General Assembly, 2007 Jean Cras, Polymath of Music and Letters Paul-André Bompéchat, 2017-07-05 Jean Cras 1879-1932 was a remarkable man by any measure. Twice a decorated hero of the Great War, this Rear Admiral of the French navy, scientist, inventor and moral philosopher was also a highly esteemed composer during his lifetime, enjoying the same stature and celebrity as Fauré, Debussy and Ravel. Since his death, however, both Cras and his music have been almost completely overlooked. In this, the first critical biography of Cras

Paul Andre Bempechat situates Henri Duparc's protégé as a missing link between the French post Romantic generation of composers and the Impressionists. The book explores both historically and analytically the methodology by which Cras evolved his eclectic brand of Impressionism, striking the delicate balance between Celtic folk idioms and exoticisms inspired by his travels. Cras' creative legacy extends beyond the world of music to the world of science. His five patented inventions include the navigational gyrocompass, which bears his name still in use to this day by the French navy coast guard and boating aficionados. Bempechat draws special attention to the humanist Jean Cras and his distinguished military career; he is credited with saving the Serbian army from extinction, drawing on primary source material such as family correspondence and wartime diaries to reaffirm this composer as a true Renaissance man of the twentieth century. Tu sais, mon vieux Jean-Pierre John Willis, 2017-04-28. Tu sais mon vieux Jean-Pierre is inspired by the work of archaeologist Jean Pierre Chrestien, 1949-2008, who worked hand in glove with a generation of researchers in helping to unearth unexpected and always interesting aspects of New France. Contributions focus first upon the door to New France in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, Newfoundland and Acadia. A second set of essays move further up the St. Lawrence and into the heartland of the continent. The final section examines aspects of Canadian culture: popular art, religion, and communication. The essays share a curiosity for material culture, a careful regard for detail and nuance that forms the grain of New France studies, and sensitivity to the overall context that is part and parcel of how history proceeds on the local or regional scale. Happily, we can now dispense with old-fashioned and facile generalizations about the allegedly absent bourgeoisie, the purportedly deficient commercial ethic of the habitants, and the so-called underlying military character of the colony, and get down to the business of understanding real people and their possessions in context.
