between the Chinese and Cambodian institutions that administered military aid technology transfer and international trade Today China s extensive engagement with the developing world suggests an inexorably rising China in the process of securing a degree of economic and political dominance that was unthinkable even a decade ago Yet China s experience with its first ever client state suggests that the effectiveness of Chinese foreign aid and influence that comes with it is only as good as the institutions that manage the relationship By focusing on the links between China and Democratic Kampuchea Mertha peers into the black box of Chinese foreign aid to illustrate how domestic institutional fragmentation limits Beijing s ability to influence the countries that accept its assistance
