Kali The Mother:

Kali the Mother Sister Nivedita, 2020-09-28 It is so with that symbolism which we know as language The simple daily needs of mankind seem the world over to be one We look therefore for words that correspond in every land Yet we know how the tongue of each people expresses some one group of ideas with especial clearness and ignores others altogether Never do we find an identical strength and weakness repeated and always if we go deep enough we can discover in the circumstances and habits of a country a cause for its specific difference of thought or of expression In the North we speak of a certain hour as twilight implying a space of time between the day and night In India the same moments receive the name of time of union since there is no period of half light the hours of sun and darkness seeming to touch each other in a point The illustration can be carried further In the word gloaming lies for us a wealth of associations the throbbing of the falling dusk the tenderness of home coming the last sleepy laughter of children The same emotional note is struck in Indian languages by the expression at the hour of cowdust How graphic is the difference Yonder beyond the grass the cowgirl leads her cattle home to the village for the night Their feet as they go strike the dust from the sunbaked path into a cloud behind them The herd girl herself looms large across the pasture all things grow quickly dim as if the air were filled with rising dust That word cowdust indeed strikes a whole vein of expression peculiar to this Eastern land Everything about the cow has been observed and loved and named As much water as will lie in the hole once made by its hoof is a well known measure amongst the Aryan folk It is unnecessary to argue further that while the facts of nature determine the main developments of speech yet every language and group of languages differs from every other as the characters of individuals and of nations Something of the same sort is true of religious symbols Short of perfect realization we must see the Eternal Light through a mask imposed by our own thought To no two of us probably is the mask quite in the same place and some reach by their own growth diverging points so distant from the common centre that they mark the extreme limits hitherto achieved of those great areas known as the Christian or the Buddhist or the this that or the other consciousness

Goddess Lost Rachel S. McCoppin,2023-02-03 Drawing upon historical archaeological and mythical examples from around the world this book reveals how societal views of female empowerment and authority can be directly traced to the reverence once directed towards female warriors priestesses healers queens pharaohs and goddesses Communities which revered women as sacred idols of their belief systems were far more likely to place women in prominent positions of social or political influence since their members were quite used to envisioning power in the hands of a strong or divine woman The book also explores how goddesses were purposefully devalued during the rise of patriarchal civilizations thus restricting the social importance of earthly women and their accompanying rights One such instance can be found in Greek mythology s Gaia once revered as a dominant earth mother she was replaced by a division of less powerful figures with more socially acceptable feminine roles such as Aphrodite the goddess of love typically held up as an object of male lust Hera the goddess of marriage and childbirth often portrayed as obsessed with jealousy over the extramarital exploits of her husband and the mostly silent goddess of the hearth Hestia The devaluing of once revered goddesses appeared in quite distinct ways across different cultures thus this book breaks down its chapters by global region including Europe the Middle East the Mediterranean India Asia Africa the Americas and Oceania Hsin Hsin Ming: The Book of Nothing Osho,2024-05-05 WE WILL BE ENTERING the beautiful world of a Zen Master s no mind Sosan is the third Zen Patriarch Nothing much is known about him this is as it should be because history records only violence History does not record silence it cannot record it All records are of disturbance Whenever someone becomes really silent he disappears from all records he is no more a part of our madness So it is as it should be Swami Vivekananda - The Charm of His Personality and Message A Vedanta Kesari Presentation, 2024-02-28 By any measure Swami Vivekananda had a multifarious and multidimensional personality He was a great saint thinker scholar educationist organiser nationalist traveler writer poet musician ambassador of Indian Culture to the West and what not To study the personality and message of such a diverse person is surely a rewarding and enriching experience both individually and collectively No wonder Swamiji continues and will continue to inspire millions of people the world around This book focusing on various aspects of his manifold personality and ever inspiring message is a tribute to the greatness and majesty that is Vivekananda on his 150th Birth Anniversary
