Government Auditing Standards David M. Walker, 2002-06 This amendment substantially changes the previous standard to better serve the public interest and to maintain a high degree of integrity objectivity and independence for audits of government entities While this new amendment deals with a range of auditor independence issues the most significant change relates to the rules associated with non audit or consulting services Included as Appendix I is a version of the standard which shows the deletion of language appearing in the 1994 Yellow Book with a strikeout and presents the new or amended language with bold and italics Also contains a list of members of the Comptroller General s Advisory Council on Government Auditing Standards

Government Auditing Standards: 2011 Revision Gene Dodaro, 2012-01-20 The official auditing standards promulgated by the Comptroller General of the United States Known as the Yellow Book Includes the professional standards and guidance commonly referred to as generally accepted government auditing standards GAGAS which provide a framework for conducting high quality government audits and attestation engagements with competence integrity objectivity and independence These standards are for use by auditors of government entities and entities that receive government awards and audit organizations performing GAGAS audits and attestation engagements Gene L Dodaro Comptroller General of the United States and the head of the U S Government Accountability Office has issued the 2011 revision of Government Auditing Standards The standards which were first published in 1972 and are commonly referred to as the Yellow Book cover federal entities and those organizations receiving federal funds Various laws require compliance with the comptroller general s auditing standards in connection with audits of federal entities and funds Furthermore many states and local governments and other entities both domestically and internationally have voluntarily adopted these standards. The professional standards presented in this 2011 revision of Government Auditing Standards provide a framework for performing high quality audit work with competence, integrity, objectivity, and independence to provide accountability and to help improve government operations and services. These standards provide the foundation for government auditors to lead by example in the areas of independence, transparency, accountability, and quality through the audit process. The 2011 revision of Government Auditing Standards represents a modernized version of the standards, taking into account recent changes in other auditing standards, including international standards. This revision supersedes the 2007 revision. It contains the following major changes from the 2007 revision that reinforce the principles of transparency and accountability and provide the framework for high quality government audits that add value:

1. A conceptual framework for independence was added to provide a means for auditors to assess their independence for activities that are not expressly prohibited in the standards. This more principles-based approach to analyzing independence provides the framework for auditors to assess the unique facts and circumstances that arise during their work.
2. This revision drops discussion surrounding certain AICPA Statements on Auditing Standards (SAS) and Statements on Standards for Attestation Engagements (SSAE) requirements that were incorporated by reference and included in the 2007 revision, as the standards have converged in those areas.
3. The definition of validity as an aspect of the quality of evidence has been clarified for performance audits.

Effective with the implementation dates for the 2011 revision of Government Auditing Standards, GAO is also retiring Government Auditing Standards Answers to Independence Standard Questions (GAO 02-870G, July 2002). This revision of the standards has gone through an extensive deliberative process, including public comments and input from the Comptroller General's Advisory Council on Government Auditing Standards. The Advisory Council generally consists of about 25 experts in financial and performance auditing and reporting, drawn from federal, state, and local government, the private sector, and academia. The views of all parties were thoroughly considered in finalizing the standards. The 2011 revision of Government Auditing Standards will be effective for financial audits and attestation engagements for periods ending on or after December 15, 2012, and for performance audits beginning on or after December 15, 2011.
