While Ralph Waldo Emerson and Henry David Thoreau are often credited with inventing American environmental writing Matthew Wynn Sivils argues that the works of these Transcendentalists must be placed within a larger literary tradition that has its origins in early Republic natural histories Indian captivity narratives Gothic novels and juvenile literature Authors such as William Bartram Ann Eliza Bleecker and Samuel Griswold Goodrich to name just a few enabled the development of a credibly American brand of proto environmental fiction Sivils argues that these seeds of environmental literature would come to fruition in James Fenimore Cooper's The Pioneers which he argues is the first uniquely environmental American novel He then connects the biogeographical politics of Cooper's The Prairie with European anti Americanism and concludes this study by examining how James Kirke Paulding Thomas Cole and James Fenimore Cooper imaginatively addressed the problem of human culpability and nationalistic cohesiveness in the face of natural disasters With their focus on the character and implications of the imagined American landscape these key works of early environmental thought contributed to the growing influence of the natural environment on the identity of the fledgling nation decades before the influences of Emerson's Nature and Thoreau's Walden

The Botanists of Philadelphia and Their Work John William Harshberger, 1899 America, History and Life, 2003 Provides historical coverage of the United States and Canada from prehistory to the present Includes information abstracted from over 2 000 journals published worldwide The Rediscovery of America Stuart Andrews, 1998-10-15 The Rediscovery of America features some twenty representatives of England France and America whose careers in some sense straddled the Atlantic in the last quarter of the eighteenth century While not establishing causal links between the American and French Revolutions the collective weight of these individual responses to the new America supports the idea of an Atlantic Revolution This study of the writings and transatlantic experiences of the revolutionary generation shows the power of American images in shaping political rhetoric if not political reality Annual Report of the Department of Agriculture ... New York. Department of Agriculture, 1917 Longfellow Charles C. Calhoun, 2004 Charles C. Calhoun's Longfellow gives life at last to the most popular American poet who ever lived a nineteenth century cultural institution of extraordinary influence and the one poet average nonbookish Americans still know by heart Dana Gioia Calhoun's Longfellow emerges as one of America's first powerful cultural makers a poet and teacher who helped define Victorian culture a major conduit for European culture coming into America a catalyst for the Colonial Revival movement in architecture and interior design and a critic of both Puritanism and the American obsession with material success Longfellow is also a portrait of a man in advance of his time in championing multiculturalism He popularized Native American folklore revived the Evangeline story the foundational myth of modern Acadian and Cajun identity in the U S and Canada wrote powerful poems against slavery and introduced Americans to the languages and literatures of other lands Calhoun s portrait of post Revolutionary Portland Maine where Longfellow was born and of his time at Bowdoin and Harvard Colleges show a deep and imaginative grasp of New England cultural history Longfellow s tragic romantic life his first wife dies tragically early after a miscarriage and his second wife Fannie Appleton dies after accidentally setting herself on fire is illuminated and his intense friendship with abolitionist and U S senator Charles Sumner is given as a striking example of mid nineteenth century romantic friendship between men Finally Calhoun paints in vivid detail Longfellow s family life at Craigie House including stories of the poet s friends Hawthorne Emerson Dickens Fanny Kemble Julia Ward Howe and Oscar Wilde among them
