Style as Argument Chris Anderson, 1987 Taking the position that style has a value in its own right that language forms a major component of the story a nonfiction writer has to tell Anderson analyzes the work of America's foremost practitioners of New Journalism Tom Wolfe Truman Capote Norman Mailer and Joan Didion Anderson does for nonfiction what insightful critics have long been doing for fiction and poetry His approach is rhetorical and his message is that the rhetoric of Wolfe Capote Mailer and Didion is a direct response to the problem of trying to convey to a general audience the sublime inexplicable or private and intuitive experiences that conventional rhetoric cannot evoke The emphasis in this book is on style not genre and the analysis characterizes the distinctive styles of four American writers showing how the richness and complexity of their prose discloses an important argument about the value of language itself Their prose is complex nuanced layered affecting always aware of itself as style This self consciousness Anderson contends prepares the reader to regard style as argument a tacit but powerful statement about the value of form as form style as style

Zoomscape Mitchell Schwarzer, 2004-03 Although a few among us are intrepid architectural tourists visiting buildings and landscapes our cameras at the ready most of us experience architecture through the windshield of a moving vehicle the architectural experience reduced to a blurry and momentary drive by And the rest of our architectural tourism is through the images of cameras movies and television programs that is through the lens of another's eye Architectural historian Mitchell Schwarzer calls this new mediated architectural experience the zoomscape In this thought provoking book he argues that the perception of architecture has been fundamentally altered by the technologies of transportation and the camera we now look at buildings neighborhoods cities and even entire continents as we ride in trains cars and planes and or as we view photographs movies and television Zoomscape shows how we now perceive buildings and places at high speeds across great distances through edited and multiple reproductions Nowadays our views of the architectural landscape are modulated by the accelerator pedal and the remote control by studio production techniques and airplane flight paths Using examples from high art and popular culture from the novels of Don DeLillo to the opening credits of The Sopranos Mitchell Schwarzer shows that the zoomscape has brought about unprecedented and often marvelous new ways of perceiving the built environment
