Host Country Operational Measures Unctad Series On Issues In International Investment Agreements:

Host Country Operational Measures United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, 2001 Host Country Operational Measures HCOMs are the measures implemented by countries concerning the operation of foreign companies within their jurisdiction This paper groups them into three categories those that are prohibited at the multilateral level those prohibited or discouraged at the regional or bilateral level those not subject to control This publication looks at the current state of HCOMs and their interaction with other issues and draws conclusions on their implications International

Investment Agreements United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, 2004 This is part of a three set volume bringing together the series of papers published by UNCTAD on key issues in international investment agreements The Series seeks to help developing countries to participate as effectively as possible in international investment rule making at the bilateral regional plurilateral and multilateral levels Addressed to Government officials corporate executives representatives of non governmental organizations officials of international agencies and researchers the Series provides a balanced analysis of issues that may arise in discussions about and negotiations of international investment agreements

International Investment Agreements United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, 2000 This paper reflects discussions which took place during the three expert meetings convened by the Commission on Investment Technology and Related Financial Issues during 1997 1999 These discussions dealt with existing International Investment Agreements IIAs and their development dimensions The paper examines ways in which IIAs can provide for flexibility with a view towards promoting development while encouraging foreign direct investment FDI and providing stability and predictability in investment relations The paper first discusses the meaning and purpose of flexibility in the interest of in the context of IIAs It goes on to look at how existing IIAs have provided flexibility from the perspectives of the objectives of an agreement its overall structure and methods of participation its substantive provisions its applications The paper emphasises that IIAs in common with all international agreements typically contain obligations that reduce to some extent the autonomy of the participating countries Such agreements should recognise the economic asymmetries and levels of development between developing and developed countries The challenge for negotiators of IIAs is to find the proper balance between obligations and flexibility IIAs should be designed in a way that allows their parties some flexibility in pursuing their development objectives International Investment Arrangements , 2006 The past few years saw a proliferation of international investment agreements IIAs at the bilateral regional and interregional levels presenting new challenges for policymakers As global economic integration becomes ever deeper managing the impacts of integration on the domestic economy becomes more complex and the challenges greater This paper provides an overview of some of the issues that arise as countries seek to ensure policy coherence in the face of a complex network of overlapping IIA provisions Publisher s description Bilateral Investment Treaties in the Mid-1990s United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, 1998

The book is divided into four chapters. Chapter I reviews the purposes of bilateral investment treaties (BITs) and their origins. Chapter II discusses the negotiating process of such treaties. Chapter III analyses individual clauses in BITs, focusing in particular on the definition of the terms and principles involved, how these are used, the differences and similarities between present and former treaty practice, and the implications of individual treaty provisions for development. Chapter IV examines the impact BITs have on investment flows. Annex I contains a list of BITs signed as at 1 January 1997. Bilateral Investment Treaties 1995-2006, 2007-01-01. The secretariat of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) is implementing a programme on international investment arrangements. It monitors the trends in IIAs and analyzes the emerging issues and development implications. It seeks to help developing countries participate as effectively as possible in international investment rulemaking. This paper is part of the programme's research and policy analysis on international investment policies for development. The main objective of this paper is to update UNCTAD's 1998 study entitled Bilateral Investment Treaties in the Mid 1990s and to identify trends in the normative developments of each of the elements typically addressed in BITs since this last stocktaking in 1998. The study traces and explains the new issues that have emerged in recent BITs and also sets out the implications of those developments for developing countries. Pref. Preserving Flexibility in IIAs.
