Grand Tour:

Beyond the Grand Tour Rosemary Sweet, Gerrit Verhoeven, Sarah Goldsmith, 2017-02-17 Travel in early modern Europe is frequently represented as synonymous with the institution of the Grand Tour a journey undertaken by elite young males from northern Europe to the centres of the arts and antiquity in Italy Taking a somewhat different perspective this volume builds upon recent research that pushes beyond this narrow orthodoxy and which decentres Italy as the ultimate destination of European travellers Instead it explores a much broader pattern of travel undertaken by people of varied backgrounds and with divergent motives for travelling By tapping into current reactions against the reification of the Grand Tour as a unique and distinctive practice this volume represents an important contribution to the ongoing process of resituating the Grand Tour as part of a wider context of travel and topographical writing Focusing upon practices of travel in northern and western Europe rather than in Italy particularly in Britain the Low Countries and Germany the essays in this collection highlight how itineraries continually evolved in response to changing political economic and intellectual contexts In so doing the reasons for travel in northern Europe are subjected to a similar level of detailed analysis as has previously only been directed on Italy By doing this the volume demonstrates the variety of travel experiences including the many shorter journeys made for pleasure health education and business undertaken by travellers of varying age and background across the period In this way the volume brings to the fore the experiences of varied categories of traveller from children to businessmen which have traditionally been largely invisible in the historiography of travel

The Evolution of the Grand Tour Edward Chaney, 2000 Unlike other studies of the Grand Tour this book deals not so much with the fully fledged 18th century phenomenon but rather with the 16th and 17th centuries and the way in which the English became conscious of the Italian Renaissance and thereby discovered classical antiquity itself Revised essays document the lives and travels of the personalities who contributed to establishing a convention which eventually came to dominate European culture An epilogue pays tribute to Sir Harold Acton 1904 1994 Distributed by ISBS Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

The Origins of the Grand Tour Michael G. Brennan, 2005 Focusing upon three previously unpublished accounts of youthful English travellers in Western Europe Dr Brennan reassesses the early origins of the cultural phenomenon known as the Grand Tour and shows how the basis of the long term English fascination with the Grand Tour was firmly rooted in the mid Tudor and early Stuart periods The outbreak of the English Civil War during the late 1640s acted as a powerful stimulus to this kind of travel for male members of both royalist and parliamentary families as a means of distancing them from the social upheavals back home as well as broadening their intellectual horizons This study of the experiences of three young Englishmen also considers the various forms in which their travel records have survived including personal diaries family letters and formal prose records and how these texts should now be interpreted not in isolation but alongside the diverse collections of prints engravings curiosities coins and antiquities assembled by such travellers

The Grand Tour Thomas

Nugent,1749      Cultural Tourism Milena Ivanovic,2008 Stressing the interconnectedness of tourism and culture this valuable handbook explores what tourism industry professionals need to know to succeed Globalization landmark attractions and cultural heritage are among the topics discussed from both international and local perspectives Each chapter also concludes with a comprehensive series of self assessment questions and a proposed task that professionals and students can do to enrich their cultural learning experience      Taking travel home Emma Gleadhill,2022-04-26 In the late eighteenth century elite British women had an unprecedented opportunity to travel Taking travel home uncovers the souvenir culture these women developed around the texts and objects they brought back with them to realise their ambitions in the arenas of connoisseurship friendship and science Key characters include forty three year old Hester Piozzi Thrale who honeymooned in Italy thirty one year old Anna Miller who accompanied her husband on a Grand Tour Dorothy Richardson who undertook various tours of England from the ages of twelve to fifty two and the sisters Katherine and Martha Wilmot who travelled to Russia in their late twenties The supreme tourist of the book the political salon hostess Lady Elizabeth Holland travelled to many countries with her husband including Paris where she met Napoleon and Spain during the Peninsular War Using a methodology informed by literary and design theory art history material culture studies and tourism studies the book examines a wide range of objects from painted fans of the ruins of Rome for a sequin apiece and the Pope s bless d beads to lava from Vesuvius and pieces of Stonehenge It argues that the rise of the souvenir is representative of female agency as women used their souvenirs to form spaces in which they could create and control their own travel narratives      Malleable Anatomies Lucia Dacome,2017-05-26 Malleable Anatomies offers an account of the early stages of the practice of anatomical modelling in mid eighteenth century Italy It investigates the mania for anatomical displays that swept the Italian peninsula and traces the fashioning of anatomical models as important social cultural and political as well as medical tools Over the course of the eighteenth century anatomical specimens offered particularly accurate insights into the inner body Being coloured soft malleable and often life size they promised to foster anatomical knowledge for different audiences in a delightful way But how did anatomical models and preparations inscribe and mediate bodily knowledge How did they change the way in which anatomical knowledge was created and communicated And how did they affect the lives of those involved in their production display viewing and handling Examining the circumstances surrounding the creation and early viewing of anatomical displays in Bologna and Naples Malleable Anatomies addresses these questions by reconstructing how anatomical modelling developed at the intersection of medical discourse religious ritual antiquarian and artistic cultures and Grand Tour display While doing so it investigates the development of anatomical modelling in the context of the diverse worlds of visual and material practices that characterized the representation and display of the body in mid eighteenth century Italy Drawing attention to the artisanal dimension of anatomical practice and to the role of women as both makers and users of anatomical models it considers how anatomical specimens lay at the centre of a composite world of social interactions which led to the fashioning of modellers as anatomical celebrities Moreover it examines how anatomical displays transformed the proverbially gruesome practice of anatomy into an enthralling experience that engaged audiences senses Computing Science and Statistics Connie Page,Raoul LePage,2012-12-06 Interface 90 is the continuation of an extremely successful symposium series The series has provided a forum for the interaction of professionals in statistics computing science and in numerical methods wherein they may discuss a wide range of topics at the interface of these disciplines This the 22nd Symposium on the Interface Computing Science and Statistics was held 16-19 May 1990 at the Kellogg Center on the campus of Michigan State University and is the third Symposium to be held under the recently organized Interface Foundation of North America The Interface Board of Directors consists of the nine most recent Symposium Chairs James E Gentle Lynne Billard David M Allen Thomas J Boardman Richard M Heiberger Edward J Wegman Linda Malone Raoul LePage and Jon Kettenring The officers of the Interface are William Eddy Board Chairman and Executive Director Edward Wegman President and Treasurer Lynne Billard Secretary My valued colleague Connie Page Editor of this Proceedings Volume and generally bright and hardworking person has organizational skills of a higher order which were successfully brought into play during many critical junctures not strictly connected with the Proceedings Edward Wegman Barbara Barringer Bill Eddy and George Styan all pitched in with useful information on numerous occasions Our Keynote Speaker Peter G Hall and Plenary Speakers David L Donoho Jerome H Friedman who also gave a short course Bruce Hajek John Skilling and C F
