Fragile Truths 25 Years Of Sociology And Anthropology In Canada:

Fragile Truths William K. Carroll, Linda Christiansen-Ruffman, Raymond E. Currie, 1992-01-01 Feminist Critique of Education Christine Skelton, Becky Francis, 2005-11-18 This book provides a valuable route map to the development of thinking in gender and education over the last fifteen years. It includes over thirty five seminal articles from the journal Gender and Education written by many of the leading authors in the field from the UK, the USA, Australia and Europe. Compiled by the current editors of the journal to show the development of the field, the book is divided into six sections: Gender, Identities, Theory and Method, Policy and Management, Sexuality, Ethnicity, Social Class. The specially written introduction by the editors contextualises the selection and introduces students to the main issues and current thinking in the field. Available in one easy to access place, this authoritative reference book provides a collection of articles that have led the field. It should find a place in every library and on every departmental bookshelf. A Feminist Critique of Education Christine Skelton, Becky Francis, 2005. Compiled by the current editors of the journal Gender Education, this new book maps the development of thinking in gender and education over the last fifteen years, featuring groundbreaking articles from leading authors in the field. Teaching as Scholarship Jacqui Gingras, Pamela Robinson, Janice Waddell, Linda D. Cooper, 2016-04-15. This book is about teaching for professional practice and explores ways to engage students in the classroom. It draws on the principles of rigorous scholarship and focuses on interactive learning between the class and the professor and among the students. Each contributor addresses the need to connect theory with community practice, deploying different methods in different contexts and sharing scholarly reflections about how to improve the craft of teaching. The essays offer practical suggestions that allow readers to adapt and apply these ideas in their own classrooms to suit their particular contexts and share the outcomes of that process. Men, Law and Gender Richard Collier, 2010-04-05. What does it mean to speak of men as a gender category in relation to law? How does law relate to masculinities? This book presents the first comprehensive overview and critical assessment of the relationship between men, law and gender, outlining the contours of the man of law across diverse areas of legal and social policy. Written in a theoretically informed yet accessible style, Men, Law and Gender provides an introduction to the study of law and masculinities whilst calling for a richer, more nuanced conceptual framework in which men's legal practices and subjectivities might be approached. Building on recent sociological work concerned with the relational nature of gender and personal life, Richard Collier argues that social, cultural and economic changes have reshaped ideas about men and masculinities in ways that have significant implications for law. Bringing together voices and disciplines that are rarely considered together, he explores the way ideas about men have been contested and politicised in the legal arena. Including original empirical studies of male lawyers, the legal profession and fathers' rights and law reform, alongside discussions of university law schools and legal academics and family policy and parenting cultures, this innovative, timely and important text provides a unique and important insight into the relationship between law men and masculinities It will be required reading for academics and students in law and legal theory socio legal studies gender studies sociology and social policy as well as policy makers and others concerned with the changing nature of gender relations Troubling Women's Studies Ann Braithwaite,2004 The four essays in this collection present a multifaceted conversation about what is at stake in passing on the institutionalized project of Women s Studies at this historic moment The authors come to this conversation from a diversity of histories commitments and investments in Women s Studies Framed by the argument that Women s Studies is a project fraught with uncertainty the authors explore what it means to live within this uncertainty and how one might respond to it intellectually emotionally politically institutionally and pedagogically In exploring their own responses and taking into consideration responses from other feminist intellectuals the authors subject their practices to the same kind of academic critique to which they subject the discipline its location theories methods and pedagogies The purpose of these essays is not to enact these responses nor to fix a firm direction for the future of the discipline but rather by looking back and attending to the now inspire us to grapple with what might be possible

The Female Offender Meda Chesney-Lind,Lisa Pasko,2013 The Female Offender challenges the long standing tradition of male dominated criminology theory and research which has taken little or no account of gender differences 21st Century Sociology: A Reference Handbook Clifton D. Bryant,Dennis L. Peck,2007 Publisher Description Psychiatric and Mental Health Nursing Stephen Tilley,2008-04-15 Psychiatric and Mental Health Nursing The Field of Knowledge provides an analytical and critical introduction to the current state of knowledge in psychiatric and mental health nursing in the UK The first section of the book explores current professional disciplinary and educational contexts In the second section leading UK authors from diverse academic settings provide case studies of the knowledge and scientific traditions they draw on to inform their practice understand patient needs and foster different aspects of nursing practice In the final section the UK authors comment on each other s accounts Those chapters and comments are then discussed by leading overseas academics to provide an invaluable international perspective The final stage is a sociologically informed analysis which identifies sociopolitical trends in order to make sense of the UK and international views The editor then assesses the potential for intellectual integration and collective advance in psychiatric and mental health nursing Canadian Sociologists in the First Person Stephen Harold Riggins,Neil McLaughlin,2021-08-15 Social scientists autobiographies can yield insight into personal commitments to research agendas and the very project of social science itself But despite the long history of life writing sociologists have tended to view the practice with skepticism Canadian Sociologists in the First Person is the first book to survey the Canadian sociological imagination through personal recollections Exploring the lives and experiences of twenty contributors from across the country this book connects the unique and shared features of their careers to broad social dynamics while providing a guide to their own research and administrative contributions to their universities their profession and their broader society and communities The contributors teach in different types of institutions are prominent in the discipline and in their specializations and represent significant and diverse intellectual currents political perspectives and life and career experiences Aiming to start a broad conversation about what social science and the academic profession look like in Canada from an insider's perspective Canadian Sociologists in the First Person offers invaluable lessons for younger scholars as they envision a diverse sociological imagination for the twenty first century Universities and Globalization Janice K. Currie, Janice Newson, 1998-08-18 In this volume the contributors consider globalization as combining a market ideology with a corresponding material set of practices drawn from the world of business Issues of managerialism privatization and accountability central values in business have become central for universities and their administrators as well The selections in the book help to illustrate the editors contentions that globalization presents clear disadvantages as well as benefits and that its effect on higher education is neither likely to be uniform nor the outcomes inevitable

Screening Out Laura Bisaillon, 2022-05-01 What happens when people with HIV apply to immigrate to Canada Screening Out takes readers through the process of seeking permanent residency illustrating how mandatory HIV testing and the medical inadmissibility regime are organized in such a way as to make such applications impossible This ethnographic inquiry into the medico legal and administrative practices governing the Canadian immigration system shows how this system works from the perspective of the very people toward whom this exclusionary health policy is directed As Laura Bisaillon demonstrates mandatory immigration HIV screening triggers institutional practices that are highly problematic not only for would be immigrants but also for those bureaucrats doctors and lawyers who work within that system She provides a vital corrective to state claims about the functioning of and the professional and administrative practices supporting mandatory HIV testing and medical examination pinpointing how and where things need to change Society, 2002

Activity, Diet and Social Practice Sarah Schrader, 2018-12-05 Day to day activities are important in the development of social identities the establishment of social standing and the communal understanding of societal rules This perspective is broadly referred to as practice theory and relates to the power of an overarching social structure and the individual actors that exist within it Practice theory has made an important contribution to anthropological and archaeological research as these fields are particularly interested in daily life and the importance of these actions This volume argues that practice theory can also be used in a bioarchaeological context through the examination of human skeletal remains and the archaeological context in which they were excavated Bioarchaeology offers a unique perspective on these day to day experiences skeletal tissue is constantly undergoing a process of change and as a living biological system it can adapt to external forces Furthermore bioarchaeological studies are multi scalar and can examine individuals groups or entire populations Using osteological indicators of activity patterns enthesal changes osteoarthritis and dietary isotopes carbon nitrogen as examples this book addresses patterns of everyday life in the ancient past Physical activities and food consumption are actions that are carried out on a daily basis While bioarchaeology does not have the ability to recreate specific day to day activities we can assess broad trends in everyday life The volume illustrates these points using examples from the Ancient Nile Valley Through the examination of over 800 Egyptian and Nubian individuals from five different archaeological sites the research addresses patterns of everyday life as they relate to social inequality agency and practice Beyond osteological indicators of activity and dietary patterns this book also discusses additional methods that can be pursued to draw attention to daily life Lastly this book also highlights the applicability of and potential contribution that practice theory can make to this area of research

Historical Identities E. Lisa Panayotidis, Paul Stortz, 2006-12-15 As intellectual engines of the university professors hold considerable authority and play an important role in society By nature of their occupation they are agents of intellectual culture in Canada Historical Identities is a new collection of essays examining the history of the professoriate in Canada Framing the volume with the question What was it like to be a professor editors Paul

Stortz and E Lisa Panayotidis along with an esteemed group of Canadian historians strive to uncover and analyze variables and contexts such as background education economics politics gender and ethnicity in the lives of academics throughout Canada's history The contributors take an in depth approach to topics such as academic freedom professors and the state faculty development discipline construction and academic cultures religion biography gender and faculty wives images of professors and background and childhood experiences Including the best and most recent critical research in the field of the social history of higher education and professors Historical Identities examines fundamental and challenging topics issues and arguments on the role and nature of intellectualism in Canada Universities for Sale Neil Tudiver, Canadian Association of University Teachers, 1999 In the 1990s Canadian universities experienced an aggressive campaign of corporatization Universities for Sale offers suggestions on how to resist corporatization Neil Tudiver shows how scholarly independence has in recent years been eroded to a point of crisis Left unchecked corporations play a larger and larger role in deciding which fields of study survive and which will disappear He looks at how professors defend free inquiry against the pressures of economic expediency Universities for Sale is a penetrating analysis of the ongoing issue of corporate influence on Canada's universities Portraits of Academic Life in Higher Education, 2024-12-16 The academic experiences and emotions shared in these chapters can be described as thoughtful courageous insightful and worrisome Collectively authors draw a troubled higher education landscape that has evolved over the years from to put it mildly a more pleasant working environment in more generous times to a less pleasant working environment in today's more restrictive more competitive and more financially difficult times However on a positive note contributing authors share their understanding of the core purpose of the higher education institution and its mission as purveyors of that purpose through adherence to the university's stated triad of goals teaching research and service
