Synge John Masefield,2015-09-27 Excerpt from John M Synge A Few Personal Recollections With Biographical Notes I first met John M Synge at the room of a common friend up two pairs of stairs in an old house in Bloomsbury on a Monday night of January 1903 When I entered the room he was sitting in a rush bottomed chair talking to a young man just down from Oxford My host introduced me with the remark that he wanted us to know each other Synge stood up to shake hands with me He was of the middle height about five feet eight or nine My first impression of him was of a dark grave face with a great deal in it changing from the liveliness of conversation to a gravity of scrutiny After we had shaken hands I passed to the other end of the room to greet other friends We did not speak to each other again that night When I sat at the other end of the room my chair was opposite Synge s chair Whenever I raised my eyes I saw him and wondered who he could be Disordered people look disordered unusual people look unusual About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works      John M.
