Gps And Purchasing In The Nhs:

GPs and Purchasing in the NHS Bernard Dowling, 2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2000 The relative performance of health authorities and general practitioners as commissioners of health care services is a crucial question in the current health care policy debate but hitherto a poorly researched area This work addresses that topic and represents a systematic direct comparison of GPs and health authorities as purchasers of health care services In doing this it centres upon two of the chief controversies about the NHS internal market the equality of hospital waiting times for fund holding patients and the fairness of the budgets received by fund holding practices for commissioning effective surgery In discussing the policy implications of the research the book then addresses what lessons should be learned from the internal market about equity and efficiency in the service now that the present Labour Government is reforming the NHS with the introduction of Primary Care Groups and Primary Care Trusts Controlling Costs: Strategic Issues in Health Care Management Huw T.O. Davies, Manouche Tavakoli, 2017-03-02 Controlling costs in health care is rarely something that can be tackled in isolation Cost control invariably interacts with issues of quality and health care access Thus this diverse collection of papers is concerned not just with costs but more importantly with value Both macro and micro concerns are covered At the macro level health care reforms and especially the marketisation of health care systems receive some attention Papers explore how policy prescriptions get translated and modified during implementation and assess how these prescriptions impact on both the incentive context and subsequent patterns of service delivery Resource allocation within bureaucratic health systems continues to pose problems and these too are analysed with new solutions being proposed At the micro level a number of contributors wrestle with the difficulties of carrying out the economic evaluation of new drugs and technologies In each case the wider theoretical and practical implications of balancing costs and benefits are explored This collection should prove helpful to health care policy specialists managers and researchers interested in gaining a feel for the real world application of cost focused health services research Public Procurement, Innovation and Policy Veiko Lember, Rainer Kattel, Tarmo Kalvet, 2013-09-30 This book maps the latest developments in public procurement of innovation policy in various contexts and analyzes the evolution and development of the various policy solutions in broader institutional contexts In doing so it addresses significant theoretical and practical gaps On the one hand there is an emerging interest in public procurement as a policy tool for spurring innovation yet on the other hand the current theory with some notable exceptions is guided and often constrained by historical applications above all in the defence industries By carefully examining the cases of eleven countries the book points to the existence of much more nuanced public procurement on the innovation policy landscape than has been acknowledged in the academic and policy debates to date Future Options for General Practice Geoff Meads, Ian Carruthers, 2018-05-08 With the advent of the new health authorities multifunds and consortia it is likely that the GP s professional leadership of primary care will rapidly become only one of a number of provider options This book defines some of the future options for the organization of primary care The evolving possible roles of GPs and practices in these changing circumstances are examined closely As the new health authorities come into full legislative force how will they deploy the combined financial allocations for primary and secondary care to support their new capacity to enter into local contracts Which health care providers will emerge in this market place in response to this shift in commissioning power These are critical questions for general practice With contributions from a variety of sources that reflect the varied origins of organizational initiatives this is a book for planners providers and purchasers of extended primary care Public Procurement Louise Knight,Christine Harland,Jan Telgen,Khi V. Thai,Guy Callender,Katy McKen,2012-08-06 In many countries and sectors public procurement is developing from a functional orientation to an effective socio economic policy lever There is a great interest among managers and academics to learn from other countries and other sectors change initiatives and how they dealt with the challenges they encountered This text provides such learning opportunities presenting case studies of public procurement covering diverse nations sectors and issues The cases are combined with editorial commentary and contextualizing chapters to assist the student reader in understanding this complex topic The text combines descriptions of cases of public procurement with cross case analysis to draw out the key dimensions to enable further examination of the central themes Each case study concludes with three questions to aid its use as a teaching and training text Edited by a team of internationally recognised experts in the field this innovative text illustrates the strategies and innovations within public procurement on a global scale and highlights common problems that all countries encounter Public Procurement is vital reading for anyone with an interest in this topical area Public Management in the United Kingdom June Burnham,Sylvia Horton,2012-10-03 From the Third Way reforms of the 1990s to today s prospect of a post bureaucracy era the management of the UK s public services has been radically overhauled in recent decades This important new text provides a complete introduction to the key themes and developments in public management and the changing relationship between governments public service providers and the public June Burnham and Sylvia Horton examine the key components of public management in the UK including strategic management and the introduction of new performance management techniques as well as financial and human resources management The book assesses how wider forces such as Europeanization globalization and the global economic crisis have affected both the structure and role of the state and the way public services are managed It also looks back to examine the transition from public administration to public management and considers how different ideologies have influenced and driven reform Distinctively the authors provide a full assessment of how devolution has affected public services across all parts of the UK Providing an insightful and accessibly written introduction this book will be ideal reading for all students of public management EBOOK: The New Primary Care Bernard Dowling,Caroline Glendinning,2003-10-16 The modernization of the NHS is at the heart of the UK government s policies for public sector services This modernization programme represents the most radical and ambitious restructuring of the NHS since its inception in 1948 The new Primary Care Groups and Trusts PCG Ts are the main organizational mechanism for delivering the modernization agenda and are therefore key to the success or otherwise of these reforms To date there has been no comprehensive evaluation of how PCG Ts have been performing in implementing the modernization programme this book fills that important gap in knowledge It provides a strong text of first evidence about the performance of PCG Ts to date this forms the basis for discussions about future success and a benchmark for future research The New Primary Care will be an essential resource for all advanced students of health care as well as academics researchers and policy makers

The New Primary Care Dowling, Bernard, Glendinning, Caroline, 2003-10-01 The modernization of the NHS is at the heart of the UK government's policies for public sector services This modernization programme represents the most radical and ambitious restructuring of the NHS since its inception in 1948 The new Primary Care Groups and Trusts PCG Ts are the main organizational mechanism for delivering the modernization agenda and are therefore key to the success or otherwise of these reforms

Health Economics For Nurses Stephen Morris, 2014-01-21 First published in 1998 In recent years there has been a growing interest in the application of economics to the health care sector Increasingly attention is being given to the role of health economics for nurses as efficient and cost effective use of resources is seen to be necessary for the provision of a high quality nursing service Moreover as the number of nursing degrees and diplomas increases the incorporation of formal tuition in health economics and related issues in the training of nurses is becoming more common This book is specifically designed for and aimed at nurses and will provide a foundation upon which teaching of the economic concepts relevant to the National Health Service in general and the nursing profession in particular can be based

The Politics of Health Policy Reform in the UK Calum Paton, 2016-09-21 This book explains the politics of thirty years of market reform in the English NHS with the rest of the UK a counterfactual Paton shows how each subsequent reform has been shaped by the confusion left by the previous reform The long term ideology has been anti statist but policy making at each stage of reform has been driven by short term politics The outcome in England has been ever increasing complexity in the NHS with significantly increased management costs and no commensurate benefit

Medical Practice in Modern England, 2003-01-01 Before World War II the great majority of practicing doctors in England and Wales were general practitioners They performed their own surgery and were accustomed to treating a wide variety of illnesses and symptoms Specialists were few in number tended to practice in large towns and were often associated with major hospitals But rapidly changing medical institutions and services in the twentieth century have compelled specialization even among more modest doctors and hospitals While medical specialization was not new for centuries physicians were differentiated from surgeons twentieth century science and technology emphasized and accelerated this difference rapidly Medical care began to shift from services rendered by the general practitioner to the employment of those doctors with a special interest for example pathology neurology or cardiology Author Rosemary Stevens an expert in public health traces especially within the last two centuries the patterns of English medical practice institutions staffing and training and their influence on specialization the British National Health Service Act and post World War II developments Stevens discusses the ever relevant issues of income determination medical education and the future of the general practitioner in an age of specialization Along with its companion volume Medical Practice in Modern England is a book that will be of lasting value to scholars of medicine medical care organization economics and modern social history It is of special importance at a time of crisis in the health care systems of many European Societies A fine book Carefully constructed factual elaborately researched gracefully written George A Silver M D professor emeritus of epidemiology and public health Yale University Rosemary Stevens is professor emeritus of history and sociology of science at the University of Pennsylvania Educated at Oxford Yale and Manchester she has also taught at Yale University and Tulane University She is the author of American Medicine and the Public Interest and In Sickness and in Wealth American Hospitals in the Twentieth Century Commissioning Healthcare in England Pauline Allen, Kath Checkland, Valerie Moran, Stephen Peckham, 2020-03-25 This timely book is the most comprehensive account yet of recent commissioning practice in the English NHS and its impact on health services and the healthcare system Drawing on eight years of research expert researchers in the field analyse crucial aspects of commissioning including competition and cooperation the development of Clinical Commissioning Groups and contractual mechanisms They also consider the influence of recent commissioning reforms on public health infrastructure For academics and policy makers in health services research and policy this is a valuable collection of evidence that deepens understanding of how commissioning works Remaking Policy Carolyn Hughes Tuohy, 2018-06-03 One of the most persistent puzzles in comparative public policy concerns the conditions under which discontinuous policy change occurs In Remaking Policy Carolyn Hughes Tuohy advances an ambitious new approach to understanding the relationship between political context and policy change Focusing on health care policy Tuohy argues for a more nuanced conception of the dynamics of policy change one that makes two key distinctions regarding the opportunities for change and the magnitude of such changes Four possible strategies emerge large scale and fast paced big bang large scale and slow paced blueprint small scale and rapid mosaic and small scale and gradual incremental As Tuohy demonstrates these strategies are determined not by political and institutional conditions themselves but by the ways in which political actors individually and collectively read those conditions to assess their prospects for success in the present and over time Drawing on interviews as well as primary and secondary accounts of ten health policy cases over seven decades 1945 2015 in the US UK the Netherlands and Canada Remaking Policy represents a major advance in understanding the scale and pace of change in health policy and beyond Health Care Needs Assessment P.
