Kanzi The Ape At The Brink Of The Human Mind:

Kanzi Sue Savage-Rumbaugh, 1996-09-01 The remarkable story of a talking chimp a leading scientist and the profound insights they have uncovered about our species He has been featured in cover stories in Time Newsweek and National Geographic and has been the subject of a NOVA documentary He is directly responsible for discoveries that have forced the scientific community to recast its thinking about the nature of the mind and the origins of language He is Kanzi an extraordinary bonobo chimpanzee who has overturned the idea that symbolic language is unique to our species This is the moving story of how Kanzi learned to converse with humans and the profound lessons he has taught us about our animal cousins and ourselves The underlying thesis is informative and well argued Savage Rumbaugh s results are impressive The Washington Post This popular absorbing and controversial account is recommended Library Journal Kanzi E. Sue Savage-Rumbaugh, Roger Lewin, 1994 Dialogues on the Human Ape Laurent Dubreuil, Sue Savage-Rumbaugh, 2018-12-25 A primatologist and a humanist together explore the meaning of being a human animal Humanness is typically defined by our capacity for language and abstract thinking Yet decades of research led by the primatologist Sue Savage Rumbaugh has shown that chimpanzees and bonobos can acquire human language through signing and technology Drawing on this research Dialogues of the Human Ape brings Savage Rumbaugh into conversation with the philosopher Laurent Dubreuil to explore the theoretical and practical dimensions of what being a human animal means In their use of dialogue as the primary mode of philosophical and scientific inquiry the authors transcend the rigidity of scientific and humanist discourses offering a powerful model for the dissemination of speculative hypotheses and open ended debates grounded in scientific research Arguing that being human is an epigenetically driven process rather than a fixed characteristic rooted in genetics or culture this book suggests that while humanness may not be possible in every species it can emerge in certain supposedly nonhuman species Moving beyond irrational critiques of ape consciousness that are motivated by arrogant anthropocentric views Dialogues on the Human Ape instead takes seriously the continuities between the ape mind and the human mind addressing why language matters to consciousness free will and the formation of the human animal self The Intersubjective Mirror in Infant Learning and Evolution of Speech Stein Bråten, 2009 The Intersubjective Mirror in Infant Learning and Evolution of Speech illustrates how recent findings about primary intersubjectivity participant perception and mirror neurons afford a new understanding of children s nature dialogue and language Based on recent infancy research and the mirror neurons discovery studies of early speech perception comparative primate studies and computer simulations of language evolution this book offers replies to questions as When and how may spoken language have emerged How is it that infants so soon after birth become so efficient in their speech perception What enables 11 month olds to afford and reciprocate care What are the steps from infant imitation and simulation of body movements to simulation of mind in conversation partners Stein Braten is founder and chair of the Theory Forum network with some of the world s leading infancy primate and brain

The Cry of Nature Stephen F. Eisenman, 2013-10-15 The eighteenth century saw the rise of new and more sympathetic understanding of animals as philosophy literature and art argued that animals could feel and therefore possess inalienable rights This idea gave birth to a diverse movement that affects how we understand our relationship to the natural world The Cry of Nature details a crucial period in the history of this movement revealing the significant role art played in the growth of animal rights Stephen F Eisenman shows how artists from William Hogarth to Pablo Picasso and Sue Coe have represented the suffering chastisement and execution of animals These artists he demonstrates illustrate the lessons of Montaigne Rousseau Darwin Freud and others that humans and animals share an evolutionary heritage of sentience intelligence and empathy and thus animals deserve equal access to the domain of moral right Eisenman also traces the roots of speciesism to the classical world and describes the social role of animals in the demand for emancipation Instructive challenging and always engaging The Cry of Nature is a book for anyone interested in animal rights art history and the history of ideas

Displaying Death and Animating Life Jane C. Desmond, 2016-08-18 The number of ways in which humans interact with animals is almost incalculable From beloved household pets to the steak on our dinner tables the fur in our closets to the Babar books on our shelves taxidermy exhibits to local zoos humans have complex deep and dependent relationships with the animals in our ecosystems In Displaying Death and Animating Life Jane C Desmond puts those human animal relationships under a multidisciplinary lens focusing on the less obvious and revealing the individualities and subjectivities of the real animals in our everyday lives Desmond a pioneer in the field of animal studies builds the book on a number of case studies She conducts research on site at major museums taxidermy conventions pet cemeteries and even at a professional conference for writers of obituaries She goes behind the scenes at zoos wildlife clinics and meetings of pet cemetery professionals We journey with her as she meets Kanzi the bonobo artist and a host of other animal artists all of whom are preparing their artwork for auction Throughout Desmond moves from a consideration of the visual display of unindividuated animals to mourning for known animals and finally to the marketing of artwork by individual animals The first book in the new Animal Lives series Displaying Death and Animating Life is a landmark study bridging disciplines and reaching across divisions from the humanities and social sciences to chart new territories of investigation

Language, Ethics and Animal Life Niklas Forsberg, Mikel Burley, Nora Hamalainen, 2012-10-11 New research into human and animal consciousness a heightened awareness of the methods and consequences of intensive farming and modern concerns about animal welfare and ecology are among the factors that have made our relationship to animals an area of burning interest in contemporary philosophy Utilizing methods inspired by Ludwig Wittgenstein the contributors to this volume explore this area in a variety of ways Topics discussed include scientific vs non scientific ways of describing human and animal behaviour the ethics of eating particular animal species human nature emotions and instinctive reactions responses of wonder towards the natural world the moral relevance of literature the concept of dignity and the question whether non human animals can use language This book will be of great value to anyone interested in philosophical and interdisciplinary issues concerning language ethics and humanity's relation to animals and the natural world Not a Chimp, 2010-05-27 Humans are primates and our closest relatives are the other African apes chimpanzees closest of all With the mapping of the human genome and that of the chimp a direct comparison of the differences between the two letter by letter along the billions of As Gs Cs and Ts of the DNA code has led to the widely vaunted claim that we differ from chimps by a mere 1.6% of our genetic code A mere hair's breadth genetically To a rather older tradition of anthropomorphizing chimps trying to get them to speak dressing them up for tea parties was added the stamp of genetic confirmation It also began an international race to find that handful of genes that make up the difference the genes that make us uniquely human But what does that 1.6% really mean And should it really lead us to consider extending limited human rights to chimps as some have suggested Are we after all just chimps with a few genetic tweaks Is our language and our technology just an extension of the grunts and ant collecting sticks of chimps In this book Jeremy Taylor sketches the picture that is emerging from cutting edge research in genetics animal behaviour and other fields The indications are that the so called 1.6% is much larger and leads to profound differences between the two species We shared a common ancestor with chimps some 6.7 million years ago but we humans have been racing away ever since One in ten of our genes says Taylor has undergone evolution in the past 40 000 years Some of the changes that happened since we split from chimpanzees are to genes that control the way whole orchestras of other genes are switched on and off and where Taylor shows using studies of certain genes now associated with speech and with brain development and activity that the story looks to be much more complicated than we first thought This rapidly changing and exciting field has recently discovered a host of genetic mechanisms that make us different from other apes As Taylor points out for too long we have let our sentimentality for chimps get in the way of our understanding Chimps use tools but so do crows Certainly chimps are our closest genetic relatives But relatively small differences in genetic code can lead to profound differences in cognition and behaviour Our abilities give us the responsibility to protect and preserve the natural world including endangered primates But for the purposes of human society and human concepts such as rights let's not pretend that chimps are humans uneducated and undressed We've changed a lot in those 12 million years The Metaphysics of Apes

Raymond Corbey, 2005-03-14 This book traces the discovery and interpretation of the human like great apes and shows how the taboo ridden animal human boundary was challenged Contemporary Influences of C. G. Jung's Thought

Andrew Kuzmicki, Ilona Błocian, 2018-11-26 The book is a volume of the collected works of sixteen different authors They reflect the contemporary meaning of C G Jung's theory on many fields of scientific activity and in a different cultural context Japanese South American and North American as well as European English Italian and Polish The authors consider a specific milieu of Jung's theory and his influence or possible dialogue with contemporary ideas and scientific activity A major task of the book will be to outline the contemporary direct or indirect usefulness and applicability of Jung's ideas at the beginning of the twenty first century while simultaneously making a critical review of this theory Landmarks in Linguistic Thought II John Earl Joseph, Nigel Love, Talbot J. Taylor, 2001 Following Landmarks in Linguistic Thought I this second volume introduces the key thinkers in linguistics in the 20th century including Chomsky Derrida Orwell Sapir Whorf and Wittgenstein Origins of Mind Liz Swan, 2012-12-22 The big question of how and why mindedness evolved necessitates collaborative multidisciplinary investigation Biosemiotics provides a new conceptual space that attracts a multitude of thinkers in the biological and cognitive sciences and the humanities who recognize continuity in the biosphere from the simplest to the most complex organisms and who are united in the project of trying to account for even language and human consciousness in this comprehensive picture of life The young interdiscipline of biosemiotics has so far by and large focused on codes signs and sign processes in the microworld a fact that reflects the field's strong representation in microbiology and embryology What philosophers of mind and cognitive scientists can contribute to the growing interdiscipline are insights into how the biosemiotic weltanschauung applies to complex organisms like humans where such signs and sign processes constitute human society and culture The Animal Mind Kristin Andrews, 2014-10-30 The study of animal cognition raises profound questions about the minds of animals and philosophy of mind itself Aristotle argued that humans are the only animal to laugh but in recent experiments rats have also been shown to laugh In other experiments dogs have been shown to respond appropriately to over two hundred words in human language In this introduction to the philosophy of animal minds Kristin Andrews introduces and assesses the essential topics problems and debates as they cut across animal cognition and philosophy of mind She addresses the following key topics what is cognition and what is it to have a mind What questions should we ask to determine whether behaviour has a cognitive basis the science of animal minds explained ethology behaviourist psychology and cognitive ethology rationality in animals animal consciousness what does research into pain and the emotions reveal What can empirical evidence about animal behaviour tell us about philosophical theories of consciousness does animal cognition involve belief and concepts do animals have a Language of Thought animal communication other minds do animals attribute mindedness to other creatures moral reasoning and ethical behaviour in animals animal cognition and memory Extensive use of empirical examples and case studies is made throughout the book These include Cheney and Seyfarth's vervet monkey research Thorndike's cat puzzle boxes Jensen's research into humans and chimpanzees and the ultimatum game Pankseep and Burgdorf's research on rat laughter and Clayton and Emery's research on memory in scrub jays Additional features such as chapter summaries annotated further reading and a glossary make this an indispensable introduction to those teaching philosophy of mind animal cognition It will also be an excellent resource for those in fields such as ethology biology and psychology Templeton Science and Religion Book Series Bundle J. range of fields distill their experience and knowledge into brief tours of their respective specialties The series was launched in 2008 with the publication of Harold G Koenig s book Medicine Religion and Health Since that time the series editors J Wentzel van Huyssteen and Khalil Chamcham have expanded it to nine titles covering everything from paleontology to neuroscience to technology Also found in the bundle is the TSR Reader and a companion study guide The books found in the bundle are Medicine Religion and Health by Harold G Koenig Neuroscience Psychology and Religion by Malcolm Jeeves and Warren Brown Technology and Religion by Noreen Herzfeld Horizons of Cosmology by Joseph Silk Paleontology by Ian Tattersall Cognitive Science Religion and Theology by Justin L Barrett Ecology and the Environment by R J Berry The Language of Genetics by Denis Alexander Mathematics and Religion by Javier Leach The Templeton Science and Religion Reader The Templeton Science and Religion Study Guide This bundle is only sold in e book format

The Templeton Science and Religion Reader J. Wetzel van Huyssteen,Khalil Chamcham,2012-11-01 Our attempts to understand the world around us are greatly advanced by scientific research which holds nearly unlimited potential to address our questions of what and how Some scientific fields however seem to take a hands off approach to the big question of why Why does the universe work the way it does Why do our brains make us think certain thoughts or feel certain sensations Why did we evolve the way we did Some fundamental scientific understanding is necessary before one can venture too deeply into these types of inquiries which almost inevitably involve larger philosophical and theological implications The Templeton Science and Religion Reader invites readers to explore some of these fascinating questions and offers them the kind of knowledge they ll need in order to seriously consider possible answers In the Templeton Science and Religion Series scientific experts from a wide range of fields have distilled their experience and knowledge into brief tours of their respective specialties The series was launched in 2008 with the publication of the inaugural volume Medicine Religion and Health Since that time the series editors J Wentzel van Huyssteen and Khalil Chamcham have expanded it to nine titles covering everything from paleontology to neuroscience to technology Now in The Templeton Science and Religion Reader the editors have gathered together the very best chapters from these volumes into a single edited collection These chapters presuppose no scientific background and are designed to be accessible to the general reader Each section may have a different focus a quantum a star in a galaxy a bee or the seat of human intelligence which some may call the soul but the editors have done a great service to the reader by juxtaposing these subjects in a way that suggests how each one relates to other entities including both its own kind and the wider global environment The end result is a truly cohesive collection that will both broaden and deepen our understanding of these interconnected relations and in turn the world around us Contributors include Denis R Alexander Justin L Barrett R J Berry Warren S Brown Noreen Herzfeld Malcom Jeeves Harold G Koenig Javier Leach Joseph Silk and Ian Tattersall
