feelings about the introduction of the third umpire Dickie wanted to go out at the top and he has certainly done so after standing at 66 Test matches three World Cup finals and 92 one day Internationals Combining forthright views on the game and those involved in it compelling accounts of what it is like behind the scenes in cricket at the highest level and the hilarious stories for which Dickie is so well known here is the refreshing and enjoyable autobiography of a sporting legend

European Heroes Pierre Lanfranchi, Richard Holt, J A Mangan, 2013-09-13 Historians of popular culture have recently been addressing the role of myth and now it is time that social historians of sport also examined it The contributors to this collection of essays explore the symbolic meanings that have been attached to sport in Europe by considering some of the mythic heroes who have dominated the sporting landscapes of their own countries The ambition is to understand what these icons stood for in the eyes of those who watched or read about these vessels into which poured all manner of gender class and patriotic expectations My Autobiography Murray Walker, 2002 The voice of motor racing and the man responsible for introducing millions of viewers to the previously inaccessible world of Formula 1 tells the story of his incident packed life Murray Walker is an institution When the man who made famous the catchphrase Unless I'm very much mistaken I AM very much mistaken announced that he was retiring as ITV's Grand Prix commentator at the end of the 2001 season the media reacted as if the sport itself was losing one of its biggest stars His reputation for mistakes was the making of Walker He was the fan who happened to be given the keys to the commentary box and never wanted to give them back His high octane delivery kept viewers on the edge of their seats while his passion for talking about the sport he loved was matched by an all encompassing knowledge gained through hours of painstaking research before every race In fact he is a throwback to another age who managed to survive and indeed prosper from the revolutions in motor racing In his book he writes about his childhood and the influence that his father British motorcycle champion Graham Walker had on his career Failing to match his father's achievements on the track he made a successful career for himself in advertising which catapulted him to the top of his profession An offer from the BBC to take over the commentary seat for their F1 broadcasts was manna from heaven for Walker and it wasn't long before the infamous Murrayisms enlivened a sport which until then had been shrouded in a cloak of unfathomable technical jargon and mind numbing statistics He also talks about the biggest changes in the sport over the last 50 years in particular the safety issues which came to the fore after the tragic death of Ayrton Senna His partnership with James Hunt behind the microphone is the subject of some hilarious anecdotes while his views on drivers such as Damon Hill Jacques Villeneuve Eddie Irvine and David Coulthard make for fascinating reading

British Sporting Relations with Apartheid South Africa Matthew P. Llewellyn, Toby C. Rider, 2024-11-25 The transnational anti apartheid sport boycott of South Africa represented the most prominent extended and controversial anti racism campaign in the history of sport Spearheaded by prominent British religious and anti colonial figures and exiled South Africans emboldened by communist and Global South support and legitimised by supranational political bodies such as the United Nations the Organisation of African Unity and the Commonwealth the sport boycott helped propel anti apartheid out of relative obscurity and struck at the very heart of a cultural practice that served an explicitly ideological function in Afrikaner society Britain held a dichotomous even paradoxical role as both prosecutor and defender of white South Africa This book utilises sport as a critical lens for understanding the dynamics and dichotomies of British attitudes towards the apartheid regime Debates over whether to continue or to cut sporting links with apartheid South Africa proved bitterly divisive The considerable weight the subject carried and the degree to which it saturated British political and social discourse for four decades speaks to its impact and importance British Sporting Relations with Apartheid South Africa represents the first archival based historical examination of Britain's sporting relations with South Africa throughout the apartheid era 1948-1994 Situating the analysis within the shifting multiracial and multicultural landscapes of postcolonial Britain and within global political cultural sporting and ideological debates the authors trace the origins and evolution of the transnational sport boycott and examine what inspired Britons to energise anti apartheid sport campaigns and in contrast what drove many others to vehemently oppose them at every turn , Having it So Good Peter Hennessy, 2007-05-03 Winner of the Orwell Prize for Political Writing Peter Hennessy's Having it So Good Britain in the Fifties captures Britain in an extraordinary decade emerging from the shadow of war into growing affluence The 1950s was the decade in which Roger Bannister ran the four minute mile Bill Haley released Rock Around the Clock rationing ended and Britain embarked on the traumatic disastrous Suez War In this highly enjoyable original book Peter Hennessy takes his readers into front rooms classrooms cabinet rooms and the new high street coffee bars of Britain to recapture as no previous history has the feel the flavour and the politics of this extraordinary time of change Utterly engaging a treat It breathes exhilaration Libby Purves The Times If the Gods gossip this is how it would sound Philip Ziegler Spectator Books of the Year A particular treat fine wise and meticulously researched Andrew Marr Stands clear of the field as our best narrative history of this decisive decade Peter Clarke Sunday Times A compelling narrative Hennessy's love of the flesh and blood of politics breathes on every page Tim Gardam Observer The late Ben Pimlott once described Hennessy as something of a national institution You can forget the first two of those five words Guardian British Sport: Biographical studies of British sportsmen, sportswomen, and animals Richard William Cox, 2003 Volume three of a bibliography documenting all that has been written in the English language on the history of sport and physical education in Britain It lists all secondary source material including reference works in a classified order to meet the needs of the sports historian Learie Constantine and Race Relations in Britain and the Empire Jeffrey Hill, 2018-12-13 Who was Learie Constantine And what can he tell us about the politics of race and race relations in 20th century Britain and the Empire Through examining the life times and opinions of this Trinidadian cricketer turned politician Learie Constantine and Race Relations in Britain and the Empire explores the centrality of race in British politics and society Unlike conventional biographical studies of Constantine this unique approach to his life and the racially volatile context in which it was lived moves away from the good man narrative commonly attributed to his rise to pre eminence as a spokesman against racial discrimination and as the first black peer in the House of Lords Through detailing how Constantine's idea of assimilation was criticized then later rejected by successive activists in the politics of race Jeffrey Hill offers an alternative and more sophisticated analysis of Constantine's contributions to and complex relationship with the fight against racial inequalities inherent in British domestic and imperial society Victory in Australia Richard Whitehead, 2025-07-03 AVAILABLE TO PRE ORDER NOW Such incredibly gripping sports writing It was like being there

Truly Every ball Giles Coren Elegant and evocative the definitive word on England's most astonishing Ashes tour ever
Matthew Engel THE DEFINITIVE ACCOUNT OF AN EPIC ASHES BATTLE The Ashes series of 1954-55 marked a watershed moment in the history of English cricket Under the leadership of Len Hutton the national team's first professional captain one of the greatest group of players ever to represent England won an Ashes series in Australia for the first time in more than 20 years It is a feat that has been repeated only four times in more than 70 years since But Hutton's men had to overcome the additional obstacle of losing heavily in the first Test only one England team has managed to win an overseas Ashes series after such a monumental setback The names of the cricketers who locked horns in 1954-55 resonate down the decades Hutton's team included Denis Compton Frank Tyson Brian Statham Trevor Bailey Godfrey Evans Peter May and Colin Cowdrey Among their Australian opponents were Ray Lindwall Keith Miller Neil Harvey and Richie Benaud In the 1950s these players were not just elite sportsmen they were household names An Ashes series for the ages is brought thrillingly to life in this momentous slice of sporting and social history Cricket: A Political History of the Global Game, 1945-2017 Stephen Wagg, 2017-11-14 Cricket is an enduring paradox On the one hand it symbolises much that is outmoded imperialism a leisured elite a rural aristocratic Englishness On the other it endures as a global game and does so by skilful adaptation trading partly on its mythic past and partly on its capacity to repackage itself This ambitious new history recounts the politics of cricket around the world since the Second World War examining key cultural and political themes including decolonisation racism gender globalisation corruption and commercialisation Part One looks at the transformation of cricket cultures in the ten territories of the former British Empire in the years immediately after 1945 a time when decolonisation and the search for national identity touched every cricket playing region in the world Part Two focuses on globalisation and the game's evolution as an international sport analysing social change and the Ashes the campaigns for new cricket formats the development of the women's game the new breed of coach the limits to the game's global expansion and the rise of India as the world's leading cricket power Cricket A Political History of the Global Game 1945-2017 is fascinating reading for anybody interested in the contemporary history of sport Bodyline Hypocrisy Michael Arnold, 2013-04-19 This fresh analysis of the England Bodyline Controversy of 1932-33 uncovers hypocrisy on both sides of the furore drawing on exclusive interviews with English e villain of the piece and Australian emigre Harold Larwood At the time Australia was a young isolated country where sport was a religion winning essential and the media prone to distortion In England the MCC was pressurised by a British government fearing trade repercussions leaving Harold Larwood and Douglas Jardine to be hung out to dry on a clothes line of political expediency The Bodyline Hypocrisy analyzes the influence of Australian culture on events and on exaggerations and distortions previously accepted as fact It reveals that the MCC granted Honorary Membership to Larwood in 1949 influenced by its Australian president And now even Ian Chappell has stated that Jardine's leg theory tactic was simply playing Test cricket with whatever weapons were available Times change and the truth emerges Bob Willis: A
