Encountering the Impossible Alexander Sergeant,2021-08-01 2022 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title Shortlisted for the 2022 Best First Monograph Award presented by the British Association of Film Television and Screen Studies Hollywood fantasy cinema is responsible for some of the most lucrative franchises produced over the past two decades yet it remains difficult to find popular or critical consensus on what the experience of watching fantasy cinema actually entails What makes something a fantasy film and what unique pleasures does the genre offer In Encountering the Impossible Alexander Sergeant solves the riddle of the fantasy film by theorizing the underlying experience of imagination alluded to in scholarly discussions of the genre Drawing principally on the psychoanalysis of Melanie Klein and D W Winnicott Sergeant considers the way in which fantasy cinema rejects Hollywood's typically naturalistic mode of address to generate an alternative experience that Sergeant refers to as the fantastic a way of approaching cinema that embraces the illusory nature of the medium as part of the pleasure of the experience Analyzing such canonical Hollywood fantasy films as The Wizard of Oz It's a Wonderful Life Mary Poppins Conan the Barbarian and The Lord of the Rings movies Sergeant theorizes how fantasy cinema provides a unique film experience throughout its ubiquitous presence in the history of Hollywood film production

Weather Matters Bernard Mergen,2008 A kaleidoscopic book that illuminates our obsession with weather as both physical reality and evocative metaphor focusing on the ways in which it is perceived feared embraced managed and even marketed Presidential Greatness Marc Landy,Sidney M. Milkis,2000-03-01 When a new president is elected in November someone will be called to greatness But it remains to be seen whether that call will be answered In the wake of the Clinton scandal the upcoming election presents an opportunity for candidates and citizens alike to reaffirm their belief that the office of the president demands greatness But Marc Landy and Sidney Milkis suspect that the public will be disappointed once again because the demand for greatness far exceeds the supply In fact they claim that we have had no great presidents in the last half of this century In this provocative new book they explain why Landy and Milkis look to the past to show how five presidents Washington Jefferson Jackson Lincoln and Franklin Roosevelt set the standards for presidential leadership and achievement These were men who left genuine legacies whose vision expanded the office of the presidency as they inaugurated momentous and far reaching change They were leaders who knew how to reconcile innovation with constitutional tradition and were able to both educate the people about their agendas and win their allegiance They were also great builders and leaders of their parties amid times of political realignment Searching for common threads in these five presidencies Landy and Milkis enable us to better understand both the possibilities and the limitations of the office They show how presidents after FDR have never risen to true greatness not even Lyndon Johnson an overreacher whose Great Society was a failed revolution or Ronald Reagan an underachiever whose conservative revolution never fully got under way Our greatest presidents they argue sought to profoundly change the nature of the regimes they inherited and had the luck to assume office under conditions that allowed such renovation today's leaders have lacked either the ambition the opportunity or both Perhaps the authors observe the older our country gets the harder greatness is to come by Our next great president might be sworn in next year but he or she will face a daunting task in matching the stature of past leaders Landy and Milkis's book is an evenhanded assessment of our national icons that reestablishes our understanding of presidential greatness and demonstrates the importance and reality of inspired democratic leadership

The Edge of the Wedge Carroll Osburn, 2010-06-21 The 1950's were idyllic yet challenging times In this insightful and often humorous semi autobiographical novel Osburn portrays life as a teenager in rural eastern Arkansas as anything but boring However would his conservative upbringing revivals and the Scout Oath see him through While things were looking up after the war time honored ways were up for grabs Federal intervention in desegregation shook old foundations Rock and roll was attracting a generation of accepting musicians across racial barriers Emerging counter culturalism was beginning to challenge traditional values In the face of modernism old time religion was entrenching Unavoidable questions demanded rethinking everything held sacred by the Southern mind set the status quo prosperity segregation the political system religion social classes Where might the thin edge of the wedge lead In this engaging anecdotal account a boy is caught in the cultural lag that kept diehard Southern culture from dealing with the harsh realities of a changing world His coming to terms with critical issues of the time is an interesting search for values and half a century later is loaded with contemporary relevance

Catlin's Lament John Hausdoerffer, 2009 The first book to probe the conflicted attitudes that shaped and constrained noted painter George Catlin famous for his 19th century paintings of vanishing Native American culture Forces readers to rethink their understanding of the artist despite his advocacy for Native peoples
