Kate Chopin's The Awakening Screenplay As Interpretation:

Kate Chopin's The Awakening Marilyn Hoder-Salmon, 1992 With Kate Chopin's nineteenth century novel as her focus Marilyn Hoder Salmon presents a screenplay and two essays that cast light on a new way to interpret literature and to analyze writing for film Titled Edna after Chopin's protagonist the three act screenplay explores the essential themes and complexities of its source The Awakening Offered as criticism in itself and not for production the script stands as a model of how adaptation alone becomes a critical method The first essay unified around the theme of women's autonomy offers background on such topics as feminist criticism adaptation theory masculine feminine themes in film and Kate Chopin's life and the novel's particular history The second essay interprets the screenplay in the context of the process of adaptation illustrating how such a process both retains and enhances a work's theme in a new era The intimate contact between the arts of film and literature uncovers ideas about character theme plot setting and point of view that resist analysis by more typical means Hoder Salmon contends that adaptation draws the writer into close proximity to the mind and method of the original author As such it offers an exercise in creativity that becomes the ultimate step in following the current critical injunction to enter the text in order to unmask its mysteries

Characters and Plots in the Fiction of Kate Chopin Robert L. Gale, 2024-10-18 A feminist before such a term was created and most famous for The Awakening the controversial Kate Chopin was also the author of a second novel At Fault as well as numerous short stories This reference book begins with a brief introduction to Kate Chopin's varied background and her fictional work A chronology traces the main events of her private and professional lives Hundreds of alphabetically arranged entries follow summarizing the plots of her novels and short stories identifying her fictional characters and relating them to her own experiences to her family members and to her friends Many entries include bibliographical citations

The Awakening Kate Chopin, 2008-08-14 When Edna Pontellier becomes enamored with Robert LeBrun while on vacation the wife and mother realizes the full force of her desire for love and freedom in a text that includes thirty two additional short stories by the author

Reader's Guide to Women's Studies Eleanor Amico, 1998-03-20 The Reader's Guide to Women's Studies is a searching and analytical description of the most prominent and influential works written in the now universal field of women's studies Some 200 scholars have contributed to the project which adopts a multi layered approach allowing for comprehensive treatment of its subject matter Entries range from very broad themes such as Health General Works to entries on specific individuals or more focused topics such as Doctors

Teaching Literary Theory Using Film Adaptations Kathleen L. Brown, 2009-03-12 This volume introduces ways to use film to ease the difficulty of introducing complex literary theories to students By coupling works of literature with attendant films and with critical essays the author provides instructors with accessible avenues for encouraging classroom discussion Literary theories covered in depth are psychoanalytic criticism The Awakening and film adaptations The End of August and Grand Isle cultural criticism A

Streetcar Named Desire and its 1951 film version and thematic criticism Ode Intimations of Immortality from Recollections of Early Childhood and the film adaptation Splendor in the Grass Other theories are used to clarify and support those referred to above The work then includes a survey of the image patterns into which film adaptation theories can be grouped and how these theories relate to traditional literary theory Teaching Adaptations D. Cartmell, I. Whelehan, 2014-11-21 Teaching Adaptations addresses the challenges and appeal of teaching popular fiction and culture video games and new media content which serve to enrich the curriculum as well as exploit the changing methods by which English students read and consume literary and screen texts Film Adaptation and Its Discontents Thomas Leitch, 2007-06-15 Most books on film adaptation the relation between films and their literary sources focus on a series of close one to one comparisons between specific films and canonical novels This volume identifies and investigates a far wider array of problems posed by the process of adaptation Beginning with an examination of why adaptation study has so often supported the institution of literature rather than fostering the practice of literacy Thomas Leitch considers how the creators of short silent films attempted to give them the weight of literature what sorts of fidelity are possible in an adaptation of sacred scripture what it means for an adaptation to pose as an introduction to rather than a transcription of a literary classic and why and how some films have sought impossibly close fidelity to their sources After examining the surprisingly divergent fidelity claims made by three different kinds of canonical adaptations Leitch's analysis moves beyond literary sources to consider why a small number of adapters have risen to the status of auteurs and how illustrated books comic strips video games and true stories have been adapted to the screen The range of films studied from silent Shakespeare to Sherlock Holmes to The Lord of the Rings is as broad as the problems that come under review The Awakening Joyce Dyer, 1993 Kate Chopin's The Awakening 1899 is a masterpiece of feminist philosophy a novel whose pioneering vision and keen literary sensibility have established it as a landmark in the development of feminist awareness and made it required reading in courses worldwide The Awakening tells the story of Edna Pontellier a sensitive and artistic woman married to a New Orleans Creole whose urgent quest for human freedom and truth is fulfilled by none of the options prescribed by traditional late nineteenth century society The social and economic security her husband provides motherhood to her two sons even romantic pleasure and sexual passion are available to Edna yet none addresses her essential need to realize her position in the universe as a human being As Joyce Dyer shows us in this expert introduction to Chopin's famous novel Edna's inexorable awakening to her needs and talents to her right to pursue them and finally to the impossibility of living with them in her time can end only in tragedy Dyer refuses to judge Edna but rather chooses to do what Edna asks of us all in her final scene to understand her Dyer begins with an eloquent analysis of the literary and cultural milieu of America at the turn of the nineteenth century revealing Edna as both victim and symbol of her era She brings us to the 1899 St Louis Fair whose bombastic celebration of both future progress and conservative traditions had fascinated Chopin Caught between these opposing tides herself Chopin created a heroine who is the true ancestor of the twentieth century woman more spiritual Dyer shows us than Flaubert's Emma Bovary more openly sensual than the heroines of Chopin's contemporaries Charlotte Perkins Gilman and Sarah Orne Jewett as open to new forces as Huxley Darwin and Spencer yet still as thwarted in her own way as the souls championed by 1890s activists Susan B Anthony and Mother Jones were in theirs Reading the novel against this background Dyer explores the specific events characters and themes of The Awakening illuminating Edna's relationship with Mlle Reisz her flirtation with Robert her affair with Alcee the role of recurring characters from Chopin's earlier fiction and the overwhelming importance of symbols like the Louisiana oaks moonlight and the sea Dyer also explores the slowly awakening critical reception to Chopin's novel tracing reactions from early outrage to contemporary acclaim

Literary Research and the American Realism and Naturalism Period Linda L. Stein, Peter J. Lehu, 2009 Literary Research and the American Realism and Naturalism Period Strategies and Sources will help those interested in researching this era Authors Linda L Stein and Peter J Lehu emphasize research methodology and outline the best practices for the research process paying attention to the unique challenges inherent in conducting studies of national literature

Adaptations Deborah Cartmell, Imelda Whelehan, 2022 Adaptations Critical and Primary Sources is a three volume reference resource that brings together over 80 landmark texts in adaptation studies Volume One covers the history of adaptation studies by plotting the prehistory of the field beginning with Vachel Lindsay's classic Art of the Moving Picture 1915 through Virginia Woolf's classic essay on The Cinema through to some of the most important critical and theoretical interventions up until the 1990s when the area really emerges as a critical force in the academy Volume Two collects essays from the last 25 years showing how the scholarly legacy laid out in Volume One still has a profound impact on adaptation studies today while charting the process of critical and theoretical maturation This volume shows how adaptations studies has outgrown its contested place in the gap of film and literary studies and how its interventions transcend disciplinary perspectives across the arts and humanities Volume Three covers key case studies such as Christine Geraghty's take on adapting Westerns Ian Inglis understanding of the transformation of music into movies and Eckart Voigts concept on Jane Austen and participatory culture 0With topics ranging from the limitations of the novel to adapting stage to screen contributions from a wide range of international scholars film critics and novelists combine to make Adaptations Critical and Primary Sources an original overview of critical debates today Cartmell and Whelehan introduce each excerpt and offer a critical overview of the collected work the rationale for its inclusion and suggestions for further reading

Like Letters in Running Water Mary Aswell Doll, 2000-07-01 Like Letters in Running Water explores ways in which fiction prose drama poetry myth fairytale yields transformative insights for educational theory and practice Through a series of intensely original powerful essays drawing on curriculum theory literary analysis psychology and feminist theory and practice Doll seeks to confront a commonly held bias that reading literary fictions is mere entertainment not a learning experience She suggests that fiction has immense teaching power because it connects readers with their alliances within themselves and this connection attends to social outer issues addressed by traditional pedagogies with greater deeper awareness Her elaboration in this book of the concept of currere the lived experience of curriculum through literature drama and myth is a major contribution to the field of curriculum theory Kate Chopin's Short Fiction Robert C.
