Tonga Livelihoods in Rural Zimbabwe Kirk Helliker, Joshua Matanzima, 2022-12-15 Based on extensive original fieldwork this book examines the complex and diverse livelihoods of Zimbabwe's Tonga people as they have developed over time including in the wake of the country's post 2000 political and economic crises Despite being endowed with natural resources the northwest region of Zimbabwe inhabited by the Tonga people is one of the most marginalised and underdeveloped parts of the country neglected by both colonial and postcolonial governments The Tonga speaking people are a minority ethnic group that settled on either side of the Zambezi River around 1100 AD and remain deeply dependent on the river for their socio economic livelihoods This book reflects on the challenges faced by the Tonga people from poor infrastructure health and education facilities to the issues caused by soil infertility and extremely low rainfall which have been exacerbated by climate change Many Tonga people were displaced by the construction of the Kariba Dam in the 1950s and their access to the region's natural resources has been restricted by successive governments Showcasing the research of Zimbabwean scholars in particular this book not only reflects on the vulnerabilities faced by the Tonga but it also looks beyond these to the livelihood practices that are thriving despite these challenges and the ways in which livelihoods intertwine with Tonga culture and society more broadly Overall this book highlights the resilience of the Tonga people in the face of years of politico economic crisis and will be an important contribution to research on livelihoods ethnic minorities and rural development in Africa

Perspectives on Public Policy in Societal-Environmental Crises Adam Izdebski, John Haldon, Piotr Filipkowski, 2022-07-14 This is an open access book

Histories we tell never emerge in a vacuum and history as an academic discipline that studies the past is highly sensitive to the concerns of the present and the heated debates that can divide entire societies But does the study of the past also have something to teach us about the future Can history help us in coping with the planetary crisis we are now facing By analyzing historical societies as complex adaptive systems we contribute to contemporary thinking about societal environmental interactions in policy and planning and consider how environmental and climatic changes whether sudden high impact events or more subtle gradual changes impacted human responses in the past We ask how societal perceptions of such changes affect behavioral patterns and explanatory rationalities in premodernity and whether a better historical understanding of these relationships can inform our response to contemporary problems of similar nature and magnitude such as adapting to climate change

Along an African Border Sonia Silva, Sónia Silva, 2011-06-01 The divination baskets of south Central Africa are woven for a specific purpose The baskets known as lipele contain sixty or so small articles from seeds claws and minuscule horns to wooden carvings Each article has its own name and symbolic meaning and collectively they are known as jipelo For the Luvale and related peoples the lipele is more than a container of souvenirs it is a tool a source of crucial information from the ancestral past and advice for the future In Along an African Border anthropologist Sonia Silva examines how Angolan refugees living in Zambia use these divination baskets to cope with daily life in a new land Silva documents the special processes involved in weaving the baskets and transforming them into oracles She speaks with diviners who make their living interpreting lipele messages and speaks also with their knowledge seeking clients To the Luvale these baskets are capable of thinking hearing judging and responding They communicate by means of jipelo articles drawn in configurations interact with persons and other objects punish wrongdoers assist people in need and much like humans go through a life course that is marked with an initiation ceremony and a special burial The lipele functions in a state between object and person Notably absent from lipele divination is any discussion or representation in the form of symbolic objects of the violence in Angola or the Luvale's relocation struggles instead the consultation focuses on age old personal issues of illness reproduction and death As Silva demonstrates in this sophisticated and richly illustrated ethnography lipele help people maintain their links to kin and tradition in a world of transience and uncertainty
