Flawed Dogs:

Flawed Dogs: the Novel Berkeley Breathed, 2017-03-07 Pulitzer Prize winning Berkeley Breathed's first illustrated novel about a group of unlikely underdogs. Breathed through words and lush illustrations tells a story that will charm many readers. The New York Times. Sam the Lion is actually a priceless dachshund bred to be a show dog. More important he is Heidy's best friend and she needs one like never before. Living with her reclusive uncle is hard but Sam has a way of making her feel soft and whole. Until the day Sam is framed by the jealous poodle Cassius and is cast out by Heidy's uncle alone on the wild streets where he is roughed up by a world he was not bred for. Sporting a soup ladle for a leg Sam befriends other abandoned dogs and journeys all the way to the Westminster Dog Show where his plan for revenge on Cassius takes an unexpected turn when he and Heidy spot each other after years of being apart.

The Dogs of Proud Spirit Melanie Sue Bowles, 2016-02-01 What does an unlikely pack of stray and homeless dogs have in common with a certain herd of downtrodden horses? They were all lucky enough to wind up in the loving arms of Melanie Sue Bowles and her husband Jim, founders of Proud Spirit Horse Sanctuary. Author Melanie Sue Bowles introduced readers to this extraordinary place of healing in her debut book The Horses of Proud Spirit and in the inspiring sequel Hoof Prints: More Stories from Proud Spirit. Now Melanie graces readers once again with unforgettable true stories this time about the numerous dogs who have found their way to the Bowles's gate and into their hearts. There's the story of the three beagle mix girls Trixie, Trudi, and Daisy found by the side of the road when they were only days old. Then there are the Corgis with their stout little bodies and rambunctious personalities. They weren't perfect so their previous owners had no use for them. But now Kitty, Tucker, Kirby, and Cricket have a forever home at a place called Proud Spirit. The Dogs of Proud Spirit is a testament to the undeniable truth that animals enrich our lives. They give us and teach us to give boundless joy and unconditional love. Next in series. See all of the books in this series.

Dogopolis Chris Pearson, 2024-05-31 Dogopolis presents a surprising source for urban innovation in the history of three major cities: human-canine relationships. Stroll through any American or European city today and you probably won't get far before seeing a dog being taken for a walk. It's expected that these domesticated animals can easily navigate sidewalks, streets, and other foundational elements of our built environment. But what if our cities were actually shaped in response to dogs more than we ever realized? Chris Pearson's Dogopolis boldly and convincingly asserts that human-canine relations were a crucial factor in the formation of modern urban living. Focusing on New York, London, and Paris from the early nineteenth century into the 1930s, Pearson shows that human reactions to dogs significantly remolded them and other contemporary western cities. It's an unalterable fact that dogs, often filthy, bellicose, and sometimes off-putting, run, spread rabies, defecate, and breed wherever they like. So as dogs became more and more common in nineteenth-century middle-class life, cities had to respond to people's fear of them and revulsion at their least desirable traits. The gradual integration of dogs into city life centered on disgust at dirt, fear of crime and vagrancy, and the promotion of humanitarian sentiments. On the other hand, dogs are some people's most beloved animal companions, and human compassion and affection for pets and strays were equally powerful forces in shaping urban modernity. Dogopolis details the complex interrelations among emotions, sentiment, and the ways we manifest our feelings toward what we love, showing that together they can actually reshape society.

Lives Charles P. Lamb, 2002-02-28 Lives is a collection of short stories, memoirs, poems, and essays by members of the Soundwriters. Most of the authors in this book were part of the Lost Generation that grew up sandwiched between World War II and Viet Nam. With one exception, none were the glamorized heroes or heroines, the warriors and production workers of the Greatest Generation. In fact, most were still growing up when the bomb was dropped at Hiroshima. But they remember family characters, trials, and tribulations of youth, coming of age, winning and losing, the poverty during the Great Depression, the struggles of families to escape persecution, blackouts, and rationing, the atomic age, a forgotten war in Korea, and the continuing struggle. More importantly, perhaps, they recognize the joys and sorrows of living, the impact of key decisions, dealing with the health and death of a loved one, and the dynamics and satisfaction of aging. Each has had a career, raised a family, and faced adversity. All have been moved by their passions and emotions. Some looked to their heritage for strength or inspiration; others became spiritual. All have continued to absorb a world of changes and challenges, most recently computer literacy and line dancing. They are from a wide range of backgrounds, from a Cuban emigrant to a Son of the Revolution, from a daughter of the Nebraska plains to a Hungarian Jew from the Bronx. Among the eight are a Roman Catholic conservative and secular Jew, a humanist, and a member of the Friends Society. Their lives have been tempered by the Holocaust, the devastation of alcoholic relatives, divorce, war, nature, family disputes, self-doubt, prejudice, and sometimes unrequited love, and strengthened by the simple joys of accomplishment and growth, a sincere belief in God, love, romance, and just being here. Each has written about a unique set of experiences. Their stories reveal a sensitive appreciation for life, warts and all. Some of the work is remembered history, some fictitious memoirs, some fiction, and the rest, essays on life. But it is the voice of the author, the storyteller, and the visions conjured up that will make the reader laugh or cry truly believe the work or find it incredulous Those who keep in mind that each story started with a memory will find much to reflect upon Excerpts from the stories We all went to bed exhausted but were soon awakened by the sound of shouting and noises in the street We ran to the window and looked out We couldnt believe what we saw and heard Groups of men some carrying torches were hurling bricks and rocks at the windows of stores owned by Jews Shattered glass was everywhere and beyond the buildings on our street fires lighted up the sky We looked at one another in unbelievable fright We wondered would we ever get out of Fuerth What would our life be like from now on We held one another and prayed to God to protect us An Unforgettable Night Helen Wallerstein She clutched at my face raking my cheek with a nail There was a silent second before she stepped back dropped her head mumbled an apology and turned away I stood there dumbfounded A plane was missing over the Sea of Japan There was no word on survivors Nothing I could say would make any difference Suddenly I felt overwhelmed The trembling urgent grip that shook me to a standstill the image of her face burned into my memory More importantly I knew I had blown it completely At Kimpo Air Force Base I had steeled myself in a priestly ritual before confronting the body bags and the pale faces of wounded marines But hours of training and enforced self discipline had not prepared me to react to random raw reality Earned Leave Charles P Lamb Her death represented the end of an era almost Now only one member of the 20 Knerl Hunsberger siblings remained Uncle Victor the youngest of Mothers siblings His death in 1998 closed a chapter of our f

Dogs have been mankind's faithful companions for tens of thousands of years yet today they are regularly treated as either pack following wolves or furry humans. The truth is dogs are neither and our misunderstanding has put them in serious crisis. What dogs really need is a spokesperson someone who will assert their specific needs. Renowned anthrozoologist Dr John Bradshaw has made a career of studying human animal interactions and in Dog Sense he uses the latest scientific research to show how humans can live in harmony with not just dominion over their four legged friends. From explaining why positive reinforcement is a more effective and less damaging way to control dogs behavior than punishment to demonstrating the importance of weighing a dog's unique personality against stereotypes about its breed Bradshaw offers extraordinary insight into the question of how we really ought to treat our dogs.

British Training for American Retrievers Vic

Barlow, 2014-07-12 There has long been a disconnect between the retriever training methods in the United Kingdom and in North America. British Retriever Trials are primarily a test of the dog's skill as a game finder while American Field Trials are a test of the handling techniques of the owner. The Brits teach their dogs to find every bird while American handlers are training for an event in which tracking cripples plays no part. The British manner for many American and Canadian hunters makes more sense to them on a day to day basis because its aim is to produce a finished gun dog who is steady, quiet and reliable in the field.
