Parliament: House of Commons: Culture, Media and Sport Committee,2013-09-26 This report warns that the extraordinary success of the UK s creative industries may be jeopardised by any dilution of intellectual property rights and the failure to tackle online piracy The Committee also strongly condemns the failure of Google in particular to tackle access of copyright infringing websites through its search engine Such illegal piracy combined with proposals arising from the Hargreaves review to introduce copyright exceptions and a failure to strengthen copyright enforcement as envisaged by the Digital Economy Act 2010 together threaten the livelihoods of the individuals and industries that contribute over 36 billion annually to the UK economy Also the Olympics No Marketing Rights scheme is excessively restrictive and is preventing British creative companies from realising the benefits they deserve from the Olympic legacy The Committee calls for a central champion of Intellectual Property in Government to promote and protect the interests of UK intellectual property the maximum penalty for serious online IP theft to be increased to 10 years imprisonment in line with the punishment for such offences in the physical world more evidence and scrutiny before any exceptions to copyright such as those suggested by Hargreaves are applied redoubled efforts to ensure that the video games tax credit is approved by the European Commission and introduced as soon as possible reforms to the income tax and tax reliefs systems to recognise adequately the freelance nature of much creative work greater recognition of the importance of arts subjects in the curriculum The Bookman

Matter Recordings Philip Strackbein, 2021-06-24 Philip is a Christian who works for NASDA and is in charge of the Hubble Telescope. He makes some filters for the telescope that enable him to view the dark matter that exists in the universe. Then he discovers that the dark matter which has the shape of ovals has been video recording everything that has ever happened in the universe. He learns how to access these recordings. The first thing he views is the creation of the world. After the creation of man, there was a population explosion that caused the whole Earth to be filled in a relatively short period of time. Just think what would happen if everyone having the same intelligence that we have lived to be eight hundred to nine hundred years old and there was no birth control. Who stops to think that Cain and Abel would have been over a hundred years old at the time that Cain killed Abel and that Eve would have had over fifty more children by that time and that the population of the world by that time could have been over ten thousand. A large portion of the novel presents the five hundred years of Noah's life before the Great Flood. The novel without violating Scripture shows that mankind before the flood was very advanced in technology. It proposes a very different explanation for the existence of UFOs than most people imagine. Human beings living on the Earth had succeeded in finding a way to overcome gravity and inertia, had traveled to outer space and had established colonies on the moon and Mars. The novel contains a great deal of romance and has a surprise ending. 1 Handbook for Creative Team Leaders Tudor Rickards, Susan Moger, 2017-07-05 Every worthwhile organization strives continuously to improve. What the authors of this groundbreaking book offer is nothing less than a system for achieving peak performance. As a result of their work with more than 2000 teams in some 40 countries across the globe, the authors identified the 7 factors that distinguish what they call dream teams and on that basis they developed the structured approach described in the Handbook. Part I sets out the principles that underlie team performance. Part II shows how to train teams to become more creative. Finally in Part III the authors demonstrate their ideas in action with real life examples from a wide variety of organizational settings. They emphasize throughout the role of leadership in stimulating creativity and innovation and they explain how to inject new dynamism into existing organizational systems and practices. Anyone involved in teamworking would profit from a close study of the Handbook. It will be especially valuable to team leaders and facilitators, to project managers and to HRD practitioners and consultants. DFID's Programme in Zambia Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: International Development Committee, 2012-09-06 Although Zambia has enjoyed significant economic growth in the last decade, it remains one of the least developed countries in the world, ranking 164 out of 187 countries in the 2011 UN Human Development. The country is seriously off track on the poverty Millennium Development Goal MDG1 and inequality remains very high. Women suffer disproportionately; violence against women is widespread and maternal mortality rates MDG5 are high. The foremost challenge for the Zambian economy is to spread wealth to rural areas and the Committee welcomes DFID's proposed rural markets development programme which seeks to increase the productivity of poor smallholder farmers by strengthening markets for inputs and crops. Lack of access to reproductive health services is one of the key reasons maternal mortality is high The report recommends that DFID encourage the Zambian Government to allow clinicians other than doctors including nurses and midwives to be trained to provide Long Acting and Permanent Method contraception DFID should focus its efforts on rural areas and young people Secondary tertiary and vocational education should also be prioritised in DFID s education expenditure There is a particular need for business education with a lack of competent middle management across the Zambian economy in the public and private sector The report also highlights major inefficiencies in Zambia s public expenditure which if removed could free up revenues to improve public services The biggest of these is the maize subsidy

The development Situation in Malawi Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: International Development Committee,2012-07-24 The Government should re instate its programme of General Budget Support for Malawi according to MPs on the International Development Committee The Department for International Development DFID suspended General Budget Support to Malawi the provision of funds directly to the Malawian exchequer in July 2011 preferring to provide its aid by other means This decision was taken in response to the policies of the then President of Malawi Bingu wa Mutharika His policies had created an economic and political crisis whilst his authoritarian tendencies were becoming ever more apparent the UK s High Commissioner had been expelled from Malawi for criticising Mutharika However following the death of President Mutharika in April this year his successor President Joyce Banda has begun to reverse many of his policies The currency has been devalued whilst the new Government has indicated its intention to repeal many of its predecessor s authoritarian measures Subject to the continued progress of reforms general budget support is likely to be the most efficient way of providing aid to Malawi
