Buddhist Historiography in China John Kieschnick, 2022-07-29
 Winner 2023 Toshihide Numata Book Award Numata Center for Buddhist Studies at the University of California Berkeley
 Since the early days of Buddhism in China monastics and laity alike have expressed a profound concern with the past In voluminous historical works they attempted to determine as precisely as possible the dates of events in the Buddha's life seeking to iron out discrepancies in varying accounts and pinpoint when he delivered which sermons Buddhist writers chronicled the history of the Dharma in China as well compiling biographies of eminent monks and nuns and detailing the rise and decline in the religion's fortunes under various rulers They searched for evidence of karma in the historical record and drew on prophecy to explain the past John Kieschnick provides an innovative expansive account of how Chinese Buddhists have sought to understand their history through a Buddhist lens Exploring a series of themes in mainstream Buddhist historiographical works from the fifth to the twentieth century he looks not so much for what they reveal about the people and events they describe as for what they tell us about their compilers understanding of history Kieschnick examines how Buddhist doctrines influenced the search for the underlying principles driving history the significance of genealogy in Buddhist writing and the transformation of Buddhist historiography in the twentieth century This book casts new light on the intellectual history of Chinese Buddhism and on Buddhists understanding of the past
