Government And Community:

The Role of Government in Community Capacity Building Jim Cavaye, 2004 Opening Windows Kate Sherren, Gladman Thondhlana, Douglas Jackson-Smith, 2024-05-15 The third decennial review from the International Association for Society and Natural Resources Opening Windows simultaneously examines the breadth and societal relevance of Society and Natural Resources SNR knowledge explores emergent issues and new directions in SNR scholarship and captures the increasing diversity of SNR research Authors from various backgrounds career stage gender and sexuality race ethnicity and global region provide a fresh nuanced and critical look at the field from both researchers and practitioners perspectives This reflexive book is organized around four key themes diversity and justice governance and power engagement and elicitation and relationships and place This is not a complacent volume chapters point to gaps in conventional scholarship and to how much work remains to be done Power is a central focus including the role of cultural and economic power in participatory approaches to natural resource management and the biases encoded into the very concepts that guide scholarly and practical work The chapters include robust literature syntheses conceptual models and case studies that provide examples of best practices and recommend research directions to improve and transform natural resource social sciences An unmistakable spirit of hope is exemplified by findings suggesting positive roles for research in the progress ahead Bringing fresh perspectives on the assumptions and interests that underlie and entangle scholarship on natural resource decisionmaking and the justness of its outcomes Opening Windows is significant for scholars students natural resource practitioners managers and decision makers and policy makers A Guide to Government and Community Services , 1980* A Community Civics Edwin Wesley Adams, 1920 Community Interventions and AIDS Edison J. Trickett, Willo Pequegnat, 2005-09 This book provides a new interdisciplinary guide to effective behavioral and social science interventions to prevent HIV AIDS It aims to strengthen the fight against HIV AIDS by improving community resources to respond to the disease and its effects The book both builds on and goes beyond the individually oriented interventions that have provided the first generation of AIDS prevention programs It brings together both theoretical and practical contributions written by the most active influential and respected scholars in the field of HIV AIDS behavioral prevention

BOOK JACKET Government and Community in the English Provinces, 1700-1870 David Eastwood, 1997 In this bold and original study David Eastwood offers a reinterpretation of politics and public life in provincial England in the Hanoverian and early Victorian periods Drawing on his own work and extensive secondary literature the author explores the ways in which power was exercised in parishes towns and counties and reconstructs the social and cultural foundations of political authority in provincial England In extending our understanding of the nature and decline of English provincialism and of the cultural social ideological and economic changes which shaped developments within the English polity this volume deepens our appreciation of the long run development of the English state What emerges is a compelling picture of the intimate connection between public cultures and patterns of political power Congressional Record United States. Congress,1967

Medicine Dr. Charlotte Evans,Associate Professor Anne Creaton,Dr. Marcus Kennedy,Dr. Terry Martin,2016-11-17 Retrieval Medicine is a core concise and practical text covering the complex clinical and logistical problems experienced in the retrieval environment Focusing on evidence based management and clear clinical guidance this easily portable handbook provides a comprehensive and accessible guide to this growing field for all health professionals involved in the retrieval and transfer of critically ill patients Covering the practice of acute emergency and critical care medicine in the transport environment this handbook provides the practical guidance and clinical knowledge to enable medical practitioners to function independently in highly variable and resource limited environments with acutely unwell unstable and often clinically undifferentiated patients over long durations Closely mapped to the Royal College of Surgeons syllabus on retrieval and transfer medicine this title comprehensively covers all aspects of retrieval medicine from basic flight physiology to more complex retrievals and common pitfalls Authored by an authoritative international team of expert editors and specialist authors this clinically focused text is complemented by a range of checklists and reference tools for practical and accessible use in the field These deliver core information for use in the primary retrieval setting allowing the retriever to structure their approach to a crisis and correct the problem with suggested interventions Topics include retrieval systems and coordination crisis resource management shock and a range of chapters focusing on responding to specific areas of medicine when encountered in the retrieval environment such as cardiology and obstetrics and gynaecology The Concept of Community Harold DeRienzo,2008 Through this book it is my sincere hope that far from providing any absolute answers to problems confronting community that I provide the conceptual tools necessary to engage in community work and appreciate the value of that work and its place in our larger society But a more pressing dilemma presents itself the dilemma that community as a valid and meaningful social construct is losing relevance Community represents the best of what people can accomplish when they work together But in practice community is irreconcilable with prevailing economic political and social trends When I was younger I believed that it was possible to develop a political framework and from that political framework could and would emerge the complementary and supportive social and civic institutions necessary to support protect and evolve that framework I have come to believe that politics institutional arrangements and social organization instead follow from the dominant economy As such in an economy dominated by attributes dependent upon a pliant mobile workforce there is little practical tolerance for social organization beyond the individual the family and church groups It is my sincere hope that this book serves as a wake up call to the valuable attributes of community as a social construct but also how community is a necessary predicate to popular democracy the preservation of which should represent a cause that we treat as a valuable legacy instead of an underlying social circumstance we all take for granted while all its meaning and relevance is slowly being dismantled

Restorative Justice and the Law L. Walgrave, 2012-12-06 Restorative justice has developed rapidly from being a barely known term to occupying a central role in debates on the future of criminal justice But as it has become part of the mainstream of debate so new tensions and issues have emerged One of the most crucial issues is to find an appropriate combination of restorative justice based essentially on informal deliberation and the law The purpose of this book is to analyse the several dimensions to this issue It explores the social and ethical foundations of restorative justice seeks to position it in relation to both rehabilitation and punishment and examines the possibility of developing and incorporating restorative justice as the mainstream response to crime in terms of the principles of constitutional democracy Amongst the questions it addresses are the following How are informal processes to be juxtaposed with formal procedures What is the appropriate relationship between voluntarism and coercion How can the procedures and practices of restorative justice be combined with legal standards safeguards and precepts How can one balance restorative responses with legally sanctioned punishment In this book a distinguished team of contributors consider this crucial set of relationships between restorative justice and the law building upon papers and discussions at the fifth international restorative justice conference in Leuven Belgium in September 2001 restorative justice has grown rapidly throughout the world this book addresses the central issue of relationship of restorative justice to existing law and legal systems chapters from world leading authorities

Blake, 2007-08-20 In Transforming the Nation leading Canadian politicians and scholars reflect on the major policy debates of the period and offer new and surprising interpretations of Brian Mulroney Mulroney had a tremendous impact on Canada charting a new direction for the country through his decisions on a variety of public policy issues free trade with the United States social security reform foreign policy and Canada's North The Mulroney government represented a dramatic break with Canada's past

Community Fishery Centres M. Ben-Yami, A. M. Anderson, 1985-01-01 The Community Fisheries Centre CFC strategy is presented as an organizational concept for providing the basic infrastructure and services needed to deal with the problems confronting small scale fisheries development Various types of fishermen's organizations integrated development strategies and the options for the technical services and support modules which go together to make up a CFC are examined in detail Particular attention is given to participatory identification of important problems facing the fisherfolk and the planning mobilization of local resources and implementation of locally based microprojects to deal with them The operation and management of the CFC and of the associated multidisciplinary Fisheries Development Unit which provides technical support and training to one or more CFCs is covered in some detail A final chapter is devoted to the possible role of fisheries cooperatives in a CFC context

Engaging women and men in community-based resource management processes in Solomon Islands Schwarz, A., James,

A.,Teioli, H.M.,Cohen, P.,Morgan, M.,2014-12-08 Gender equity refers to the process of being fair to women and men in order that women and men can equally access opportunities and life choices regardless of their sex It has been proposed that local and national management policies and practices can be more effective if they are more gender equitable and better consider the differences in how men and women participate in natural resource use and in the community taking into account their potentially different goals The CGIAR Research Program on Aquatic Agricultural Systems AAS led by WorldFish aims to deliver increased food security and income for the millions of people living in and depending on aquatic agricultural systems and intends to take a gender transformative approach to integrating gender into research in development In this case study WorldFish and The Nature Conservancy have documented emerging lessons gaps and opportunities to better understand how gender equitable approaches can be taken into account in community based resource management Health Financing for Poor People Alexander S. Preker,Guy Carrin,2004 One of the most urgent development challenges facing many low and middle income countries is the need for adequate financing systems to pay for health care provision to the estimated 1 3 billion impoverished people living in rural areas or working in the informal sector in urban areas This publication considers ways of improving the financing of health care at low income levels as part of a global strategy for increased investment in health and poverty reduction Topics discussed include global and regional trends in healthcare financing strengths and weaknesses of community based health financing and experiences in Asia and Africa country case studies using household survey analysis from Senegal Rwanda India and Thailand deficit financing and the impact of risk sharing on achieving health system goals Community Development Review ,1958 Promoting Local Economic Development Through Strategic Planning: Action guide ,2005
