sociohistorical factors conditioning these female figures and with reference to the mutual interaction of plot and novel form Since nineteenth century writers make female subjectivity the arena in which the conflicts of male subjecthood are debated their attempts to create female versions of the heroic quest for self knowledge speak not only to the crisis of the male model but also to the crisis of the realistic novel Using psychoanalytic theory and French feminist and deconstructionist theory Helga Druxes shows how the female Faustian quest for worldly knowledge and subjecthood develops a new concept of identity that takes its social constructedness into account and she demonstrates some of the transgressive narrative strategies that male and female writers have employed embodying their dissent not only in the creation of a female Faust but in their visions of an authentic female desire for selfhood and socially regenerative female bonding The Countess
