Conservation Biology for All Navjot S. Sodhi,Paul R. Ehrlich,2010-01-07 Conservation Biology for All provides cutting edge but basic conservation science to a global readership A series of authoritative chapters have been written by the top names in conservation biology with the principal aim of disseminating cutting edge conservation knowledge as widely as possible Important topics such as balancing conservation and human needs climate change conservation planning designing and analyzing conservation research ecosystem services endangered species management extinctions fire habitat loss and invasive species are covered Numerous textboxes describing additional relevant material or case studies are also included The global biodiversity crisis is now unstoppable what can be saved in the developing world will require an educated constituency in both the developing and developed world Habitat loss is particularly acute in developing countries which is of special concern because it tends to be these locations where the greatest species diversity and richest centres of endemism are to be found Sadly developing world conservation scientists have found it difficult to access an authoritative textbook which is particularly ironic since it is these countries where the potential benefits of knowledge application are greatest There is now an urgent need to educate the next generation of scientists in developing countries so that they are in a better position to protect their natural resources

Primates Kurt Benirschke,2012-12-06 This conference represents the first time in my life when I felt it was a misfortune rather than a major cause of my happiness that I do conservation work in New Guinea Yes it is true that New Guinea is a fascinating microcosm it has fascinating birds and people and it has large expanses of undisturbed rainforest In the course of my work there helping the Indonesian government and World Wildlife Fund set up a comprehensive national park system I have been able to study animals in areas without any human population But New Guinea has one serious drawback it has no primates except for humans Thus I come to this conference on primate conservation as an underprivileged and emotionally deprived observer rather than as an involved participant Nevertheless it is easy for anyone to become interested in primate conservation The public cares about primates More specifically to state things more realistically many people care some of the time about some primates Primates are rivaled only by birds pandas and the big cats in their public appeal For some other groups of animals the best we can say is that few people care about them infrequently For most groups of animals no one cares about them ever

Spatial Ecology David Tilman,Peter Kareiva,2018-06-05 Spatial Ecology addresses the fundamental effects of space on the dynamics of individual species and on the structure dynamics diversity and stability of multispecies communities Although the ecological world is unavoidably spatial there have been few attempts to determine how explicit considerations of space may alter the predictions of ecological models or what insights it may give into the causes of broad scale ecological patterns As this book demonstrates the spatial structure of a habitat can fundamentally alter both the qualitative and quantitative dynamics and outcomes of ecological processes Spatial Ecology highlights the importance of space to five topical areas stability patterns of diversity invasions coexistence and pattern generation It illustrates both the diversity of approaches used to study spatial ecology and the underlying similarities of these approaches Over twenty contributors address issues ranging from the persistence of endangered species to the maintenance of biodiversity to the dynamics of hosts and their parasitoids to disease dynamics multispecies competition population genetics and fundamental processes relevant to all these cases There have been many recent advances in our understanding of the influence of spatially explicit processes on individual species and on multispecies communities This book synthesizes these advances shows the limitations of traditional non spatial approaches and offers a variety of new approaches to spatial ecology that should stimulate ecological research

Tourism Support Services Patrick Kalasa Kalifungwa,2025-06-02
Tourism can thrive anywhere in the World on Land on sea and in the Air Certain parameters have to exist to facilitate its establishment and growth We have tried to explore various aspects that require being in place to support tourism development and growth The development of technology and transport infrastructure such as jumbo jets low cost airlines and more accessible airports have made many types of tourism to be more affordable Airplanes facilitate tourism mobility and receipts The more planes you land at an airport the more visitors you receive The ultimate goal of tourism promotion and marketing is an increase in visitors and investments The tourism Industry is unlike any other industries because Instead of a physical product you are selling a place and all the things it has to offer services You are competing with the entire world every time you promote tourism in a given destination and this high level of competition demands a creative and unique approach The variability among living organisms from all sources including inter alia terrestrial marine and other aquatic ecosystems and ecological complexes support tourism development Natural environment or wilderness wild animals rocks birds forest and in general those things that have not been substantially altered by human intervention support tourism activities Therefore support services have to complement the sustenance of tourism at various levels
