The Publishers Weekly, 1990 Job Search In Academe Dawn M. Formo, Cheryl Reed, 2023-07-03 Building on the success of the first this new edition has been updated to cover the latest hiring trends changing economic circumstances and feedback from readers The authors have expanded the book to deal with issues faced by minority candidates and have added contributions from scientists to cover such issues as negotiating faculty contracts to ensure adequate lab space and resources They give more emphasis to applying for non academic jobs and offer case study scenarios of candidates who have followed both academic and non academic paths The authors urge readers to go develop a philosophy statement for research and service as well as for teaching. They explain what is involved in applying for joint positions, offer advice on applying for administrative jobs outside the academy, and prepare the reader for first-year academic and corporate performance reviews. They have updated the resources, references, examples, and scenarios. This book covers the process for Master's and Ph.D. level job seekers of all disciplines from identifying sources of information about positions to advising on the preparation of effective CVs and portfolios through guidance on the process of interview to final negotiation of terms. Its invaluable advice is informed by the authors' experiences in both academic and corporate arenas as well as by the narratives of current and recent job seekers. The authors cover the full spectrum of potential positions: adjunct, visiting, temporary, and tenure-track faculty appointments at year and 2-year institutions. This book includes sample application letters and vitae, a model for job search workshop, and a rich list of resources both in print and online. An accompanying Web site offers a wealth of information on locating job postings, complete with hot links to major sites both general and discipline-specific, presents eight sample application packets by successful humanities, social sciences, and sciences candidates with accompanying comments on key features by the book's authors, and an extensive listing of useful books and online resources. While being realistic about the trends in higher education, the decline in tenure-track positions, and greater competition for available positions, the authors actively combat the gloom and doom approach of competing books by emphasizing that readers have it in their power to adopt strategies and take actions and choices that can greatly improve their chances of success. The authors aim to help candidates see what they already have and how to get that across as clearly as possible to potential hiring committees.
