The Jellicoe Papers John Rushworth Jellicoe, 1966      Sailor-Scholar Barry D. Hunt, 2006-01-01 Admiral Sir Herbert

Richmond was a unique phenomenon in the Victorian Edwardian navy a professionally competent and successful officer who was also an intellectual writes the author This was enough to ensure that his progress would be stormy This thoroughly documented biographical study of Richmond s professional career reveals a fully experienced clear thinking officer with a profound understanding of naval history a restless and uncompromising personality and a passionate concern with naval strategy the art of war and the most effective training programme for officers Richmond persistently challenged the accepted practices and prejudices of the naval profession He and his small group of disciples the Young Turks found themselves in the thick of the most crucial controversies in the British Navy In spite of frequent official displeasure however Richmond became an influential naval historian and educator responsible for the creation of the modern naval staff and the Imperial Defence College The volume rests on extensive research in the official records and the private papers of Richmond and his close associates It will interest not only naval historians but also those with a general interest in the impact of one man s thought and actions on Britain s defence policy and the outcome of two World Wars      The Jellicoe Papers A. Temple Patterson, 2020-03-05 This substantial selection of the professional and private papers of Admiral John Jellicoe first Earl Jellicoe 1859 1935 extends from 1893 to 1935 Its publication was directly followed in 1969 by Professor Patterson s succinct biography of the admiral Since then a resurgence of interest in the Battle of Jutland and in pre war naval provision has resulted from the publication in 1989 and 1993 of Professor Ranft s The Beatty Papers NRS vols 128 132 and from the publication in 1984 of Professor Sumida s edition of The Pollen Papers NRS vol 124 followed in 1989 by his book In Defence of Naval Supremacy Sumida reopened the question of British gunnery at and before Jutland Since then Paul Halpern in his Naval History of World War I 1994 has provided a comprehensive account and assessment of all the participants For any further reconsideration of this complex period The Jellicoe Papers together with The Beatty Papers will remain a primary source This covers The Grand Fleet after Jutland up to December 1916 Jellicoe s largely successful attempts to rectify perceived shortcomings constitute the main theme He presses for the fleet to be supplied with improved armour piercing shell something not actually achieved until April 1918 There is interesting material on the loss of the Hampshire together with Lord Kitchener in 1916 Part II features Jellicoe as First Sea Lord The U boat crisis of 1917 is the central theme The Beatty Papers provide much further comment Duff s minute of 26 April shows that trial convoys were certainly being prepared before Lloyd George s visit to the Admiralty on the 30th Unsurprisingly Jellicoe s concern about numbers of available escorts persists Then follows material on his dismissal in December In Part III there are 133 pages on Jellicoe s Empire Mission December 1917 to February 1920 comprising his advice to India and the Dominions on the development of their navies Then come finally 170 pages on The Jutland Controversy and Harper s Narrative Here again as so often The Beatty Papers NRS Volumes 128 132 provide much important complementary matter In 1921 Jellicoe makes a single enigmatic reference to Pollen It fell to me to turn down his inventions on more than one occasion However against a turbulent background of relative economic decline and adjustment to new techniques and processes Britannia had thanks to Jellicoe among others punched well above her weight Jellicoe Papers, vol 1, 1893-1916 John R (1st Earl Jellicoe) Jellicoe, 1966 Planning for War at Sea Evan Wilson, Paul M. Kennedy, 2025-02-04 How have navies contemplated possible enemies How did they learn or fail to learn once operations began How does this analysis inform today s planning for future conflict These questions guide the noted historians and naval strategists who contributed to Planning for War at Sea A central theme is the regular failure of navies best laid plans Covering four centuries of naval warfare the chapters illustrate the challenges all navies faced when considering possible enemies Even during the Age of Sail ships were among the most expensive and long term national endeavors Navies therefore planned well in advance for future wars usually without knowing their adversaries or how they would fight them at sea Building a capable navy requires sustained investment in naval infrastructure long before the fighting starts In the final chapters naval strategists expand on this historical analysis to address how effectively or ineffectively today s three leading navies Russia China and the United States have configured themselves during the post Cold War era in preparing for future great power conflict This collection is an important work for strategists scholars and policymakers The Jellicoe Papers John Rushworth Jellicoe, Navy Records Society, 1966 The Jellicoe Papers John Rushworth Jellicoe, 1968 The Jellicoe Papers J.
