Dark Assemblages Kay Pritchett, 2015-10-22 This book examines strategies of transformation becoming image making and the phantasmagoric that figure in four stories and a novel by Gothic fiction writer Pilar Pedraza Spain 1951 While critics have long associated the Bildungsroman with Gothic fiction this study takes a close look at the developmental process itself the means by which a protagonist young or old might transcend a deprived status to achieve a complete sense of self Pedraza's works imply that regardless of the path followed a character's ability to think differently is crucial to progress The fixed image representative of an inflexible socially determined mindset arises as an obstacle to maturation In De perros for example a triangular arrangement of coins in a cigar box elucidates the connection between individual lives and the social order or assemblage Literary texts such as this one serve as collective assemblages of enunciation capable of exposing fixed images as powerful instruments of control Tristes Ayes del guila Mejicana discovers fixed images among the icons of Colonial Spain's exequias reales used in this case to territorialize the evolving identity of indigenous peoples The territory that Pedraza's fiction best illuminates is in reality the image When images remain fixed or territorialized they uncannily infect the assemblages over which they exert influence Placing emphasis on images that impact women Pedraza in Anfiteatro for example deconstructs cat woman which albeit a potentially subversive image in its early manifestations eventually ceases to empower the feminine lashing it rather to a burdensome stereotype Territorialized the feminine must then break free from the image in order to discover representations more capable of illuminating present day challenges The phrase dark assemblages drawn from Deleuze and Guattari's A Thousand Plateaus gestures toward societal stagnation as a decisive factor in individual involvement Gothic fiction represents an uneven landscape in that it tenders the possibility of a social critique yet equally well lends itself to the exclusion of specific identities and practices that society brands as anomalous Pedraza's Gothic fiction is indeed subversive in that it offers readers original perceptions of modern day people and the assemblages dark or otherwise to which they belong Nature's Colloquy with the Word Kay Pritchett, 2004 This goal allies her with poets from Spain's symbolist past who acknowledge the insufficiency of language yet pursue elusive meaning Canelo's poetry advances their struggle since through a method ecofeminist Carol Bigwood has called nonlinguistic silent presencing she is able to finesse an apparent fusion between nature and the word Jacket A Bilingual Anthology of Spanish Poetry Luis Ramos-García, 1997 This anthology proceeds chronologically with bilingual renditions of several poems by each of the 30 poets featured The translations reproduce the spirit of historical rupture the self deceptions of postmodern societies and testimony of what it means to be living in a post Franco era Women Poets of Spain, 1860-1990 John Chapman Wilcox, 1997 This is the first volume in English or Spanish to analyze the work of the principal women poets of Modern Spain In it John Wilcox draws on recent feminist critical theory and shows how Spanish poetry by women is not just a modern phenomenon but an ignored tradition whose roots reach back to the very beginnings of poetry of the Iberian Peninsula Postmodern Studies, 1995 Twentieth-century Spanish Poets Michael L. establish the literary value of the Carvalho series and to show how it relates to Montalban's earlier creative work and to his essays. She demonstrates the impact of major trends in literary theory upon the series in order to redress earlier critics' literary assessments and analyzes the series protagonist using the traditional tools of character study. c. Translation East and West Cornelia Niekus Moore, Lucy Lower, 1992 Postmodern Spain Antonio Sánchez, 2007

Postmodern Spain examines the cultural transformation experienced by Spanish society during the late 1980s and 1990s. By looking at specific aspects of culture, the representation of the human subject, the past, and the transformation of the city, this book critically reassesses the validity of postmodernism in Spain. Focusing on the novels written by Juan Goytisolo during this period, this book examines the representation and development of the human subject and its identification with the marginalized other. It further analyses various representations of the Spanish Civil War, challenging the prevalent view of post-Franco Spain as suffering from amnesia and thereby vindicates postmodern historical representations as a valid dialogue with the past. The third chapter examines Barcelona's urban redevelopment, analysing the transformation effected in some of its popular sites as a postmodern reformulation of the city as a fluid, flexible public space. Finally, it brings its previous findings to bear on an analysis of the Barcelona 1992 Olympic Games. It argues that these celebrations constituted a performance of Spain's new cultural identity, designed for global, national, and local consumption. Thus, these cultural celebrations corroborated the emergence of postmodernism as a cultural dominant which has exceeded modern and pre-modern cultural practices while paradoxically containing and enhancing both.

Negotiating Borderlines in Four Contemporary Migrant Writers from the Middle East Petya Tsoneva Ivanova, 2018-10-23

The book considers the persistent tendency to represent the Middle East as a region enclosed in less permeable boundaries. This perspective of enclosure haunts Middle Eastern Studies and is part of ongoing cultural debates on cross-border circulation, currently challenged by spectacular outbursts of violence along resurfacing lines of division. This critical study analyses selected works of four contemporary Anglophone migrant writers from the Middle East, namely Rabih Alameddine, Diana Abu Jaber, Laila Halaby, and Elif Shafak, to demonstrate that, in spite of the forceful lines that remain after religious, ethnic, and political disputes, this region does not exist as a rigidly delimited place in the writing of migrants who reclaim it back from beyond its boundaries. Rather than being a permanent location, it is constructed as a place that flows into other places and is constantly reshaped by a variety of personal stories, migrant trajectories, departures, and returns.
