Karel Tiege 1900 1951 Lenfant Terrible L:

Karel Teige Karel Teige, Karel Srp, 2001 Known mainly as a critic and organizer of events on the Czech art scene of the 1920s Karel Teige was also a leading figure of the avant garde group Devetsil and a member of the Prague Surrealists Between 1934 and his premature death in 1951 he privately produced nearly 400 collages many of which are reproduced here as a testament to their vital role in the history of European Surrealism The New Typography in Scandinavia

Trond Klevgaard, 2020-10-15 This is the first monograph on Scandinavia's New Typography It provides a detailed account of the movement's lifespan in the region from the 1920s up until the 1940s when it was largely incorporated into mainstream practice The book begins by tracing how the New Typography from its origins in the central and eastern European avant garde arrived in Scandinavia It considers the movement's transformative impact on printing detailing the cultural and technological reasons why its ability to act as a modernising force varied between different professional groups The last two chapters look at how New Typography related to Scandinavian society more widely by looking at its ties to functionalism and social democracy paving the way for a discussion of the reciprocal relationship between the culture of practitioners and the cultural work performed through their practice Based on archival research undertaken at a number of Scandinavian institutions the book brings a wealth of previously unpublished visual material to light and provides a fresh perspective on a movement of central and enduring importance to graphic design history and practice Manufacturing a Socialist

Modernity Kimberly Elman Zarecor, 2011-04-10 Eastern European prefabricated housing blocks are often vilified as the visible manifestations of everything that was wrong with state socialism For many inside and outside the region the uniformity of these buildings became symbols of the dullness and drudgery of everyday life Manufacturing a Socialist Modernity complicates this common perception Analyzing the cultural intellectual and professional debates surrounding the construction of mass housing in early postwar Czechoslovakia Zarecor shows that these housing blocks served an essential function in the planned economy and reflected an interwar aesthetic derived from constructivism and functionalism that carried forward into the 1950s With a focus on prefabricated and standardized housing built from 1945 to 1960 Zarecor offers broad and innovative insights into the country's transition from capitalism to state socialism She demonstrates that during this shift architects and engineers consistently strove to meet the needs of Czechs and Slovaks despite challenging economic conditions a lack of material resources and manufacturing and technological limitations In the process architects were asked to put aside their individual creative aspirations and transform themselves into technicians and industrial producers Manufacturing a Socialist Modernity is the first comprehensive history of architectural practice and the emergence of prefabricated housing in the Eastern Bloc Through discussions of individual architects and projects as well as building typologies professional associations and institutional organization it opens a rare window into the cultural and economic life of Eastern Europe during the early postwar period The Optimum Imperative: Czech Architecture for the Socialist Lifestyle, 1938-1968 Ana Miljacki, 2017-02-03 The Optimum Imperative examines architecture's multiple entanglements within the problematics of Socialist lifestyle in postwar Czechoslovakia. Situated in the period loosely bracketed by the signing of the Munich accords in 1938 which affected Czechoslovakia's entrance into World War II and the Warsaw Pact troops' occupation of Prague in 1968, the book investigates three decades of Czech architecture, highlighting a diverse cast of protagonists. Key among them are the theorist and architect Karel Honzík and a small group of his colleagues in the Club for the Study of Consumption, the award-winning Czechoslovak Pavilion at the 1958 World Expo in Brussels, and SIAL, a group of architects from Liberec that emerged from the national network of Stavoprojekt offices during the reform years only to be subsumed back into it in the wake of Czechoslovak normalization. This episodic approach enables a long view of the way that the project of constructing Socialism was made disciplinarily specific for architecture through the constant interpretation of Socialist lifestyle both as a narrative framework and as a historical goal. Without sanitizing history of its absurd contortions in discourse and in daily life, the book takes as its subject the complex and dynamic relationships between Cold War politics, state power, disciplinary legitimating narratives, and Czech architects' optimism for Socialism. It proposes that these key dimensions of practicing architecture and building Socialism were intertwined and even commensurate at times through the framework of Socialist lifestyle.

Karel Teige, 1900-1951 Eric Dluhosch, Rostislav Švácha, 1999 When the Communists took over Czechoslovakia in 1948, Teige was first hailed as a progressive, then denounced for not toeing the party line, even though he was never a card-carrying member of the Communist Party. He died a broken man, forbidden to speak out or to publish. Since the recovery of his work after the velvet revolution of 1989, his legacy has been revived, not only in Prague but also in Western Europe and the United States.

BOOK JACKET The Oxford Critical and Cultural History of Modernist Magazines Peter Brooker, Andrew Thacker, 2009 A study of the role of little magazines and their contribution to the making of artistic modernism and the avant garde across Europe, this volume is a major scholarly achievement of immense value to those interested in material culture of the 20th century.

Rethinking the Power of Maps Denis Wood, 2010-04-16 A contemporary follow-up to the groundbreaking Power of Maps, this book takes a fresh look at what maps do, whose interests they serve, and how they can be used in surprising, creative, and radical ways. Denis Wood describes how cartography facilitated the rise of the modern state and how maps continue to embody and project the interests of their creators. He demystifies the hidden assumptions of mapmaking and explores the promises and limitations of diverse counter-mapping practices today. Thought-provoking illustrations include U.S. Geological Survey maps, electoral and transportation maps, and numerous examples of critical cartography, participatory GIS, and map art.

When Buildings Speak Anthony Alofsin, 2006 The canonical inventors of International Style have long dominated studies of modern European architecture. But in this text, Anthony Alofsin broadens this scope by exploring the rich yet overlooked architecture of the late Austro-Hungarian Empire and its successor states.

Surrealism and Photography in Czechoslovakia Krzysztof

Fijalkowski,2017-07-05 Surrealism and Photography in Czechoslovakia On the Needles of Days sheds much needed light on the location of the greatest concentration of Surrealist photography and examines the culture and tradition within which it has taken root and flourished The volume explores a rich and important artistic output very little of which has been seen outside of its land of origin Based on extensive research at museums in Prague and Brno and many conversations with participants in and historians of the movement Krzysztof Fijalkowski Michael Richardson and Ian Walker analyse how this photographic work has developed cohesively and rigorously from the beginnings of Czech Surrealism in 1934 to the intriguing researches of the present day Czech and Slovak Surrealist group by way of mysterious veiled responses to the repressive contexts with which they were faced from the 1950s to the 1980s The main chapters ordered chronologically are intersected with shorter texts examining specific works The reader will find in this volume images that present challenges to our understanding of how photographic work has been used within surrealism pinpointing individual pictures whose dynamic charge may induce instants of compelling interrogation and disruption Avant-garde to New Wave Jonathan L.

Owen,2013-02-01 The cultural liberalization of communist Czechoslovakia in the 1960s produced many artistic accomplishments not least the celebrated films of the Czech New Wave This movement saw filmmakers use their new freedom to engage with traditions of the avant garde especially Surrealism This book explores the avant garde s influence over the New Wave and considers the political implications of that influence The close analysis of selected films ranging from the Oscar winning Closely Observed Trains to the aesthetically challenging Daisies is contextualized by an account of the Czech avant garde and a discussion of the films immediate cultural and political background Soviet Architectural

Avant-Gardes Danilo Udovicki-Selb,2020-05-14 Conventional readings of the history of Soviet art and architecture show modernist utopian aspirations as all but prohibited by 1932 under Stalin s totalitarianism Soviet Architectural Avant Gardes challenges that view Radically redefining the historiography of the period it reveals how the relationship between the Party and practicing architects was much more complex and contradictory than previously believed and shows in contrast to the conventional scholarly narrative how the architectural avant garde was able to persist at a time when it is widely considered to have been driven underground In doing so this book provides an essential perspective on how to analyse evaluate and re imagine the history of modernist expression in its cultural context It offers a new understanding of ways in which 20th century social revolutions and their totalitarian sequels inflected the discourse of both modernity and modernism The book relies on close analyses of archival documents and architectural works Many of the documents have been rarely if ever discussed in English before while the architectural projects include iconic works such as the Palace of Soviets and the Soviet Pavilion at the Paris 1937 World Exposition as well as remarkable works that until now have been neglected by architectural historians inside and outside Russia In a fascinating final chapter it also reveals for the first time the details of Frank Lloyd Wright s triumphant welcome at the First Congress of Soviet Architects in Moscow in 1937 at the height of Stalin s Terror
