Joe Doupe Bedside Physiologist:

Joe Doupe Terence Moore,1989-01-01 In 1946 Winnipeg s struggling medical student received an injection of new life when scientist and army doctor Joe Doupe came home from the war He assembled the school s first research group and in 1949 took over the physiology department Doupe soon blended science and clinical teaching objecting to their seperation in the curriculum which was usual at that time He required Winnipeg medical students of the 1950s and early 1960s to take a critical look at the scientific knowledge they relied on and in their methods of scientific inquiry From his student days Doupe was considered argumentative forever asking colleagues superiors or students why they believed what they took for granted The outcome was a generation of Manitoba medical students with a perceptive and sceptical attitude towards both textbook knowledge and new medical discoveries Doupe also showed that Winnipeg s medical students though small and distant from the great medical centres could become a first rate teaching and research establishment in doing so he became one of ideas patients and diseases in fields from anatomy to pharmacology to surgery this is a highly accessible overview of medical history as a vibrant component of intellectual and cultural history

Secondary Sources in the History of Canadian Medicine Charles G. Roland, Jacques Bernier, 2010-11-22 Volume Two of this retrospective bibliography is both a continuation and an expansion of Volume One 1984 It contains references to Canadian medical historical literature published between 1984 and 1998 and also includes much additional material published prior to 1984 Finally it substantially enlarges the content of French language material Every effort has been made to be as inclusive as possible of articles theses book chapters and books both in English and in French relating to the history of medicine No single electronic source can replace this bibliography The contents are divided into three sections The first is a listing of material expressly biographical Section two lists material under a wide variety of subject headings related to medicine and the third is a complete listing of the authors who have contributed these articles Simply organized and easy to use this bibliography will be of value to historians archivists librarians and anyone interested in the history of medicine

In Subordination Mary Kinnear, 1995-02-20 Kinnear presents five case studies of professional women in Manitoba university teachers physicians lawyers nurses and schoolteachers Although the unrelenting efforts of nineteenth century feminists won women access to higher education and the professions the author reveals that most women whether in male or female dominated professions were forced to accept subordinate positions They responded with acquiescence indifference resentment or resistance Kinnear considers the reasons for and the cost of these various strategies In addition to quantitative data culled from census and other records Kinnear has collected testimony from more than two hundred professional women a rich mine of information A significant contribution to the growing literature on women and the professions In Subordination helps explain why professional women continue to fight for equality today

Manitoba Medicine Ian Carr, Robert E. Beamish, 1999-11-30 For many Canadians the state of our health care and medical system is at the top of the public agenda By following the growth and development of modern medicine in one Canadian province Manitoba Medicine provides an insight into where our present medical system came from and how it developed Beginning with a description of some early Aboriginal healing practices and of the physicians of the Red River Settlement Manitoba Medicine follows the struggles in the 1870s to establish what would become the first medical college and the first major hospitals in Western Canada It chronicles the fight for public health in the 1920s the development of health insurance and medicare after WWII and medicine's role in fighting the 1950 Winnipeg Flood and the polio epidemic of the late 1950s Manitoba Medicine also provides vivid accounts of many of the individuals who built Manitoba's medical system including early educators like Swale Vincent pioneering women physicians such as Charlotte Ross important researchers like Bruce Chown and colourful private practitioners such as Murrough O'Brien

Historical Identities E. Lisa Panayotidis, Paul Stortz, 2006-12-15 As intellectual engines of the university professors hold considerable authority and play an important role in society By nature of their occupation they are agents of intellectual culture in Canada

Historical Identities is a new collection of essays examining the history of the professoriate in Canada Framing the volume with the question What was it like to be a professor editors Paul Stortz and E Lisa Panayotidis along with an esteemed group of Canadian historians strive to uncover and analyze variables and contexts such as background education economics politics gender and ethnicity in the lives of academics throughout Canada s history The contributors take an in depth approach to topics such as academic freedom professors and the state faculty development discipline construction and academic cultures religion biography gender and faculty wives images of professors and background and childhood experiences Including the best and most recent critical research in the field of the social history of higher education and professors Historical Identities examines fundamental and challenging topics issues and arguments on the role and nature of intellectualism in Canada
