Graft Poems:

Graft Glori Simmons, 2001 These poems traverse the realms of art horticulture history and medicine excavating our sensual world to find meaning From Eve's outstretched hand to Madame Roentgen's ring-clad hand x-ray these poems seek understanding through the senses and preservation through the witnessing of small acts The poet's ability to enter into the experience of others than herself and to identify interesting and unjustly neglected lives gives these poems a rich sense of perspective and a broad appeal Notes on Joe de Graft's Muntu Arthur Kemoli, Helen Mwanzi, 1981 Graft Brian Henry, 2003 Poetry I honor and admire these poems for their groundwork understanding Here oppression is shown forth as a condition of language a violence of syntax And here in resistance to oppression extraordinariness lifts a beautiful if harried affirming sound With signal integrity the poet exploits no popular catastrophe but chooses instead to enter the mythic heart of catastrophe there to make new myths Donald Revell Beneath the Jazz and Brass Joe C. De Graft, 1975 African Theatre Martin Banham, James Morel Gibbs, James Gibbs, Femi Osofisan, 2001 This second annual volume in the African Theatre series focuses on the intersection of politics and theatre in Africa today Topics include the remarkable collaboration between Horse and Bamboo a puppet theatre company based in the United Kingdom and Nigerian playwright Sam Ukala that was inspired by the infamous execution of Nigerian playwright Ken Saro Wiwa and other Ogoni activists the plays of Femi Osofisan and plays by Ghanaian playwrights Joe de Graft and Mohammed Ben Abdallah African Theatre features the work of Mauritian playwright Dev Virahsawmy and includes an interview with him reviews of an English production of his play Toufann as well as the translated playscript Reports of workshops and conferences reviews and news of the year in African theatre make this volume a valuable resource for anyone interested in current issues in African drama and performance

West African Poetry Robert Fraser, 1986-09-04 Previous studies of African poetry have tended to concentrate either on its political content or on its relationship to various European schools This book examines West African poetry in English and French against the background of oral poetry in the vernacular Do the roots of such poetry lie in Africa or in Europe In committing their work to writing do poets lose more than they gain Can the immediacy of oral performance ever be recovered Robert Fraser's account of two centuries of West African verse examines its subjugation to a succession of international styles from the heroic couplet to the austerity of experimental Modernism Successive chapters take us through the Négritude movement and the emergence of anglophone free verse in the 1950s to the rediscovery in recent years of the neglected springs of orality which is the subject of the concluding chapter Knowing Poetry Adrian Armstrong, Sarah Kay, 2011-05-15 In the later Middle Ages many writers claimed that prose is superior to verse as a vehicle of knowledge because it presents the truth in an unvarnished form without the distortions of meter and rhyme Beginning in the thirteenth century works of verse narrative from the early Middle Ages were recast in prose as if prose had become the literary norm Instead of dying out however verse took on new vitality In France verse texts were produced in both French and Occitan with the explicit intention of transmitting encyclopedic political philosophical moral historical and other forms of knowledge In Knowing Poetry Adrian Armstrong and Sarah Kay explore why and how verse continued to be used to transmit and shape knowledge in France They cover the period between Jean de Meun's Roman de la rose c 1270 and the major work of Jean Bouchet the last of the grands rhétoriciens c 1530 The authors find that the advent of prose led to a new relationship between poetry and knowledge in which poetry serves as a medium for serious reflection and self reflection on subjectivity embodiment and time They propose that three major works the Roman de la rose the Ovide moralis and Boethius' Consolation of Philosophy form a single influential matrix linking poetry and intellectual inquiry metaphysical insights and eroticized knowledge The trio of thought world contingency poetically represented by Philosophy Nature and Fortune grounds poetic exploration of reality poetry and community

Grafting Helen Matthew Gumpert, 2012-11 History is a love story a tale of desire and jealousy abandonment and fidelity abduction and theft rupture and reconciliation This contention is central to Grafting Helen Matthew Gumpert's original and dazzling meditation on Helen of Troy as a crucial anchor for much of Western thought and literature Grafting Helen looks at classicism the privileged rhetorical language for describing cultural origins in the West as a protracted form of cultural embezzlement No coin in the realm has been more valuable more circulated more coveted or more counterfeited than the one that bears the face of Helen of Troy Gumpert uncovers Helen as the emblem for the past as something to be stolen appropriated imitated extorted and coveted once again Tracing the figure of Helen from its classical origins through the Middle Ages the French Renaissance and the modern era Gumpert suggests that the relation of current Western culture to the past is not like the act of coveting it is the act of coveting he argues for it relies on the same strategies the same defenses the same denials and the same delusions

Incomparable Poetry Robert Kiely, 2020 Incomparable Poetry An Essay on the Financial Crisis of 2007-2008 and Irish Literature is an attempt to describe the ways in which the financial crisis of 2007-8 impacted literature in Ireland and thereby describe the ways in which poetry engages with is structured by and wrestles with economic issues Ireland and its contemporary poetry is a particularly suitable case study for studying the effect of the economic crisis on Anglophone poetry because poetry in Ireland has a special relationship to the state and economy due to its status as a postcolonial nation state Beginning with a summary of recent Irish economic and cultural history and moving across experimental and mainstream poetry this essay outlines how the poetry of Trevor Joyce Leontia Flynn Dave Lordan and Rachel Warriner addresses in its form and content the boom years of the Celtic Tiger and the financial crisis Incomparable Poetry also discusses the concerns and historical contexts these poets have turned to in order to make sense of these events including Chinese history accountancy sexual violence and Iceland's economic history In contemporary Irish poetry the author argues we see a significant interest in matching capitalism's accounting abilities but in this attempt these poems often end up broken by the imposition of an external conceptual framework or economic logic Robert Kiely grew up in Cork Ireland and now lives in London His critical work has been published in Irish University Review Journal of British and Irish Innovative Poetry The Parish Review and Samuel Beckett Today Aujourd'hui His chapbooks include How to Read Crater 2017 and Killing the Cop in Your Head Sad 2017 He is Poet in Residence at University of Surrey for 2019-20 Minor poems. Notes John Milton, 1874 Bodies of Poems Lennart Nyberg, 2009 The traditional borders between the arts have been eroded to reveal new connections and create new links between art forms Cultural Interactions is intended to provide a forum for this activity It will publish monographs edited collections and volumes of primary material on points of crossover such as those between literature and the visual arts or photography and fiction music and theatre sculpture and historiography Graft Helen Heath, 2012 The poems in Graft attempt to bring things together ideas and cultures people sometimes to heal Sometimes there are unlikely pairs Sometimes there are more predictable pairings with less predictable outcomes They dig away at things trying to find a truth or an answer or a lost person What we find is often not what we are looking for The Gothic Forms of Victorian Poetry Olivia Loksing Moy, 2023-08-30 A lonely damsel imprisoned within a castle or convent cell The eavesdropping of a prisoner next door The framed image of a woman with a sinister past These familiar tropes from 1790s novels and tales exploded onto the English literary scene in low brow titles of Gothic romance Surprisingly however they also re-emerged as features of major Victorian poems from the 1830s to 1870s Such signature tropes inquisitorial overhearing female confinement and the damsel in distress supernatural switches between living and dead bodies were transfigured into poetic forms that we recognise and teach today as canonically Victorian The Gothic Forms of Victorian Poetry identifies a poetics of Gothic enclosure constitutive of high Victorian poetry that came to define key nineteenth century poetic forms from the dramatic monologue to women's sonnet sequences and metasonnets to Pre-Raphaelite picture poems Encyclopedia of African Literature Simon Gikandi, 2003-09-02 The most comprehensive reference work on African literature to date this book contains over 600 entries that cover criticism and theory its development as a field of scholarship and studies of established and lesser known writers The Prosthetic Tongue Katie Chenoweth, 2019-11-01 Of all the cultural revolutions brought about by the development of printing technology during the sixteenth century perhaps the most remarkable but least understood is the purported rise of European vernacular languages It is generally accepted that the invention of printing constitutes an event in the history of language that has profoundly shaped modernity and yet the exact nature of this transformation the mechanics of the event has remained curiously unexamined In The Prosthetic Tongue Katie Chenoweth explores the relationship between printing and the vernacular as it took shape in sixteenth century France and charts the technological reinvention of French across a range of domains from typography orthography and grammar to politics pedagogy and poetics Under François I the king known in his own time as the Father of Letters both printing and vernacular language emerged as major cultural and political forces Beginning in 1529 French underwent a remarkable transformation as printers and writers began to reimagine their mother tongue as mechanically reproducible The first accent marks appeared in French texts the first French grammar books and dictionaries were published phonetic spelling reforms were debated modern Roman typefaces replaced gothic scripts and French was codified as a legal idiom This was Chenoweth argues a veritable new media moment in which the print medium served as the underlying material apparatus and conceptual framework for a revolutionary reinvention of the vernacular Rather than tell the story of the origin of the modern French language however she seeks to destabilize this very notion of origin by situating the cultural formation of French in a scene of media technology and reproducibility No less than the paper book issuing from sixteenth century printing presses the modern French language is a product of the age of mechanical reproduction

European-language Writing in Sub-Saharan Africa Albert S. Gérard, 1986-01-01 The first major comparative study of African writing in western languages European language Writing in Sub Saharan Africa edited by Albert S G rard falls into four wide ranging sections an overview of early contacts and colonial developments Under Western Eyes chapters on Black Consciousness manifest in the debates over Panafricanism and Negritude a group of essays on mental decolonization expressed in Black Power texts at the time of independence struggles and finally Comparative Vistas sketching directions that future comparative study might explore An introductory essay stresses the millennia of writing in Africa side by side with a richly eloquent and artistic set of vernacular oral traditions written and oral traditions have become interwoven in adaptations of imported forms and linguistic innovations that challenge traditional high literary norms G rard uses the mathematical concept of fuzzy sets to explain why the focus on Black Africa has led him to set aside for future analysis the literatures produced in North Africa which fall under the influence of Muslim civilization as well as the diasporic literatures of the New World Over sixty scholars from twenty two countries contribute specialized studies of creative writing by leading authors in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries such as Achebe Mphahlele Ngugi Senghor Soyinka and Tutuola Critical analyses are organized primarily around regions reflecting different colonial languages imposed through schools and other social institutions Some authors trace the adaptation of western genres others identify syncretism with folktales or myths The volumes are attentive to the heterogeneity of national literatures addressed to polyethnic and multilingual populations and they note the instrumental politics of language in newly independent states A closing chapter Tasks Ahead identifies areas for future scholars to explore
