Our Bodies, Our Crimes Jeanne Flavin, 2010-03-01 Drawing on surveys and interviews with almost 300 female military personnel Melissa Herbert explores how women s everyday actions such as choice of uniform hobby or social activity involve the creation and re creation of what it means to be a woman and particularly a woman soldier Do women feel pressured to be more masculine to convey that they are not a threat to men s jobs or status and to avoid being perceived as lesbians She also examines the role of gender and sexuality in the maintenance of the male defined military institution proposing that more than sexual harassment or individual discrimination it is the military s masculine ideology which views military service as the domain of men and as a mechanism for the achievement of manhood which serves to limit women s participation in the military has increased dramatically In the wake of armed conflict involving female military personnel and several sexual misconduct scandals much attention has focused on what life is like for women in the armed services Few however have examined how these women negotiate an environment that has been structured and defined as masculine

Investigating Families Kelley Fong, 2023-10-10 How our reliance on Child Protective Services makes motherhood precarious for those already marginalized It's the knock on the door that many mothers fear a visit from Child Protective Services CPS the state agency with the power to take their children away Over the last half century these encounters have become an all too common way of trying to address family poverty and adversity One in three children nationwide and half of Black children now encounter CPS during childhood In Investigating Families Kelley Fong provides an unprecedented look at the inner workings of CPS and the experiences of families pulled into its orbit Drawing on firsthand observations of CPS investigations and hundreds of interviews with those involved Fong traces the implications of invoking CPS as a first responder to family misfortune and hardship She shows how relying on CPS an entity fundamentally oriented around parental wrongdoing and empowered to separate families organizes the response to adversity around surveilling assessing and correcting marginalized mothers The agency's far reaching investigative apparatus undermines mothers sense of security and shapes how they marshal resources for their families reinforcing existing inequalities And even before CPS comes knocking mothers feel vulnerable to a system that jeopardizes their parenthood Countering the usual narratives of punitive villains and hapless victims Fong's unique behind the scenes account tells a revealing story of how we try to protect children by threatening mothers and points the way to a more productive path for families facing adversity Trapped in a Maze Leslie Paik, 2021-08-17 Trapped in a Maze provides a window into families lived experiences in poverty by looking at their complex interactions with institutions such as welfare hospitals courts housing and schools Families are more intertwined with institutions than ever as they struggle to maintain their eligibility for services and face the possibility that involvement with one institution could trigger other types of institutional oversight Many poor families find themselves trapped in a multi institutional maze stuck in between several systems with no clear path to resolution Tracing the complex and often unpredictable journeys of families in this maze this book reveals how the formal rationality by which these institutions ostensibly operate undercuts what they can actually achieve And worse it demonstrates how involvement with multiple institutions can perpetuate the conditions of poverty that these families are fighting to escape
