Kakadu And The Top End:

The Complete Guide to Finding the Mammals of Australia David Andrew, 2015-12 Australia has a rich and unique array of animals including the largest diversity of marsupials on earth The recent growth in ecotourism has increased the popularity of mammal spotting particularly whale and dolphin watching but also spotting of perennial tourist favourites such as koalas and kangaroos Birdwatchers have for many years known of sites where special or difficult to see species may be reliably located However despite their comparative abundance and spectacular diversity many of Australia's unique mammals remain under appreciated because there has been little available information on where to see them until now For the first time ever The Complete Guide to Finding the Mammals of Australia advises interested amateurs and professionals where to locate many of Australia's mammals The book describes Australia's best mammal watching sites state by state It also includes a complete annotated taxonomic list with hints on finding each species or why it won't be easy to see sections on travel and logistics in Australia and appendices with hints on finding and photographing mammals This book will be of interest to anyone wanting to observe or photograph Australian mammals in the wild mammal enthusiasts biological field workers and volunteers tourists and ecotourists

The Complete Guide to Finding the Birds of Australia Richard Thomas, 2011 This fully revised second edition describes the best known sites for all of Australia's endemic birds plus regular migrants such as seabirds and shorebirds Covers all states and territories plus all Australia's island and external territories

Indigenous Participation in Australian Economies Ian Keen, 2010-12-01 This volume seeks to contribute to the body of anthropological and historical studies of Indigenous participation in the Australian colonial and post colonial economy It arises out of a panel on this topic at the annual conference of the Australian Anthropological Society held jointly with the British and New Zealand anthropological associations in Auckland in December 2008 The panel was organised in conjunction with an Australian Research Council ARC Linkage Grant project on Indigenous participation in Australian economies involving the National Museum of Australia as the partner organisation and the School of Archaeology and Anthropology at The Australian National University The chapters of the volume bring new theoretical analyses and empirical data to bear on a continuing discussion about the variety of ways in which Indigenous people in Australia have been engaged in the colonial and post colonial economy Contributions cover settler capitalism concepts of property on the frontier Torres Strait Islanders in the mainland economy the pastoral industry in the Kimberley doggers in the Western Desert bean and pea picking on the South Coast of New South Wales attitudes to employment in general in western New South Wales relations of Aboriginal people to mining in the Pilbara and relations with the uranium mine and Kakadu National Park in the Top End The chapters also contribute to discussions about theoretical and analytical frameworks relevant to these kinds of contexts and bring critical perspectives to bear on current issues of development In the March 2012 edition of Oceania Diane Austin Broos reviews Ian Keen's Indigenous Participation in Australian Economies historical and anthropological perspectives She opens with an emphatic assertion This is a good book and praises the collected essays for covering geographically and temporally a wide range of Indigenous engagements Austin Broos synopsis of the essays in this collection gives an enticing glimpse of what readers can expect from these textured accounts of local experience She hopes that other like publications will follow this one either in the form of edited collections of sole authored monographs Austin Broos Diane Review of Indigenous Participation in Australian Economies historical and anthropological perspectives by Ian Keen Oceania issue 82 1 March 2012

A Natural History of Australian Bats Steve Parish,Greg Richards,Les Hall,2012-06-01 To hold a little microbat in your hand its body the size of the end of your thumb is nothing but astounding Its head is nearly the size of a man s fingernail its tiny ears are twitching as it struggles to get free and then it bares its teeth to try and scare you into letting it go Inside that tiny head is a powerhouse of information Some of our little bats know the entire landscape of our east coast and can pinpoint a cave entrance in dense forest 500 km from its last home When they get there they know what to do where to forage which bat to mate with and how to avoid local predators A Natural History of Australian Bats uncovers the unique biology and ecology of these wonderful creatures It features a description of each bat species found in Australia as well as a section on bat myths The book is enhanced by stunning colour photographs from Steve Parish most of which have never been seen before

Birds of the Darwin Region Niven McCrie,Richard Noske,2015-09 Birds of the Darwin Region is the first comprehensive treatment of the avifauna of Darwin a city located in Australia s monsoon tropics where seasons are defined by rainfall rather than by temperature With its mangrove lined bays and creeks tidal mudflats monsoon rainforests savanna woodlands and freshwater lagoons Darwin has retained all of its original habitats in near pristine condition and is home or host to 323 bird species Unlike other Australian cities it has no established exotic bird species Following an introduction to the history of ornithology in the region and a detailed appraisal of its avifauna species accounts describe the habitats relative abundance behaviour ecology and breeding season of 258 regularly occurring species based on over 500 fully referenced sources and original observations by the authors Distribution maps and charts of the seasonality of each species are presented based on a dataset comprising almost 120 000 records one third of which were contributed by the authors Stunning colour photographs adorn the accounts of most species including some of the 65 species considered as vagrants to the region This book is a must read for professional ornithologists and amateur birders and an indispensable reference for local biologists teachers and students and government and non government environmental agencies as well as other people who just like to watch birds
