Un passé contraignant Michèle Bacholle-Bošković, 2021-10-18 Un passé contraignant Double bind et transculturation de Michèle Bacholle constitue jusqu'à présent la seule étude regroupant trois écrivains contemporains venus d'horizons très différents et formés par deux mondes contradictoires le milieu petit commerçant et la bourgeoisie pour Annie Ernaux la Hongrie communiste et la Suisse francophone pour Agota Kristof et les valeurs françaises et les traditions arabomusulmanes pour Farida Belghoul S'adressant aux chercheurs en littérature et culture françaises et francophones contemporaines ainsi qu'aux psychologues sociologues et anthropologues Un passé contraignant présente une approche originale de l'œuvre d'Ernaux de Kristof et de Belghoul A la différence des travaux critiques déjà parus ce livre tente de dépasser les binarités fondatrices de chaque écrivain et montre comment par la mise en critique du double bind au moyen du double et de la schizophrénie ces écrivains sont parvenus à chapper une situation contraignante et à se réorienter L'auteur montre que dans ces textes empreints de postmodernisme deleuzo-guattarien les deux mondes formateurs ont traité de façon galitair et que seul un tel traitement garantit le succès de la transculturation en permettant la création d'un tiers espace non mais distinct des deux mondes originels o peut se panouir la tierce identité du sujet transculturel

European Literary Immigration Into the French Language Tijana Miletić, 2008 The critical emotional and intellectual change which every immigrant is obliged to endure and confront is experienced with singular intensity by immigrant writers who have also adopted another language for their literary expression Concentrating on European authors of the second half of the twentieth century who have chosen French as a language for their literary expression and in particular the novels by Romain Gary Agota Kristof Milan Kundera and Jorge Semprun with reference to many others European Literary Immigration into the French Language explores some of the common elements in these works of fiction which despite the varied personal circumstances and literary aesthetics of the authors follow a similar path in the building of a literary identity and legitimacy in the new language The choice of the French language is inextricably linked with the subsequent literary choices of these writers This study charts a new territory within Francophone and European literary studies in treating the European immigrants as a separate group and in applying linguistic sociological and psychoanalytical ideas in the analysis of the works of fiction and thus represents a relevant contribution to the understanding of European cultural identity This volume is relevant to French and European literature scholars and anyone with interest in immigration European identity or second language adoption

Autour de l'extrême littéraire Alastair Hemmens, Russell Williams, 2012-12-18 The extreme is an essential aspect of contemporary experience Thrill seekers spend the weekend in the search of the adrenaline rush of extreme sports In the political arena the world has begun to rediscover the split between the extreme left and the extreme right Through 24 hour rolling news images of violence torture and war are televised unremittingly into the living room while the Internet places hardcore pornography snuff film and cannibalism within easy reach of anyone with a personal computer or a smartphone The extreme has even become a quality companies seek to associate with the most banal of commodities such as ice cream and hair gel These different manifestations of extremity suggest a contradictory even paradoxical relationship with the extreme The contributors to this book explore how writing in French from the Middle Ages to the present day has interrogated extremity Taken together these essays demonstrate that the quality of the extreme can be applied to a great number of texts for different reasons and from myriad perspectives Moreover the extreme is revealed as a quality both distinct from and in tension with the crossing of boundaries associated with transgression It is a movement towards and away from a centre of radiation that escapes cultural norms without necessarily reinforcing them This sensation of rushing and wandering outside the boundaries of what is considered safe and normal provides the extreme with its adrenaline charged response of excitement or horror The analyses contained in this volume consider a number of manifestations of the extreme The ambiguities of gender in medieval romance are explored in the context of the Arthurian court The 19th century is examined through the prose poems of Baudelaire and the literature sauvage of the Zutistes The difficulties of writing the trauma of war and genocide in the 20th century are discussed through the work of Jorge Sempr n and Agota Kristof The contemporary extreme in French literature is examined in the autofiction of Christine Angot the work of Annie Ernaux and Catherine Millet the controversial novels of Michel Houellebecq and the worldwide influence of the Marquis de Sade on writing today Whilst the extreme may have a wide variety of expressions in French literature it is always outside beyond and far from the centre of our everyday experience It shocks us excites us and horrifies us often all at once This book seeks to provide an insight into how and why the extreme has fascinated and continues to fascinate the French literary imagination

Priests of the French Revolution Joseph F. Byrnes, 2015-02-05 The 115 000 priests on French territory in 1789 belonged to an evolving tradition of priesthood The challenge of making sense of the Christian tradition can be formidable in any era but this was especially true for those priests required at the very beginning of 1791 to take an oath of loyalty to the new government and thereby accept the religious reforms promoted in a new Civil Constitution of the Clergy More than half did so at the beginning and those who were subsequently consecrated bishops became the new official hierarchy of France In Priests of the French Revolution Joseph Byrnes shows how these priests and bishops who embraced the Revolution creatively followed or destructively rejected traditional versions of priestly ministry Their writings public testimony and recorded private confidences furnish the story of a national Catholic church This is a history of the religious attitudes and psychological experiences underpinning the behavior of representative bishops and priests Byrnes plays individual ideologies against group action and religious teachings against political action to produce a balanced story of saints and renegades within a Catholic tradition Le Guide Musical ,1913 In the Name of Friendship: Deguy, Derrida and Salut ,2017-11-20 In the Name of Friendship Deguy Derrida and Salut centres on the relationship between poet Michel Deguy and philosopher Jacques Derrida Translations of two essays Of Contemporaneity by Deguy and How to Name by Derrida allow Christopher Elson and Garry Sherbert to develop the implications of this singular intellectual friendship In these thinkers efforts to reinvent secular forms of the sacred such as the singularity of the name and especially poetic naming Deguy by adopting a Derridean programme of the impossible and Derrida by developing Deguy s ethics of naming through the word salut situate themselves at the forefront of contemporary debates over politics and religion alongside figures like Alain Badiou and Jean Luc Marion John Caputo and Martin Hagglund Camille Saint-Saens Timothy Flynn,2004-03-01 A key figure in establishing an identifiable French musical style in the nineteenth century this annotated bibliography catalogs the studies of Saint Saens life and works as well as examining the composer s own correspondence and essays Included are many lesser known writings on the composer and his music as well as recent scholarship which re examines his place in music history

Bicultural Literature and Film in French and English Peter I. Barta, Phil Powrie, 2015-12-22 This book focuses on literature and cinema in English or French by authors and directors not working in their native language Artists with hybrid identities have become a defining phenomenon of contemporary reality following the increased mobility between civilisations during the postcolonial period and the waves of emigration to the West Cinema and prose fiction remain the most popular sources of cultural consumption not least owing to the adaptability of both to the new electronic media This volume considers cultural products in English and French in which the explicitly multi-focal representation of authors' experiences of their native languages and cultures makes itself conspicuous The essays explore work by the peripheral and those without a country while problematising what might be meant by the widely used but not always well-defined term bicultural The first section looks at films by such well-known filmmakers working in France as Bouchareb Kechiche Legzouli and Dridi as well as the animated feature Persepolis Here the focus is on the representation of human experience in spatial terms exploring the appropriation of territory cohabited by local people newcomers and their children haunted by the cultural memories of distant places The second part is devoted to multicultural authors whose native language was English Russian Polish Hungarian or Spanish Beckett Herzenz Vojtkova Triolet Conrad Hoffmann Kristof Dorfman and their creative engagement with difference A study of the emergence of multilingual writing in Montaigne and an autobiographical essay by Elleke Boehmer on growing up surrounded by English Dutch Afrikaans and Zulu frame the volume's chapters The collection relishes the freedom provided by liberation from the confines of one language and culture and the delight in creative multilingualism This book will be of significant interest to those studying the subject of biculturalism as well as the fields of comparative literature and cinema

History of the Literary Cultures of East-Central Europe Marcel Cornis-Pope, John Neubauer, 2010-09-29 Types and stereotypes is the fourth and last volume of a path-breaking multinational literary history that incorporates innovative features relevant to the writing of literary history in general. Instead of offering a traditional chronological narrative of the period 1800-1989, the History of the Literary Cultures of East Central Europe approaches the region's literatures from five complementary angles: focusing on literature's participation in and reaction to key political events; literary periods and genres; the literatures of cities and sub-regions; literary institutions and figures of representation. The main objective of the project is to challenge the self-enclosure of national literatures in traditional literary histories, to contextualize them in a regional perspective, and to recover individual works, writers, and minority literatures that national histories have marginalized or ignored. Types and Stereotypes brings together articles that rethink the figures of National Poets, figurations of the Family, Women, Outlaws, and Others, as well as figures of Trauma and Mediation. As in the previous three volumes, the historical and imaginary figures discussed here constantly change and readjust to new political and social conditions. An Epilogue complements the basic history, focusing on the contradictory transformations of East Central European literary cultures after 1989. This volume will be of interest to the region's literary historians, to students and teachers of comparative literature, to cultural historians, and to the general public interested in exploring the literatures of a rich and resourceful cultural region.

An examination of how modern art was impacted by the concept of prehistory and the prehistoric. Prehistory is an invention of the late nineteenth century. In that moment of technological progress and acceleration of production and circulation, three major Western narratives about time took shape. One after another, these new fields of inquiry delved into the obscure immensity of the past: first to surmise the age of the Earth, second to find the point of emergence of human beings, and third to ponder the age of art. Maria Stavrinaki considers the inseparability of these accounts of temporality from the disruptive forces of modernity. She asks what a history of modernity and its art would look like if considered through these three interwoven inventions of the longue durée. Transfixed by Prehistory attempts to articulate such a history, which turns out to be more complex than an inevitable march of progress leading up to the Anthropocene. Rather, it is a history of stupor, defamiliarization, regressive acceleration, and incessant invention, since the new was also found in the deep sediments of the Earth. Composed of as much speed as slowness, as much change as deep time, as much confidence as skepticism and doubt, modernity is a complex phenomenon that needs to be rethought. Stavrinaki focuses on this intrinsic tension through major artistic practices: Cézanne, Matisse, De Chirico, Ernst, Picasso, Dubuffet, Smithson, Morris, and contemporary artists such as Pierre Huyghe and Thomas Hirschhorn. Philosophical discourses: Bataille, Blumenberg, and Jünger, and the human sciences. This groundbreaking book will attract readers interested in the intersections of art history, anthropology, psychoanalysis, mythology, geology, and archaeology.      *French Class-book and Reader.
