How to Belong Belinda A. Stillion Southard, 2018-10-05 In How to Belong Belinda Stillion Southard examines how women leaders throughout the world have asserted their rhetorical agency in troubling economic social and political conditions Rather than utilizing the concept of citizenship to bolster political influence the women in the case studies presented here rely on the power of relationships to create a more habitable world With the rise of global capitalism many nation states that have profited from invigorated flows of capital have also responded to the threat of increased human mobility by heightening national citizenship's exclusionary power Through a series of case studies that include women grassroots protesters a woman president and a woman United Nations director Stillion Southard analyzes several examples of women all as embodied subjects in a particular transnational context pushing back against this often violent rise in nationalist rhetoric While scholars have typically used the concept of citizenship to explain what it means to belong Stillion Southard instead shows how these women have reimagined belonging in ways that have enabled them to create national regional and global communities As part of a broader conversation centered on exposing the violence of national citizenship and proposing ways of rejecting that violence this book seeks to provide answers through the powerful rhetorical practices of resilient and inspiring women who have successfully negotiated what it means to belong to be included and to enact change beyond the boundaries of citizenship

The Natural Resources Trap Federico Sturzenegger,2010 Volatility in commodity prices has been accompanied by perpetual renegotiation of contracts between private investors in natural resource production and the governments of states with mineral and energy wealth When prices skyrocket governments want a larger share of revenues sometimes to the point of nationalization or expropriation when prices fall larger state participation becomes a burden and the private sector is called back in Recent and newsworthy changes in the price of oil which fell from an all time high of 147 in mid 2008 to 40 by year's end are notable for their speed and the steepness of their rise and fall but the up and down pattern itself is not unusual If the unpredictability of commodity prices is so predictable why do contracts not allow for this with mechanisms that would provide a more stable commercial framework start of an enduring new era Was collaboration or resistance the wisest response to occupation How far should solidarity and empathy extend And where was God People desperately tried to understand the horrors around them but the stories they told themselves often justified a selfish indifference to their neighbors fates Piecing together the broken words of the war s witnesses and victims Fritzsche offers a haunting picture of the most violent conflict in modern history
