book is on changes to the soil subsurface matrix and properties caused by chemical pollution By integrating results available in the literature we observe that chemical pollutants may lead to the irreversible formation of a new soil subsurface regime characterized by a matrix and properties different than those of the natural regime In contrast to the geological time scales dictating natural changes to the matrix and properties of the soil subsurface system the time scale associated with chemical pollutant induced changes is far shorter and extends over a human lifetime scale The numerous examples presented in the book confirm that chemical contamination should be considered as an additional factor in the formation of a contemporary soil subsurface regime that is different than that of the pristine system Maximum Accessibility John M. Crime and Madness in Modern Austria Rebecca S. Thomas, 2021-02-03 This collection of essays explores the changing history rhetoric politics and representation of crime and madness in modern Austria From the emergence of Viennese modernism to the post modern moment the myths metaphors and realities of crime and madness have unfolded in the shadow of larger cultural questions regarding cultural norms gender war and national identity Historically based contributions illuminate such diverse cultural realities as the evolution of psychiatry as medical practice asylum practices in the early twentieth century and Austrian participation in and responses to terror and war crimes From these investigations proceeds the clear insight that cultural responses to crime and madness are often steeped in mythmaking as much as objective policy and practice Conversely literary and metaphorical representations of crime and madness reveal attitudes and cultural realities about the Austrian society that produced them and which they reflect Specialists from the fields of Austrian history literature and culture studies have collaborated to produce this truly interdisciplinary volume which responses to crime and madness are often steeped in mythmaking as much as objective policy and practice Conversely literary and metaphorical representations of crime and madness reveal attitudes and cultural realities about the Austrian society that produced them and which they reflect Creativity, Madness and Civilisation Richard Pine, 2021-04-16 What is creativity And what is madness How far can we interpret an artist's work through our knowledge of his or her mental state and how far can we infer a mental state from a work of art When does a work of art cease to be a personal statement by the artist and become a matter of public concern The contributions to this book attempt to answer some of these questions They come from a wide range of disciplines and experiences a practising psychiatrist a practising artist suffering from reactive depression and critics working in literature film music and the visual arts The essays include discussions of the myth of creativity the music of Robert Schumann the borders of sanity in the writing of Lawrence Durrell the insane truth of Virginia Woolf the meeting of doctor and patient in the poetry of Anne Sexton mood disorders in the fiction of David Foster Wallace love and madness in the poetry of Hafiz of Shiraz and the paintings of Adolf Wölfli Central to this discussion of creativity madness and civilisation is the difficulty of establishing an appropriate and effective vocabulary and mindset between critics and clinical psychiatrists which would enable them to work together in understanding mental disturbance in creative artists
