Halifax Warden Of The North:

Halifax Thomas H. Raddall,1948 Halifax, Warden of the North Thomas H. Raddall,1965 History of Canada s fortress city on the eastern shore of Nova Scotia from the fifteenth century to the present and its plans for the future

Halifax, Warden of the North Thomas H. Raddall,Stephen Kimber,2010 First published in 1948 Halifax Warden of the North has remained the best known and most influential chronicle of Halifax since it first hit the shelves In this updated version of the Governor General s Award winning history of Halifax celebrated journalist Stephen Kimber picks up where Thomas Raddall left off adding three new chapters that cover the city s history from the mid 1960s to the present day including the destruction of Africville the arrival of the Buddhists in the 1970s and 80s the amalgamation of HRM in the 1990s and the storms of the most recent decade Already the definitive history of Halifax this newly updated edition of Raddall s fascinating historical portrait will be an essential addition to all local historians libraries Halifax Warden of the

North.* Rev. Ed Thomas Head Raddall,1971 Royally Wronged Constance Backhouse,Cynthia E. Milton,Margaret Kovach,Adele Perry,2021-10-27 The Royal Society of Canada s mandate is to elect to its membership leading scholars in the arts humanities social sciences and sciences lending its seal of excellence to those who advance artistic and intellectual knowledge in Canada Duncan Campbell Scott one of the architects of the Indian residential school system in Canada served as the society s president and dominated its activities many other members historically overwhelmingly white men helped shape knowledge systems rooted in colonialism that have proven catastrophic for Indigenous communities Written primarily by current Royal Society of Canada members these essays explore the historical contribution of the RSC and of Canadian scholars to the production of ideas and policies that shored up white settler privilege underpinning the disastrous interaction between Indigenous peoples and white settlers Historical essays focus on the period from the RSC s founding in 1882 to the mid twentieth century later chapters bring the discussion to the present documenting the first steps taken to change damaging patterns and challenging the society and Canadian scholars to make substantial strides toward a better future The highly educated in Canadian society were not just bystanders they deployed their knowledge and skills to abet colonialism This volume dives deep into the RSC s history to learn why academia has more often been an aid to colonialism than a force against it Royally Wronged poses difficult questions about what is required for individual academics fields of study and the RSC to move meaningfully toward reconciliation The Long Way Home John Demont,2017-10-03 The province s premier journalist tells the story he was born to write No journalist has travelled the back roads hidden vales and fog soaked coves of Nova Scotia as widely as John DeMont No writer has spent as much time considering its peculiar warp and weft of humanity geography and history The Long Way Home is the summation of DeMont s years of travel research and thought It tells the story of what is from the European view of things the oldest part of Canada Before Confederation it was also the richest but now Nova Scotia is among the poorest Its defining myths and stories are mostly about loss and sheer determination Equal parts narrative memoir and meditation The Long Way Home chronicles with enthralling clarity a complex and multi dimensional story the overwhelming of the first peoples and the arrival of a m lange of pioneers who carved out pockets of the wilderness the random acts and unexplained mysteries the shameful achievements and noble failures the rapture and misery the twists of destiny and the cold heartedness of fate This is the biography of a place that has been hardened by history A place full of reminders of how great a province it has been and how great with the right circumstances and a little luck it could be again A Land of Dreams Patrick Mannion,2018-07-24 Wherever they settled immigrants from Ireland and their descendants shaped and reshaped their understanding of being Irish in response to circumstances in both the old and new worlds In A Land of Dreams Patrick Mannion analyzes and compares the evolution of Irish identity in three communities on the prow of northeastern North America St John s Newfoundland Halifax Nova Scotia and Portland Maine in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries These three port cities home to diverse Irish populations in different stages of development and in different national contexts provide a fascinating setting for a study of intergenerational ethnicity Mannion traces how Irishness could at certain points form the basis of a strong cohesive identity among Catholics of Irish descent while at other times it faded into the background Although there was a consistent often romantic gaze across the Atlantic to the old land many of the organizations that helped mediate large scale public engagement with the affairs of Ireland especially Irish nationalist associations spread from further west on the North American mainland Irish ethnicity did not therefore develop in isolation but rather as a result of a complex interplay of local regional national and transnational networks This volume shows that despite a growing generational distance Ireland remained a land of dreams for many immigrants and their descendants They were connected to a transnational Irish diaspora well into the twentieth century

Small Stories of War Barbara Lorenzkowski,Kristine Alexander,Andrew Burtch,2023-06-15 Many believed the twentieth century would be the century of the child an era in which modern societies would value and protect children sheltering them from violence and poverty Yet this hopeful vision was marred by the harsh realities of migration displacement and armed conflict Small Stories of War grapples with the meanings and memories of childhood and wartime by asking new questions about lived experience Spanning the First World War to the early twenty first century and featuring chapters about Canada Australia Germany the former Yugoslavia Rwanda and northern Uganda this volume asks how young people encountered and responded to armed conflict How did children youth and their families make sense of war in the violent twentieth century How have they shared their stories and experiences of violence and trauma Analyzing a broad range of sources including family letters oral history and children s artwork contributors offer important insights into the production of historical knowledge with and about young people Engaging with cutting edge debates about emotions temporality space and young people as political actors Small Stories of War offers compelling new research and an interpretive toolkit that will benefit scholars from across the social sciences and humanities Needle Work Jamie Jelinski,2024-06-15 In 1891 J Murakami travelled from Japan via San Francisco to Vancouver Island and began working in and around Victoria His occupation creating permanent images on the skin of paying clients From this early example of tattooing as work Jamie Jelinski takes us from coast to coast with detours to the United States England and Japan as he traces the evolution of commercial tattooing in Canada over more than one hundred years Needle Work offers insight into how tattoo artists navigated regulation the types of spaces they worked in and the dynamic relationship between the images they tattooed on customers and other forms of visual culture and artistic enterprise Merging biographical narratives with an examination of tattooing s place within wider society Jelinski reveals how these commercial image makers bridged conventional gaps between cultural production and practical for profit work thereby establishing tattooing as a legitimate career Richly illustrated and drawing on archives print media and objects held in institutions and private collections across Canada and beyond Needle Work provides a timely understanding of a vocation that is now familiar but whose intricate history has rarely been considered Henry Foxall's

Journals, 1816-1817 Jane Donovan,2022-08-09 This book introduces four journals that Henry Foxall 1758 1823 kept during a trip to the British Isles in 1816 1817 It provides unique primary source material extensively annotated for clarity and context Foxall s journals offer an eyewitness account of Methodist embourgeoisement and institutionalization as they were occurring They also provide some insight into the developing differences between American and British Methodism The journals contain information on recent technological innovations of the British Industrial Revolution and recount Foxall s interactions with a number of prominent persons both in British Methodism and outside it Because of Foxall s close relationship with Francis Asbury his status as an insider at the highest levels of American Methodism and his clear understanding of the British Methodism in which he was raised converted and first licensed as a local preacher his perspective is well informed and unique The British Ordnance Department and Canada's Canals 1815-1855

George Raudzens,2006-01-01 No detailed description available for The British Ordnance Department and Canada s Canals 1815 1855 Black Ice George Robert Fosty,Darril Fosty,2007 The Colored Hockey League of the Maritimes was formed in 1895 in Halifax Nova Scotia Canada Comprised of the sons and the grandsons of runaway American slaves the league helped pioneer the sport of ice hockey changing this winter game from the primitive gentleman s past time of the Nineteenth Century to the to the modern fast moving game of today In an era when many believed Blacks could not endure cold possessed ankles too weak to effectively skate and lacked the intelligence for organized sport these men defied the established myths The Colored League was one of the most complex sports organizations ever created and was lead by Baptist ministers and church laymen Natural leaders and proponents of Black Pride these men represented a concept in spots never before seen Their rule book was The Bible Their game book the coded words and oral history derived from the experiences of American slavery and the Underground Railroad Their strategy the principles and teachings of American Black leader Booker T Washington the founder of the Tuskegee Institute and a believer in the concept of racial equality through racial separation Twenty five years before the Negro Baseball Leagues in the United States and twenty two years before the birth of the National Hockey League the Colored League would emerge as a premier force in Canadian hockey and supply the resilience necessary to preserve a unique culture which exists to this day Unfortunately their contributions were conveniently ignored or simply stolen as White teams and hockey officials influenced by the Black league copied elements of the Black style or sought to take self credit for Black hockey innovations Seven years of research has gone into this book This is the first book ever written on the Colored Hockey League of the Maritimes The Seabound Coast William Johnston, William G.P. Rawling, Richard H. Gimblett, John MacFarlane, 2011-01-14 Commended for the 2011 Keith Matthews Award From its creation in 1910 the Royal Canadian Navy was marked by political debate over the countrys need for a naval service The Seabound Coast Volume I of a three volume official history of the RCN traces the story of the navys first three decades from its beginnings as Prime Minister Sir Wilfrid Lauriers tinpot navy of two obsolescent British cruisers to the force of six modern destroyers and four minesweepers with which it began the Second World War The previously published Volume II of this history Part 1 No Higher Purpose and Part 2 A Blue Water Navy has already told the story of the RCN during the 1939-1945 conflict Based on extensive archival research The Seabound Coast recounts the acrimonious debates that eventually led to the RCNs establishment in 1910 its tenuous existence following the Laurier governments sudden replacement by that of Robert Borden one year later and the navys struggles during the First World War when it was forced to defend Canadian waters with only a handful of resources From the effects of the devastating Halifax explosion in December 1917 to the U boat campaign off Canadas East Coast in 1918 the volume examines how the RCNs task was made more difficult by the often inconsistent advice Ottawa received from the British Admiralty in London In its final section this important and well illustrated history relates the RCNs experience during the interwar years when anti war sentiment and an economic depression threatened the services very survival The Atlantic Region to Confederation Phillip Buckner, John G. Reid, 2017-06-22 Nearly thirty years ago W S MacNutt published the first general history of the Atlantic provinces before Confederation An outstanding scholarly achievement that history inspired much of the enormous growth of research and writing on Atlantic Canada in the succeeding decades Now a new effort is required to convey the state of our knowledge in the 1990s Many of the themes important to today s historians notably those relating to social class gender and ethnicity have been fully developed only since 1970 Important advances have been made in our understanding of regional economic developments and their implications for social cultural and political life This book is intended to fill the need for an up to date overview of emerging regional themes and issues Each of the sixteen chapters written by a distinguished scholar covers a specific chronological period and has been carefully integrated into the whole The history begins with the evolution of Native cultures and the impact of the arrival of Europeans on those cultures and continues to the formation of Confederation The goal has been to provide a synthesis that not only incorporates the most recent scholarship but is accessible to the general reader The book reassesses many old themes from a new perspective and seeks to broaden the focus of regional history to include those groups whom the traditional historiography ignored or marginalized Michael Power Mark George McGowan, 2005 This biography of Toronto's first Roman Catholic bishop also serves as a compelling history of Canadian Catholicism Winner of the 2006 Heritage Toronto Book Award for excellence Halifax, Warden of the North ...
