Living Standards In The Past New Perspectives On Well Being In Asia And Europe:

Living Standards in the Past Robert C. Allen, Tommy Bengtsson, Martin Dribe, 2005-03-24 Why did Europe experience industrialisation and modern economic growth before China India or Japan This is one of the most fundamental questions in Economic History and one that has provoked intense debate The main concern of this book is to determine when the gap in living standards between the East and the West emerged The established view dating back to Adam Smith is that the gap emerged long before the Industrial Revolution perhaps thousands of years ago While this view has been called into question and many of the explanations for it greatly undermined the issue demands much more empirical research than has yet been undertaken How did the standard of living in Europe and Asia compare in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries The present book proposes an answer by considering evidence of three sorts The first is economic focusing on income food production wages and prices The second is demographic comparing heights life expectancy and other demographic indicators The third combines the economic and demographic by investigating the demographic vulnerability to short term economic stress The contributions show the highly complex and diverse pattern of the standard of living in the pre industrial period The general picture emerging is not one of a great divergence between East and West but instead one of considerable similarities These similarities not only pertain to economic aspects of standard of living but also to demography and the sensitivity to economic fluctuations In addition to these similarities there were also pronounced regional differences within the East and within the West regional differences that in many cases were larger than the average differences between Europe and Asia This clearly highlights the importance of analysing several dimensions of the standard of living as well as the danger of neglecting regional social and household specific differences when assessing the level of well being in the past

Living Standards in the Past Dribe Martin Bengtsson Tommy Allen Robert C, 2014-05-14 Comparing economic and demographic indicators of well being in the pre industrial period this text suggests that there are considerable similarities in the standards of living between Europe and Asia before the Industrial Revolution How Was Life? Volume II New Perspectives on Well-being and Global Inequality since 1820 OECD, 2021-03-25 How was life in 1820 and how has it changed since then This question which was at the core of How Was Life Global Well being since 1820 published by the OECD in 2014 is addressed by this second volume based on a broader perspective Old and New Perspectives on Mortality

Forecasting Tommy Bengtsson, Nico Keilman, 2019-03-28 This open access book describes methods of mortality forecasting and discusses possible improvements It contains a selection of previously unpublished and published papers which together provide a state of the art overview of statistical approaches as well as behavioural and biological perspectives The different parts of the book provide discussions of current practice probabilistic forecasting the linearity in the increase of life expectancy causes of death and the role of cohort factors The key question in the book is whether it is possible to project future mortality accurately and if so what is the best approach This makes the book a valuable read to demographers pension

planners actuaries and all those interested and or working in modelling and forecasting mortality

The New Comparative Economic History T. J. Hatton, Kevin H. O'Rourke, Alan M. Taylor, 2007 Essays by internationally prominent economists examine long run cross country economic trends from the perspective of New Comparative Economic History an approach pioneered by Harvard economist Jeffrey G Williamson The innovative approach to economic history known as the New Comparative Economic History represents a distinct change in the way that many economic historians view their role do their work and interact with the broader economics profession The New Comparative Economic History reflects a belief that economic processes can best be understood by systematically comparing experiences across time regions and above all countries It is motivated by current questions that are not nation specific the sources of economic growth the importance of institutions and the impact of globalization and focuses on long run trends rather than short run ups and downs in economic activity The essays in this volume offer a New Economic Comparative History perspective on a range of topics and are written in honor of Jeffrey G Williamson the most distinguished and influential scholar in the field The contributors prominent American and European economists consider such topics as migration education and wage convergence democracy and protectionism in the nineteenth century trade and immigration policies in labor scarce economies and the effect of institutions on European productivity and jobs

How Was Life? Global Well-being since 1820 OECD, 2014-10-02 This book presents the first systematic evidence on long term trends in global well being since 1820 for 25 major countries and 8 regions in the world covering more than 80% of the world s population

The Backbone of Europe Richard H. Steckel, Clark Spencer Larsen, Charlotte A. Roberts, Joerg Baten, 2019 Represents the largest recorded dataset based on human skeletal remains from archaeological sites across the continent of Europe

Religion, Technology, and the Great and Little Divergences Karel Davids, 2012-11-09 In Religion Technology and the Great and Little Divergences Karel Davids offers a new perspective on technological change in China and Europe before the Industrial Revolution This book makes an innovative contribution to current debates on the origins of the Great Divergence between China and Europe and the Little Divergence within Europe by analysing the relationship between the evolution of technical knowledge and religious contexts It deals with the question to what extent disparities in the evolution of technical knowledge can be explained by differences in religious environment It takes a comparative look at the relation between technology and religion in China and Europe between c 700 and 1800 from four angles visions on the uses of nature the formation of human capital the circulation of technical knowledge and technical innovation

Local Realities and Environmental Changes in the History of East Asia Ts'ui-Jung Liu, 2015-09-16 Environmental history has evolved into a well established historical subfield which has broadened the horizons of historical research beyond human affairs to include the study of human interactions with natural and man made environments This broadened scope has attracted scholars from many different fields a development which is reflected by this volume as it highlights the recent studies on East Asian environmental history by scholars of History

Economic History Political ecology Sociology and Environmental Studies This book examines the local realities and environmental changes in East Asia and is one of a few publications in English on the subject Contributors apply rich historical material maps and statistical data to reveal the local environmental realities infused by global perspectives Part I deals with attitude toward nature focusing on the soundscape conceived by traditional Chinese literati and on industrious revolution in Tokugawa Japan Part II includes four case studies which respectively discuss the hydraulic management and political ecology in the Yongle reign 1403-1424 the Woosung Bar controversy in the 1870s the expansion of Daihaizi Reservoir in Xinjiang in the 1950s and interactions between the indigenous communities and NGOs in Hualien Taiwan Part III presents case studies of Japan dealing with natural disasters volcano eruption floods and the human actions around Tokyo since the eighteenth century These chapters and the insights they offer provide the reader with the most recent research on East Asian environmental history Covering the geographical areas of Japan North and Northwest China the Lower Yangzi Delta and Taiwan and the timeframe spanning the seventh century BC to the present day the book will be of great interest to anyone studying the history of East Asia environmental history or environmental studies

Goods from the East, 1600-1800 Maxine Berg, Felicia Gottmann, Hanna Hodacs, Chris Nierstrasz, 2015-07-13 Goods from the East focuses on the fine product trade's first Global Age how products were made marketed and distributed between Asia and Europe between 1600 and 1800 It brings together established scholars as well as new to provide a full comparative and connective study of this trade

Approaches to Global History Felipe Fernandez-Armesto, 2022-12-15 Choice Outstanding Academic Title 2023 This volume brings together 25 defining texts in global history These pieces cover approaches to the subject from antiquity to the present century and taken together show the development of the discipline providing a solid historiographical theoretical and methodological overview that will be invaluable for students The collection gives a unique sense of how at different times in different cultural circumstances students of the past have approached the problems of encompassing the world in a single narrative or theory This is a reader with an implicit story to unfold Felipe Fernandez Armesto tracks how a global understanding of history originated in prophetic writings how the Renaissance discovery of the world multiplied the opportunities for historians to think about history globally how scientific investigations of change came to exert influence and inspire new thinking among global historians how culture wars ensued between advocates of scientific and culturalist models and how changing contexts in the 20th century produced new thematic approaches to the world as a whole Each part is introduced setting it in context and explaining the impact of its subject matter on the discipline as well as the relations between the texts and their place in the overall development of global history

A Short History of the British Industrial Revolution Emma Griffin, 2018-08-17 The industrial revolution stands out as a key event not simply in British history but in world history ushering in as it did a new era of sustained economic prosperity But what exactly was the industrial revolution And why did it occur in Britain when it did Ever since the expression was coined in the 19th century historians have been debating these questions and there now exists a large and complex historiography concerned with English industrialisation This short history of the British Industrial Revolution aimed at undergraduates sets out to answer these questions It will synthesise the latest research on British industrialisation into an exciting and interesting account of the industrial revolution Deploying clear argument lively language and a fresh set of organising themes this short history revisits one of the most central events in British history in a novel and accessible way This is an ideal text for undergraduate students studying the Industrial Revolution or 19th Century Britain Capitalism, Development and Empowerment of Labour Hartmut Elsenhans, 2021-09-09 The dominant neoliberal approach presents politics and political economy as nuisances which disturb the smooth operation of self regulating markets But political economy is not merely an academic issue it is a class issue and this book forcefully argues that political economy should return to a central position in the study of the social sciences Offering nothing less than a reconciliation of Marxian Keynesian and neoclassical economics the work opens with a discussion of the key interconnected economic concepts which help us to understand capitalism price income profit value growth and crisis Prices reflect income distribution and therefore class relations and the chapters show that the very emergence of capitalism resulted from mass empowerment of the so called lower orders Profit is always available if entrepreneurs spend on net investment and create incomes for additional labour this in turn requires expanding demand and so therefore profit depends on rising mass incomes Conversely underdevelopment is the result of the destitution and disempowerment of the masses In the Global South today it is clear that enormous riches go hand in hand with widespread misery and poverty because the market does not transform wealth into the kind of investment that might benefit all This book argues that the new wealth triggered by productivity increases has enabled the rich to liberate themselves from the capitalist constraints of competition and waste their new wealth in the form of rents The main threat today is in fact the globalisation of rent The text makes a point for a progressive counter strategy capitalist structures that empower labour need to be transferred to the Global South This requires political and economic efforts towards empowering labour in the Global South This book demonstrates the analytical power of political economy for all social scientists and will be invaluable reading for economists political scientists and sociologists in particular The Great Divergence Reconsidered Roman Studer, 2015-01-29 In stark contrast to popular narratives The Great Divergence Reconsidered shows that Europe's rise to an undisputed world economic leader was not the effect of the Industrial Revolution and cannot be explained by coal or colonial exploitation Using a wealth of new historical evidence stretching from the seventeenth to the twentieth century Roman Studer shows that this Great Divergence must be shifted back to the seventeenth century if not earlier Europe was characterized by a more powerful transportation system bigger trade flows larger and better integrated markets higher productivity levels and superior living standards even before the Industrial Revolution brought about far reaching structural changes and made Europe's supremacy even more pronounced While the comparison with Europe draws significantly on

India the central conclusions seem to hold for Asia and indeed the rest of the world more generally An interplay of various factors best explains Europe s early and gradual rise including better institutions favorable geographical features increasing political stability and increasingly rapid advances in science and technology

Global History with Chinese

Characteristics Manuel Perez-Garcia,2020-11-02 This open access book considers a pivotal era in Chinese history from a global perspective This book s insight into Chinese and international history offers timely and challenging perspectives on initiatives like Chinese characteristics The New Silk Road and One Belt One Road in broad historical context Global History with Chinese Characteristics analyses the feeble state capacity of Qing China questioning the so called High Qing sh ng q ng era s economic prosperity as the political system was set into a power paradox or supremacy dilemma This is a new thesis introduced by the author demonstrating that interventionist states entail weak governance Macao and Marseille as a new case study aims to compare Mediterranean and South China markets to provide new insights into both modern eras rising trade networks non official institutions and interventionist impulses of autocratic states such as China s Qing and Spain s Bourbon empires

Sowing Kees Mandemakers,George Alter,Hélène Vézina,Paul Puschmann,2023-08-29 Twenty three major databases containing historical longitudinal population data are presented and discussed in this volume focusing on their aims content design and structure Some of these databases are based on pure longitudinal sources such as population registers that continuously observe and record demographic events including migration and family and household composition Other databases are family reconstitutions based on birth marriage and death records The third and last category consists of semi longitudinal databases that combine for instance civil records and censuses and or tax registers The volume traces the origins of historical longitudinal databases from the 1970s and discusses their expansion worldwide in terms of sources and hard and software The contributions highlight the unique genesis and common developmental arcs of these databases which are rooted in the fields of quantitative history social and demographic history and the history of ordinary people The importance of these databases in advancing knowledge and insights in various disciplines is emphasized and demonstrated along with the challenges and opportunities they face The collection of technical descriptions of these databases represents the most comprehensive and up to date overview of large database with longitudinal micro data on historical populations It includes descriptions of databases from Europe North America East Asia Australia South Africa and Suriname Technical details in terms of data entry cleaning standardization and record linkage are meticulously documented The volume is a must have for all scholars in the field of historical life course studies

India, Modernity and the Great

Divergence Kaveh Yazdani,2017-01-05 India Modernity and the Great Divergence is an original and pioneering book about India s transition towards modernity and the rise of the West The work examines global entanglements alongside the internal dynamics of 17th to 19th century Mysore and Gujarat in comparison to other regions of Afro Eurasia It is an interdisciplinary survey that enriches our historical understanding of South Asia ranging across the fascinating and intertwined worlds of modernizing rulers wealthy merchants curious scholars utopian poets industrious peasants and skilled artisans Bringing together socio economic and political structures warfare techno scientific innovations knowledge production and transfer of ideas this book forces us to rethink the reasons behind the emergence of the modern world Wage Earners in India 1500-1900 Lucassen, Jan, Seshan, Radhika, 2022-01-01 The study of wage levels and the purchasing power of wages is often viewed as a specialized academic topic of little concern to the wider public This is far from being the case as this book demonstrates The study of wages opens up vistas of the daily life of the working people of their standards of living and therefore addresses questions of larger economic developments and unequal power relationships in a region Wage Earners in India 1500 1900 Regional Approaches in an International Context brings together several scholars young and veteran to study new data and reinterpret older data from a fresh methodological perspective to locate India within global economic systems more effectively This book identifies previously unused and unpublished material for the study of wages underlines the importance of wages as a source of income for Indians from early times demonstrates the trends in wages over the period under review stresses the need to take women into account for the reconstruction of household income Orthodox Mercantilism Alex Feldman, 2024-04-02 This book demonstrates how the political economy of mercantilism was not simply a Western invention by various cities and kingdoms during the Renaissance but was the natural by product of perpetually limited growth rates and rulers relentless pursuits of bullion It contributes to discussions of the economic history surrounding the so called Great Divergence between East and West which would consequently lend context and credence to differences of economic thought in the world today Additionally it seeks to explain present economic thought as tacitly derived from implicit antique paradigms This book advances fields of research from numismatics and sigillography to historical materialism and historical political economy Divided into three parts Orthodox Mercantilism first examines the political theology the sovereignty of the cumene from the early 11th century Second it analyzes its peripheral legislation from the customary laws of newly Christianized dynasties up to the Kormaja Kniga's adoption the Nomokanon by 13th century Orthodox dynasties across Eastern Europe Third it explores how these dynasties and their own satellite dynasties hoarded finite bullion to pay for defense resulting in the 11 14th century coinless period across Eastern Europe and Western Eurasia Appealing to students and scholars alike this book will be of interest to those studying and researching economic and mercantile history particularly in the context of Byzantine and Eastern European societies Similarity in Difference Christer Lundh, Satomi Kurosu, 2014-12-12 A study of marriage in preindustrial Europe and Asia that goes beyond the Malthusian East West dichotomy to find variation within regions and commonality across regions Since Malthus an East West dichotomy has been used to characterize marriage behavior in Asia and Europe Marriages in Asia were said to be early and universal in Europe late and non universal In Europe marriages were supposed to be the result of individual choices but in Asia decided by families and communities This book challenges this binary taxonomy of marriage patterns and family systems

Drawing on richer and more nuanced data the authors compare the interpretations based on aggregate demographic patterns with studies of individual actions in local populations Doing so they are able to analyze simultaneously the influence on marriage decisions of individual demographic features socioeconomic status and composition of the household and local conditions and the interactions of these variables They find differences between East and West but also variation within regions and commonality across regions The book studies local populations in Sweden Belgium Italy Japan and China Rather than a simple comparison of aggregate marriage patterns it examines marriage outcomes and determinants of local populations in different countries using similar data and methods The authors first present the results of comparative analyses of first marriage and remarriage and then offer chapters each of which is devoted to the results from a specific country Similarity in Difference is the third in a prizewinning series on the demographic history of Eurasia following Life under Pressure 2004 and Prudence and Pressure 2009 both published by the MIT Press
