of Anxiety Luke Howie, Perri Campbell, 2017-04-20 This book confronts the issues young people face growing up in the confusion and anxiety of today's highly global society Young people face their futures consumed with feelings of doubt uncertainty and ambivalence The Global Financial Crisis and the rise of the Islamic State means young people are transitioning into adulthood in a time that we call an age of anxiety They may be the first generation to have fewer opportunities than their parents yet despite this they are learning to imagine other kinds of futures These are futures where economic collapse provides opportunities for entrepreneurialism and innovation where Islamic State does not need to pose a clear and present danger and where political action provides hope for a better world Dealing with the current political and economic climate and progressive campaigns such as Black Lives Matter Howie and Campbell tackle some of the biggest threats to the future of society An innovative and wide reaching study this book will be of particular interest to scholars of human geography disaster studies politics and sociology      The History of Genocide in Cinema Jonathan

Friedman, William Hewitt, 2016-10-27 The organization Genocide Watch estimates that 100 million civilians around the globe have lost their lives as a result of genocide in only the past sixty years Over the same period the visual arts in the form of documentary footage has aided international efforts to document genocide and prosecute those responsible but this book argues that fictional representation occupies an equally important and problematic place in the process of shaping minds on the subject Edited by two of the leading experts in the field The History of Genocide in Cinema analyzes fictional and semi-fictional portrayals of genocide focusing on amongst others the repression of indigenous populations in Australia the genocide of Native Americans in the 19th century the Herero genocide Armenia the Holodomor Stalin's policy of starvation in Ukraine the Nazi Holocaust Nanking and Darfur Comprehensive and unique in its focus on fiction films as opposed to documentaries The History of Genocide in Cinema is an essential resource for students and researchers in the fields of cultural history holocaust studies and the history of film

Radical Visions Vicente F. Gotera, 1994 Although poets have written about warfare since at least the time of Homer the Vietnam war has struck many observers as being immune to the interpretations of poetry and myth Lyric poetry of a traditional kind writes one critic has proved inappropriate to communicate the character of the Vietnam war its remoteness its jargonized recapitulations its seeming imperviousness to aesthetics Nonetheless the past two decades have seen an unprecedented outpouring of poetry that seeks to describe and come to terms with that bitterly divisive conflict In Radical Visions Vince Gotera argues that poetry written by Vietnam veterans underlines the failure of traditional American myths to help Americans understand the war and its aftermath The book blends sociohistorical commentary with close readings of individual works by such poets as Michael Casey Walter McDonald and W D Ehrhart In the book's first section The Nam Gotera examines several key mythic structures the Wild West a violent extension of the mythic virgin land the machine in the garden the city on the hill regeneration through violence all of which helped delude Americans about Vietnam and the war being fought there In the second part The World Gotera shows how another myth the American Adam as an exemplar of ahistorical innocence proved unusable for returning veterans attempting to readjust to American life In addition to exposing these failed myths Gotera argues the poetry by Vietnam veterans reflects an effort to construct new myths most notably that of the warrior against war an oxymoronic structure arising from the difficulties faced by returning veterans In the book's final chapters Gotera examines the work of Bruce Weigl and Yusef Komunyakaa two poets whom the author considers most successful at portraying the moral absurdity of the Vietnam war without sacrificing lyrical aesthetics The first comprehensive study devoted exclusively to poetry by Vietnam veterans Radical Visions argues that this body of writing registers an important advance in the aesthetics and poetics of war literature and offers a cogent antiwar statement rooted in personal experience

The Fall Of The Dynasties Edmond Taylor, 2016-10-21 Originally published in 1963 The Fall of the Dynasties covers the period from 1905 to 1922 when the four ruling houses the Habsburg Hohenzollern Ottoman and Romanov crumbled and fell destroying old alliances and obliterating old boundaries World War I was precipitated by their decay and their splintered baroque rubble proved to be a treacherous base for the new nations that emerged from the war All convulsions of the last half century Taylor writes stem back to

Sarajevo the two World Wars the Bolshevik revolution the rise and fall of Hitler and the ongoing turmoil in the Middle East Millions upon millions of deaths can be traced to one or another of these upheavals all of us who survive have been scarred at least emotionally by them In this classic volume Taylor traces the origins of the dynasties whose collapse brought the old order crashing down and the events leading to their astonishingly swift downfall Includes numerous maps and genealogical charts Popular history of the finest sort an excellent book worthy to rank with Barbara Tuchman s The Guns of August and Alan Moorehead s Gallipoli The New York Times

The American Woman Playwright Judith Olauson, 1981 This study focuses on the plays of selected American women dramatists from 1930 to 1970 and traces the evolution of this special group of writers from traditional drama to experimental work A review of critical attitudes reveals the degree of acceptability by critics of women playwrights and the relation of women playwrights to that acceptance How these writers view themselves in terms of female universal types is also examined

Seasons of Hope James Bartleman, 2016-04-16 James Bartleman looks back over a life that has brought him from an impoverished Native childhood to serving as an ambassador and as lieutenant governor of Ontario From a global career through bottomless depression to his crowning achievements promoting Native education in Canada Bartleman tells his incredible story in his own words
