Hourglass European Classics:

A History of European Literature Walter Cohen, 2017-01-19 Walter Cohen argues that the history of European literature and each of its standard periods can be illuminated by comparative consideration of the different literary languages within Europe and by the ties of European literature to world literature World literature is marked by recurrent systematic features outcomes of the way that language and literature are at once the products of major change and its agents Cohen tracks these features from ancient times to the present distinguishing five main overlapping stages Within that framework he shows that European literatures ongoing internal and external relationships are most visible at the level of form rather than of thematic statement or mimetic representation European literature emerges from world literature before the birth of Europe during antiquity whose Classical languages are the heirs to the complex heritage of Afro Eurasia This legacy is later transmitted by Latin to the various vernaculars The uniqueness of the process lies in the gradual displacement of the learned language by the vernacular long dominated by Romance literatures That development subsequently informs the second crucial differentiating dimension of European literature the multicontinental expansion of its languages and characteristic genres especially the novel beginning in the Renaissance This expansion ultimately results in the reintegration of European literature into world literature and thus in the creation of today's global literary system The distinctiveness of European literature is to be found in these interrelated trajectories more careful theorizing and interpretation of ethnicity variables in empirical analysis Novel with Cocaine M. Ageyev, 1998

A Dostoevskian psychological novel of ideas Novel with Cocaine explores the interaction between psychology philosophy and ideology in its frank portrayal of an adolescent's cocaine addiction The story relates the formative experiences of Vadim at school and with women before he turns to drug abuse and the philosophical reflections to which it gives rise Although Ageyev makes little explicit reference to the Revolution the novel's obsession with addictive forms of thinking finds resonance in the historical background in which our inborn feelings of humanity and justice provoke the cruelties and satanic transgressions committed in its name , The Encyclopedia of the Dead Danilo Kiš, 1997 In these stories Kiš depicts human relationships encounters landscapes the multitude of details that make up a human life Visual Cultures of Death in Central Europe Aleksandra Koutny-Jones, 2015-09-17 In Visual Cultures of Death in Central Europe Aleksandra Koutny Jones explores the emergence of a remarkable cultural preoccupation with death in Poland Lithuania 1569 1795 Examining why such interests resonated so strongly in the Baroque art of this Commonwealth she argues that the printing revolution the impact of the Counter Reformation and multiple afflictions suffered by Poland Lithuania all contributed to a deep cultural concern with mortality Introducing readers to a range of art architecture and material culture this study considers various visual evocations of death including Dance of Death imagery funerary decorations coffin portraiture tomb chapels and religious landscapes These Koutny Jones argues engaged with wider European cultures of contemplation and commemoration while also being critically adapted to the specific context of Poland Lithuania Medicine and Religion in Enlightenment Europe Andrew Cunningham, 2017-03-02 The Enlightenment period here understood as covering the years 1650 to 1789 is usually considered to be a period when religion was obliged to give way to rationality With respect to medicine this means that the religious elements in the treatment and interpretation of diseases to all intents and purposes disappeared However there are growing indications in recent scholarship that this may well be an overstatement Indeed it appears that religion retained many of its customary relations with medicine This volume explores how far and the ways in which this was still the case It looks at this multi faceted relationship with respect to among others medical care and death in hospitals religious vocation and nursing chemical medicine and religion the clergy and medicine the continued significance of popular medicine faith healing dissection and religion and religious dissent and medical innovation Within these significant areas the volume provides a European perspective which will make it possible to draw comparisons and determine differences Educational Secularization within Europe and Beyond Mette Buchardt, 2024-11-04 Did religion disappear with modernization and the secularization reforms that changed the relation between religion and state throughout the European empires and nation states from late nineteenth century onwards Or was religion rather transformed becoming a part of the new social and national imaginaries on the road from European empires to African Middle Eastern European Union and Post Soviet nation states What are the historical roots behind the divisions of state

church and education that characterized the late nineteenth and during the twentieth century What has been the role of education in this context both with regard to political reforms targeting the education systems and with regard to broader public enlightenment efforts and modernization of the state Connecting scholars across the fields of history and historical sociology of education church history and historical religion research and political history and covering the time span from the early modern period and up until the present this volume explores how education reform has functioned as an arena for the political project of secularization and in which way this contributed to transforming and revitalizing religion
